SPIRIT VOICE 'IDENTIFIED'

Lady Doyle Gets Message

Author's Family Convinced Medium's Words Come from His Spirit

Memorial Meeting Partly Disrupted When Scores Leave Hall

LONDON, July 13. (AP)—Receipt of what purports to be a direct message from the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle was averred tonight by a woman clairvoyant at a memorial meeting for him. The message was accepted as genuine by Lady Doyle.

Its substance was not made public, but on hearing it the novelist's widow exclaimed: "I am perfectly convinced the message is from my husband."

Before it was delivered, the meeting, organized in Albert Hall by spiritualist societies of London, had broken up in confusion.

PART OF AUDIENCE LEAVES

During the delivery by Mrs. Estelle Roberts, a salaried clairvoyant employed by the Marleybone Spiritualist Association, of asserted messages from five spirits, about forty or fifty persons in various parts of the hall suddenly rose and started for the doors. The noise and disturbance caused by their departure bothered Mrs. Roberts.

"I can't go on with all these people walking out," she announced from the platform.

A tumult of conversation and excited calls broke out and the meeting came to a sudden and unexpected end.

Mrs. Roberts, turning away from the audience, which numbered fully 10,000, walked over to Lady Doyle, who was seated on the platform beside an empty chair symbolizing the presence of the late creator of Sherlock Holmes.

"I have a message from Sir Arthur," she said.

Lady Doyle, wearing a long silver-laced frock and a black silk coat trimmed with fur, stood up.

"WENT INTO HUT"

"Sir Arthur told me that one of you went into the hut (a building on the Doyle estate at Windlesham, Sussex, where Sir Arthur was buried on Friday) this morning. Is that correct?"

"Why, yes," Lady Doyle faltered. "I did." Her face beamed with interest and her eyes opened eagerly.

"The message is this," said Mrs. Roberts, "Tell Mary . . . ." At this point the pealing of the pipe organ drowned out the rest of the message.

Mary is the name of Sir Arthur's first daughter. Lady Doyle declined to explain to the Associated Press correspondent what the rest of the message was.

"I can't," she said, "it's precious and sacred."

She added, however: "I am perfectly convinced the message is from my husband. I am sure of that and I am as sure he has been here with us as I am sure that I am speaking to you.

"It is a happy message, one that is cheering and encouraging."

OREGON FIRE CONSUMING PINE TIMBER

Five Hundred Men Will be on Fighting Line in Cascade Foothills Today

BEND (Or.) July 13. (AP)—Trenched last night on a jagged nine-mile front after it spread over 4000 timbered acres, a forest fire in the Cascade foothills, ten miles west of here today broke over lines in two places and tonight is raging uncontrolled in yellow pine timber.

Before morning 500 men will be on the fire lines in an attempt to check the conflagration during hours of high humidity, forestry officials said.

Fire fighters gathered from many sections of Oregon today. A call for 200 experienced fire fighters was sent to mills in the Klamath Basin and control units were rushed north.

Retreating before the advancing flames, suppression units were concentrated in the vicinity of Big Springs tonight, on a several-mile front.

Hundreds of United Spanish War veterans concentrated in Bend tonight for the opening tomorrow morning of the twenty-second annual encampment and it is indicated the veterans will offer their services as fire fighters.

PARTY GOING TO LAND OF PAST GLORY

Domain of Sennacherib, of Biblical Fame, Will be Invaded by Expedition

PHILADELPHIA, July 13. (AP)—A joint expendition to a little-known section of Kurdistan, in Northern Mesopotamia, where it is believed relics of Sennacherib, the Assyrian King of biblical fame, may be found, has been arranged by the University of Pennsylvania Museum and the American School of Oriental Research in Bagdad, it was announced today.

The site which the expedition plans to excavate is known as Tell Billa and is one of the largest and most imposing mounds in the land of ancient Assyria.

Dr. Ephriam A. Speiser, assistant professor of Semitics at the University of Pennsylvania, who will head the expedition, visited the mound in 1926 when a surface examination disclosed the site contains extensive remains of a prehistoric period going back to the original inhabitants of Mesopotamia and the neighboring regions of the Near East.

Sixty Made Ill by Sandwiches

POCAHONTAS (Ark.) July 13. (AP) Sixty persons were poisoned, twelve seriously, from eating meat sandwiches at a candidate's picnic at Birdell, near here. Dr. J. W. Brown reported tonight he believes all the victims will recover.

'Gas' Doubling Process Shared by Refineries

NEW YORK, July 13. (AP)—Oil companies representing 80 per cent of the refining capacity of the United States have been brought into association in one company by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey for the purpose of controlling a new process capable of yielding two barrels of gasoline where only one was produced before, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey announced today.

Research by Standard Oil engineers indicates multiplication of the gasoline yield from Venezuelan crude oil will make this source alone a major factor in dealing with the overproduction of crude oil and the price cutting which has existed during the last few years.

Missing Flyer Still in Jungle

RANGOON (Burma) July 13. (AP) Advices received here today from Prome, Burma, say Eric Hook, companion of Jimmie Matthews in an attempted flight from England to Australia, still is missing in the Burmese jungle.

Matthews reached Prome and reported he had been forced to leave Hook behind in what he believes was a dying condition. Matthews was picked up by villagers on the eastern slope of the Arakan Yoma mountain range.

FALL FATAL TO SAILOR

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13. (AP)—Norman Hallsworth, 30 years of age, boatswain's mate attached to the U.S.S. receiving ship Goat Island, was killed today when he fell four stories to the pavement from an Ellis-street apartment.

FLOOD PERIL INCREASING IN COLORADO

Threat of More Rainfall Causes Fear of Addition to $100,000 Damage

RIFLE (Colo.) July 13. (AP)—With estimated damage of $100,000 already charged against flood waters of Elk and Rifle creeks, threatening weather tonight caused apprehension lest a renewal of last night's cloudbursts overburden swollen streams of this section.

Two railroad bridges, two main highway bridges and several minor spans were carried away by the rush of water which last night transformed peaceful mountain streams into roaring torrents. All bridges over Elk Creek in the Newcastle district, seventeen miles east of here, are out tonight.

Basements still are flooded in Newcastle, where Elk Creek chose the main street of the village as its channel. Several houses still are surrounded by waters of Rifle Creek.

Two Licensed Pilots Killed

ELMIRA (N. Y.) July 13. (AP)—Two licensed air pilots of this city were burned to death as their plane crashed today at Newton Battlefield, State Park. They were identified by their watches as Theodore Holbert, 32 years of age, and Walter Arnold, 34.

Arnold was a vice-president and Holbert a member of the Elmira Flying Club, to which the plane belonged. They were on their way to an air show at Hornell, N. Y.

PACIFIC FLIGHT REVERSED

Harold Bromley Now Plans Tokio Venture in Easy Hops, Then Nonstop Back to Tacoma

TACOMA (Wash.) July 13. (AP)—The contemplated nonstop flight of Harold Bromley from Tacoma to Tokio was canceled today. Instead he will attempt a two-stop flight to Japan and a nonstop flight back across the Pacific from Tokio to Tacoma. This was announced by John Buffelen, principal backer of the flight, after tests today showed that the plane could not make the necessary speed for the east-west passage against head winds.

The plane, the City of Tacoma, probably will take off Thursday, according to L. E. Wilkeson, Tacoma Airport manager, and refuel in the Aleutian Islands. It will take three days to transport gasoline from Kodiak to a landing field to be selected in the Aleutians, according to Wilkeson. Bromley will leave the Tacoma Airport with 750 gallons of gasoline.

The plane was built to make 115 miles an hour. Two tests today, Wilkeson said, showed that the plane would make only ninety to ninety-five miles. Another test to determine whether a greater mileage can be obtained is tentatively set for tomorrow.

Bromley and Harold Gatty, his navigator, circled Puget Sound cities for an hour and a half today in the first test of the City of Tacoma since it was brought north from Los Angeles yesterday. Prospects of a trans-Pacific race from Tacoma strengthened as Robert Wark and Eddie Brown worked on changing the motor in their Pacific Era and installing a radio.

Wark and Brown also hope to get away this week on their proposed Tacoma-to-Tokio flight. The two Seattle aviators said they have made arrangements to refuel their Fokker biplane over Juneau and Nome, Alaska.

The City of Tacoma is to fly much of the way over water, while the Pacific Era's route calls for crossing water for only 135 miles. Except for the difficult leg of its flight from Juneau to Nome across the interior of Alaska Wark plans to skirt the coast line.

Bromley and Gatty are to go no further inland than the coast line, looping just north of the Aleutian Islands at the top of the great circle.

CAR PERILS PRESIDENT

Hoover Party in Auto Wreck

Woman Driver Loses Control and Runs Into Caravan Going from Camp

White House Secretary and Doctor Escape Injury in Smash-up

WASHINGTON, July 13. (AP)—Careening past President Hoover's automobile and one occupied by secret service men, a car driven by a woman today crashed into the third car in the procession returning from the Presidential lodge in Virginia. No one was injured.

The accident occurred near Falls Church, Va., about eight miles from the capital.

Lawrence Richey, secretary to the President, Capt. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician; Mrs. Boone and their young daughter, Suzanne, and Mrs. Stark McMillan of Palo Alto, Cal., were in the White House car.

NEW YORK WOMAN DRIVER

The other machine in the collision was driven by Mrs. Carolyn Lone Beach of New York, and she was accompanied by her husband, her mother and Mr. Beach's mother, and their young child. No charges were preferred against her, Mr. Richey holding the accident was an incident of travel on the crowded roads.

Pushing their way through dense traffic from the camp about 125 miles from Washington, the Presidential party was nearing home when the car driven by Mrs. Beach apparently got beyond control, Mr. Richey said. It cut from side to side of the road as Mr. Hoover's machine, the first in line, passed, barely avoided the secret service car which always trails the President closely, and then plunged head-on into the side of the third car in line.

President Hoover immediately ordered his car to stop and while Mrs. Hoover remained in it, he and Senators Allen of Kansas and Thomas of Idaho, who were riding in the first car, went back to assure themselves no one was hurt.

PASSENGERS TRANSFERRED

The occupants of the damaged car then transferred to the personal automobile of Mrs. Hoover which was trailing, driven by a chauffeur, and all came directly to the White House, after stopping only a few moments. A member of the secret service and the chauffeur who was driving the smashed car remained upon the scene to confer with the Beach party and officers who came up.

Mr. Richey said only good fortune prevented their machine from overturning, and added that before it could be brought to a stop it leaned so dangerously he feared it was going over.

Behind the wrecked auto was one bearing Secretary Hurley, Senators Vandenberg of Michigan and Hebert of Rhode Island, and Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Representative from Massachusetts. Four other guests—Senator and Mrs. Smoot of Utah, Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and Frederick William Wile, a newspaper writer, left before the remainder of the party, so Dr. Klein could deliver a scheduled radio address.

WOMAN PASSES CAR

It was the first accident in a Presidential party, White House attaches said, since a somewhat similar incident occurred in the West on President Harding's last tour.

Only last week-end another accident was threatened when a woman driver speeded past the President's car.

The secret service ordinarily blocks the road behind the Chief Executive to prevent cars running by, but in this instance the woman started to dash by and when an attempt was made to check her, she pulled to the edge of the road and continued. Rather than cause an almost certain wreck, they let her go and she dashed by the Chief Executive, the first car to accomplish the feat in many years.

The President does not use a motorcycle escort on his trips to the Virginia lodge.

The party was returning after two quiet days spent at the lodge. With the trout fishing season over, Mr. Hoover and his guests occupied themselves with hiking and horseback riding, discussions of the treaty situation in the Senate breaking in at times upon the recreation.

BUCHAREST, July 13. (Exclusive) King Carol II and Helen have "made up" and the legal annulment of their divorce will take place this week, according to information received here tonight.

Atty.-Gen. Cesnescu, who declined to contest Helen's divorce case against Carol two years ago, will resign tomorrow and his place will be taken by Judge Proporgescu, who already has drawn up the legal papers for the annulment.

King Carol is reported to have urged haste in the matter in order to counteract press stories that Mme. Lupescu, titian-haired Parisian associate of the King, is about to return to the country.

Will Rogers Remarks

SANTA MONICA, July 13. [To the Editor of The Times:] Atlanta no more than gets cleaned up from one Bobby Jones celebration till another comes along. You can easily exist in Atlanta by eating only at Jones testimonial dinners. If all Jones banquet speakers were laid end to end it would make a fairway with a 287 par. So find a Stone Mountain for Bobby. Had he lived in the days of Jeff Davis, Stonewall Jackson and Robert E. Lee he would have done to Grant and Sheridan what he did to Hagen, Diegel and Sarazen. And just think, ten years ago all Atlanta had was Coca Cola.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

Incendiarism and Heavy Plundering Continue as Police Patrol Area

MYMENSINGH (India) July 13. (AP)—Nine Hindus were killed in communal rioting in the Kishorganj district of Bengal yesterday.

Brazil-to-Africa Flyers Finish Trip by Boat

DAKAR (Senegal) July 13. (AP)—Jean Mermoz, French air-mail flyer, and his two companions, who were forced to descend on the sea last Wednesday while en route from Brazil to Africa, arrived here yesterday aboard the dispatch boat Phocee, which rescued them.

The flyers are in perfect health, and say they will leave for France by airplane as soon as possible. They say they were unable to determine the exact cause of the oil leak which forced their descent 600 miles from here. The Aeropostale Company has announced plans to try to recover their abandoned airplane, in hope of learning the cause of the leak.

Four Injured in Collision

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13. (AP)—Four persons were seriously injured here today when a fire truck answering an alarm and a heavily laden gasoline truck collided at a street intersection.

The injured were John Grimley, gasoline truck driver, sprained back and internal injuries; John Doran and Earl C. Fuller, firemen, sprained backs, cuts and bruises, and Charles A. Mohawk, fireman, possible fractured pelvis, cuts and bruises.

EARL CARROLL BARRED BY BRITISH OFFICIALS

LONDON, July 13. (AP)—The Daily Herald, Labor government organ, today said that British port authorities have been instructed to refuse admittance to England to Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, if he should attempt to land. The newspaper says that the order apparently was issued in case Carroll should attempt to escape a warrant for his arrest in connection with his present trial for the asserted immorality of his "Vanities."

AID SENT TO MOB SCENE

Rioting Feared in Texas Town

Governor Rushes Rangers to Shamrock to Help Sheriff Protect Negroes

Woman's Killing Stirs Ire; Colored Folk in Near-by Town Driven Out

AUSTIN, July 13. (AP)—Four Texas Rangers tonight were dispatched to Shamrock to aid in protecting the lives of Negroes threatened by mob violence as the result of the death of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, Collingsworth county farm wife, who was beaten to death by a Negro assailant.

The Rangers were sent to Shamrock by Pat Dougherty, secretary to Gov. Moody, after a call for aid had been received from Sheriff McLemore of Wheeler county.

Dougherty said Sheriff McLemore described the situation at Shamrock as threatening.

NEGRO FAMILIES DRIVEN FROM HOMES

ERICK (Okla.) July 13. (AP)—Enraged over the death of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, a former Erick citizen, beaten to death by a Negro near Shamrock, Tex., a mob of between 200 and 300 men last night drove approximately twenty-five Negro families from their homes here and in this vicinity, Night Marshal Crane said today.

Crane said the mob began gathering about 11 o'clock, last night, assembling on the main street. About a dozen Negroes living here were visited by the party and warned to leave at once.

FARMS VISITED

As these Negroes snatched a few possessions and left their homes, scattering in all directions, the mob went to near-by farms where Negroes resided, and drove them from their homes, warning them not to return.

Crane said there were approximately a dozen Negro farmers driven out by the mob. Some of them went to Elk City, he said, carrying a few personal belongings with them. Others went east, west or south.

The mob dispersed after about three hours, he said, when all Negroes were driven out.

Today, he said, there was not a Negro left in the town.

Sheriff Inman of Beckham county said Deputy Sheriff Baker and City Marshal Calvert of Erick were powerless to stop the mob. Baker rushed here from Sayre, the county seat, when the Sheriff received word the mob was gathering.

MOB ORDERLY

The mob was orderly, Sheriff Inman said, visiting each home and warning the Negro occupants to vacate. The deputy and the marshal accompanied them urging against violence. No one was injured.

Most of the homeless went to Elk City, about forty miles north of here, the Sheriff believes.

Reports that Negroes were driven from Texola, in western Beckham county, today, probably arose, Sheriff Inman said, because the Erick citizens visited farms near that town last night. He said he has heard of no mob action in that town.

H. C. Ivester, Beckham County Attorney, and Sheriff Inman were here today talking with members of the mob.

"They are not yet in the mood to allow the Negroes to return," the Sheriff said.

SHERIFF GUARDS NEGRO QUARTER

SHAMROCK (Tex.) July 13. (AP)—Sheriff McLemore of Wheeler county and a dozen deputies tonight guarded the Negro quarter here against reappearance of a mob which last night threatened reprisals for the death of Mrs. Henry Vaughan, farm wife, who was beaten to death with an iron pipe by a Negro.

Earlier in the evening the Sheriff telephoned Gov. Moody and the

HEAT WAVE'S GRIP BROKEN

Texas Still Baking, But Clouds and Showers Bring Relief to Other Parts of Southwest

KANSAS CITY, July 13. (AP)—Some relief from blistering temperatures general over the Southwest for several days was reported today, and continued moderation is expected tomorrow, the result of scattered clouds which resulted in some showers.

High temperatures continued in parts of Texas, however, and a mark of 99 deg. was reported at Houston. Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma all benefited from the atmospheric disturbance, most thermometer readings being ten or more degrees lower than those of Saturday.

Another death was attributed to the heat here.

A maximum of 87.2 deg. was reported at St. Louis, where a mark of 103 deg. was reached yesterday.

Kansas, which reported readings of as high as 112 deg. yesterday, today enjoyed cooler breezes. Rains were reported in parts of Colorado.

TEXAS BAKES UNDER RECORD SUN

DALLAS, July 13. (AP)—Texas baked today under the most severe heat waves of the year, which in several places sent temperatures soaring to records unequaled in several years.

Corsicana and Temple reported temperatures of 108, Fort Worth, Texarkana and Dallas 106, Palestine 102, Waco 102, Austin 100, Houston 99, and Beaumont 96.

However, the Panhandle region was benefited from a cool wave moving southward from Colorado.

HEAT WAVE BROKEN IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 13. (AP)—A heat wave which has held Oklahoma in its torrid grip since the 2nd inst. was broken today when a cool northerly breeze and scattered clouds brought relief to a sweltering State.

The break came shortly after midnight and after temperatures in Oklahoma City had climbed to 99.8 for a new summer record. Many parts of the State baked in temperatures of more than 100 deg. yesterday.

Weather today was cooler

NAVY'S AIR GOAL TWO YEARS OFF

Five-Year Expansion Policy Progresses Steadily

Winged Fleet of 1000 Planes Will be in Use

Program Allows for Crashes and Obsolescence

WASHINGTON, July 13. (AP)—Culmination of its five-year expansion program in a winged fleet of 1000 "useful" airplanes within two years was forecast today by the Navy Department in a review of its peace-time aviation strength.

Final appropriation of $12,326,100 has been made available to carry out the 1926 act outlining the program and by June 30, 1931, the Navy expects to have 1000 aircraft in use or on order, with all on hand within the year following.

The present strength of the naval air fleet as listed June 30, at the close of the fiscal year, is 828 serviceable airplanes on hand, with 267 on order.

It is planned to have 667 airplanes in operation with the remainder held in reserve. The program takes care of a "crash" wastage of fifteen planes for each 100 in use annually and wastage due to types being declared obsolete.

In its basic program, the Bureau of Aeronautics has allotted one-third of the planes to the Battle Fleet and has placed more than one-half of its total aircraft afloat with the battle, scouting and Asiatic fleets.

Though the expansion policy was outlined in 1922, it was not until 1926 that Congress recognized the five-year program. In 1926 there were 351 planes on hand; 468 in 1927; 624 in 1928, and 829 in 1929.

In the fiscal year just closed, the number of modern "useful" airplanes dropped to 828 but the 267 new ships on order and the 1931 appropriations are expected to bring the total to 1000 by 1932 despite crashes, fires and other losses.

NUMERICAL INCREASE

The numerical increase for the twenty-eight States and the District of Columbia over their 1920 population is 8,795,567.

The twenty States which have not yet reported their census totals are Alabama, Arizona, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Virginia and Wyoming. These States had a total population in 1920 of 54,261,251. If these States have kept up with the other twenty-eight in the census race and increased by the same general average of 17.1 per cent, their 1930 population is 63,539,924. Adding this figure to the population of the twenty-eight States and the District of Columbia would give a 1930 population figure for the whole United States of 123,784,860. The preliminary estimate af the Census Bureau is 122,000,000.

REAPPORTIONMENT

The reapportionment of seats in the House of Representatives on the basis of the 1930 census will take effect in 1933 after the elections of 1932. According to the precensus estimates of population a shift of twenty-three seats was indicated as follows:

One seat less—Alabama, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia.

Two seats less—Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Mississippi.

Three seats less—Missouri.

One seat more—Arizona, Connecticut, Florida, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Washington.

Two seats more—New Jersey, Texas.

Three seats more—Ohio.

Four seats more—Michigan.

Six seats more—California.

On the basis of the figures so far published for the population of twenty-five States in 1930 it appears that these estimates may have to be revised as to give California nine instead of six more seats and to make no change in the representation of Oklahoma, Washington and one other State.

BALTIMORE'S TOTAL SET AT 801,741

BALTIMORE, July 13. (AP)—Baltimore's population has been announced as 801,741. The final count was revealed by Frank T. Dorton, census supervisor, at a banquet following the completion of a recheck. The figure shows an increase of 67,915 over the 1920 census.

Negro residents of the town either have fled or are in hiding. The Saturday night mob is believed to have originated in Erick, Okla., twenty-four miles away, where Mrs. Vaughan formerly lived.

Jesse Lee Washington, Negro accused in the slaying of Mrs. Vaughan, is believed to be in the Oklahoma State Reformatory at Granite, where he was taken Friday by Sheriff McKinney of Collingsworth county, Texas, after the killing of Mrs. Vaughan.

EASTERN WASHINGTON TURNED INTO OVEN

SPOKANE, July 13. (AP)—The Inland Empire of Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho was turned into an oven today by temperatures as high as 111 deg.

At Riparia, Wash., snuggled in the canyon of the Snake River, 111 deg. was registered. At Orofino, Idaho, 108 was reported. Other hot places were Lewiston, Idaho, 106; Walla Walla, Wash., 104; Hartline, Wash., 102; Spokane, 98.

In North Central Idaho heavy storm clouds formed this afternoon.

VETERAN PARACHUTE JUMPER MEETS FATE

BURLINGTON (Iowa) July 13. (AP) Frank F. Scheridan, 34 years of age, railroad worker of West Burlington, who has made nearly 300 parachute jumps, was killed here tonight when the harness on his parachute broke just as he jumped from a plane. Among the 2000 spectators who saw the fatal leap were Mrs. Scheridan and their son Boyd, 12.

WAR VETERANS' BENEFITS TOLD

Head of Disabled Soldiers Analyzes New Law

More Liberal Provisions Aid Afflicted Defenders

Arrested Tuberculosis Cases Receive Compensation

WASHINGTON, July 13. (Exclusive)—Thousands of World War veterans will receive their first benefits or additional compensation from the new amendments to the law governing the Veterans' Bureau, according to a statement today by Capt. Herman H. Weimer of Chicago, recently elected national commander of the Disabled American Veterans.

"Provision is made," said Capt. Weimer, "for the disability allowance to any honorably discharged veteran who saw service at least ninety days during the World War and who entered the service prior to the Armistice.

"These allowances are on the following scale: For 25 per cent permanent disability, $12 per month; 50 per cent permanent disability, $18 per month; 75 per cent permanent disability, $25 per month; total permanent disability, $40 per month.

"These benefits start from the date of application and in no case are retroactive. Persons paying income tax are not eligible for this particular allowance.

CHOICE ELECTIVE

"Veterans are permitted to elect between the disability allowance and compensation in case they are eligible for both, but in no case shall any one person draw both benefits at the same time.

"Independent of any other compensation, veterans who have suffered the loss of the use of a creative organ, or a foot or a hand, as a result of injury received prior to November 11, 1918, shall receive $25 per month.

"In the cases of the expeditionary forces in Russia the dates for this benefit shall extend to April 1, 1920.

"Payments of compensation in all cases of hospitalized insane veterans who have no dependents shall be stopped when their estates equal $3000.

FOR TUBERCULOUS

"A minimum rating of permanent partial 25 per cent shall prevail for all cases of arrested tuberculosis. Contrary to a widespread opinion, this provision does not disturb the $50 statutory award for arrested tuberculosis but was inserted in the law in order that a man who had two or more disabilities, one of which was arrested tuberculsis, should receive the benefit of the combined rating that would give him higher than the $50 per month, the bureau policy being to drop arrested cases to zero on the rating table after twenty-four months of complete rest.

"The time limit for application for compensation and presentation of proof is removed. Prior to enactment of this amendment the limit for application and proof was April 6, 1930."

WIDOW ACCEPTS DOYLE MESSAGE

To the right of the empty chair symbolizing Sir Arthur's presence, sat Dennis Conan Doyle, the author's elder son. Next to him sat Jean, the youngest daughter.

On the other side of the chair sat Lady Doyle, big pearls on each ear under a close-fitting black hat, and at her side, the younger son Adrian, and then Mary, the eldest daughter, to whom the message was addressed.

Mrs. Roberts said she had seen Sir Arthur during the meeting. She first saw him during a two-minute silence observed at the beginning of the meeting.

RECOGNIZED VOICE

She asserted he sat in the empty chair first, and then came and stood behind her while she delivered messages "from the other spirits."

"His message," said the clairvoyant, "came in his own clear voice, and I understood it perfectly."

Great interest had been roused by the meeting, for there had been a long discussion in advance of asserted plans made by Sir Arthur before his death to guarantee the genuineness of any messages he might be able to send to his family.

Though his sons denied the existence of an elaborate code for this purpose, it was said Lady Doyle possessed certain means of identifying any message purported to come from Sir Arthur.

The memorial services were organized by various Spiritualist bodies in recognition of Conan Doyle's work on behalf of Spiritualism. The audience was orderly until the exit of the offended persons.

The message purported to be addressed to various persons in the audience, each of whom claimed to have recognized the authenticity of the message to himself or herself.

MEDIUM REPORTS MESSAGE ON RECEPTION

SIDNEY (Australia) July 13. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Eleanor Morrell, well-known Sidney spiritualist, asserts she has had a spirit conversation with Raymond Lodge, who reported a wonderful welcome to the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the latter has not communicated with the world yet because he is undergoing the customary period of perfect rest but he will shortly send a message to his family, Mrs. Morrell added.

LOCAL SPIRITUALISTS' EFFORTS UNREWARDED

An attempt was made to get into communication with the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle last night at a gathering of Spiritualists at 1730 South Flower street. Rev. Dr. Vincent M. Wilson of Santa Monica after a trial that lasted over an hour failed to contact the spirit of the departed author, he said.

He had announced his hope that he would contact the noted English author and bring through a code message. More than 500 persons were present at the meeting.

A gathering was held at the People's Church at Twelfth street and New Hampshire avenue last night at which Rev. Arthur Ford, pastor of the First Spiritualist Church of New York, also made an unsuccessful attempt to communicate with the departed Englishman.

Prisoner Asserts Large Sum in Checks Given Her By Business man

OAKLAND, July 13. (Exclusive)—Unable to furnish $15,000 bail, Clara Hanks, 21 years of age, is being held in the City Prison here charged with the theft of $27,552 in cashier's checks from C. H. Morehouse, retired wealthy business man of this city.

The woman returned here from Provo, Utah, Friday, accompanied by her attorney, J. R. Robinson, and formally surrendered to police to fight the grand-theft charge. Morehouse says he lost the checks and asserts Miss Hanks found and cashed them.

Miss Hanks, however, denies she stole the checks, but declares the money was given her by Morehouse in return for "certain promises."

GIRL'S BODY IN FURNACE; MAN SEIZED

Store Employee Said to Have Killed Victim With Blow of Iron Pipe

PORTLAND (Me.) July 13. (AP)—James M. Mitchell, 22 years of age, this city, was arrested today on a charge of murder of Miss Lillian I. MacDonald, 20, who disappeared yesterday while distributing pay envelopes to employees of a local stationery store.

The girl's body was found early today in the furnace in the basement of the six-story building the concern occupies.

County Attorney Ingalls said Mitchell, who was an employee of the same store as the girl, has confessed.

Part of the $750 the girl had in undistributed envelopes when she vanished was found under the furnace.

Miss MacDonald was killed by a blow with an iron pipe which crushed her skull. Her body then was crammed into the fire box and prodded back with the pipe, which was found alongside the remains.

FOES HOLD FATE OF NAVY TREATY

Senate Quorum Depends on Opponents of Pact

Friends Can Pass It Unless Enemies Stay Away

President Confers on Means to Round Up Members

WASHINGTON, July 13. (AP)—President Hoover and Senate advocates of the London naval treaty gave serious consideration today to attempts to bring back to the Senate sufficient members to insure a quorum for a protracted contest on the pact.

As treaty proponents turned their attention to missing members, foes drafted new reservations to be offered after the Senate has disposed of the Norris reservation, which provides no secret understandings not embodied in the treaty text shall be considered to have been ratified by approval of the pact.

MORE RESERVATIONS

Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, is preparing some reservations and around these the treaty foes will center their forces. He will lay these before the Senate early in the week at the time he delivers a prepared address against the treaty.

Senators Vandenberg, Michigan, and Allen, Kansas, Republicans of the militant young guard group, conferred over the week-end with Mr. Hoover at the Rapidan. The danger facing the treaty session because of the possible failure of a quorum was a subject of serious attention.

The Senate ended the first week of debate with only forty-nine, a bare quorum, answering the opening roll call on the final day. Only forty-one Senators have answered a roll call every one of the five days of the special session for the treaty. Twenty-seven have not been there at any time.

OWE FOES THANKS

The treaty opponents, led by Senators Johnson, California, and Moses have been on hand throughout and the treaty advocates must thank them for the quorum that has been present. Likewise, the treaty forces realize it is in the power of the opponents to break a quorum and end the special session at any time.

Definite moves toward an adjournment of the session this week are expected and little hope of ratification of the pact during the week is in sight, although there is obviously an overwhelming majority for it.

Those who have answered the opening roll call every day include: Republicans: Allen, Borah, Capper, Couzens, Dale, Fess, Gillett, Goldsborough, Hale, Hebert, Johnson, Jones, Keyes, McCulloch, McNary, Metcalf, Norris, Nye, Oddie, Paterson, Phipps, Reed, Shortridge, Sullivan, Thomas of Idaho, Townsend, Vandenberg and Watson. Democrats: Black, Caraway, George, Kendrick, McKellar, Overman, Sheppard, Stephens, Swanson, Trammel and Walsh of Montana.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT

In addition to these, Senator Moses and Senator Robinson of Indiana answered other roll calls on each of the five days. The following answered the opening roll call on four days: Republicans, Bingham, Glenn, Hastings, Howell, La Follette, McMaster, Robsion of Kentucky, and Walcott. Democrats, Harris, Robinson of Arkansas, Thomas of Oklahoma, and Walsh of Massachusetts.

The following have not attended the special session: Republicans, Baird, Blaine, Brookhart, Cutting, Frazier, Goff, Gould, Greene, Grundy, Kean, Norbeck, Pine and Waterman. Democrats: Ashurst, Blease, Bratton, Brock, Broussard, Dill, Hawes, Heflin, Ransdell, Smith, Steck, Tydings, Wagner and Wheeler.

Senator Norbeck is in Iceland on a commission from President Hoover to attend a celebration there. Senator Ashurst is a delegate to the Interparliamentarian Union in London about to open.

LOGAN AFRICAN PARTY RETURNS

Thirty Skeletons 25,000 Years Old Found

Snail-Eating, Peace-Loving Tribe Relics Discovered

Expedition Head Says Asia Not Cradle of Race

NEW YORK, July 13. (Exclusive)—The Logan African expedition returned today from the Northern Sahara desert where its seventeen members have been digging into four camp sites believed to be the earliest home of ancient man. They brought with them the skeletons of thirty persons, each more than 25,000 years old, and the word that these prehistoric fellows were peaceful nomads who lived on a diet of snails, never fought even among themselves, made no pottery, tilled no farms and owned no domestic animals.

Alonzo W. Pond, leader of the Logan expedition of Beloit College, of Beloit, Wis., fourteen students of Beloit and the Universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northwestern, Mrs. Pond and George L. Waite, photographer, made up the party. They arrived here aboard the President Roosevelt after three months' work in the desert. The expedition, financed by Dr. Frank G. Logan, vice-president of the Chicago Art Institute and founder of Logan Museum, is using for the first time the college students who were permitted to do their college work in the field with full credit for the time away from school.

FOUR CAMPS EXPLORED

"We explored four 25,000-year-old camp sites," said Mr. Pond this afternoon, "sifting an average of 240 cubic feet of prehistoric ashes a day by means of eight trenches. We took thirty skeletons from the excavations. Half of the skeletons were found in an undisturbed layer of snail shells and hearth sites, indicating they were bones of original dwellers there.

"The presence of flint tools with the bodies indicated the existence of some sort of ceremony connected with the dead. The other skeletons appeared to be about as old as the soil from which they were dug and probably were left there by the tribes which followed the builders of the prehistoric mounds in Southern Algeria not far from Canrobert. It is likely that the members of this tribe merely abandoned their dead where they fell."

NO WEAPONS FOUND

"Nowhere did we find the slightest evidence of cannibalism," continued Mr. Pond. "These ancient folks of the high plateau country were peaceful nomads who lived largely on snails and such small animals as they could ensnare. We found no implements of a war-like nature such as arrows, spears or daggers. We did find thousands of fragments of flint, which were used by these men. They appeared to be fashioned into instruments for cutting and scraping bone, wood and skins. Small flint drills for piercing skins indicated the prehistoric men knew how to sew.

"One of our most interesting specimens is a human radius which served as a tool for working flint. Such use of a human bone is rare, only one other ever having been discovered on previous Logan African expeditions.

SHELL BEADS DISCOVERED

"We brought back skeleton parts of hundreds of animals which will be studied to determine the kind of animals abounding in northern Africa in the stone age. A great deal of charcoal also was collected to enable botanists to tell something of the forests and plant life of that era. All materials gathered will be divided equally between the government museum at Algiers and Logan Museum at Beloit, Wis."

Fragments of ostrich eggshells highly decorated with geometric designs were found, the explorer said. No piece large enough to show a complete design was uncovered. Ostrich shell beads and beads made from small seashells brought from the coast a hundred miles away were discovered.

Thus far the Logan expedition has uncovered seventy-five habitation sites in the Sahara. They all have been found, Mr. Pond said, on the banks of ancient creeks, many of which have been dry for centuries.

AFRICA HUMAN CRADLE

"This trip," said the explorer, "we worked a region that was inhabited by one race of people whose material culture underwent some developments during the period they lived there. They seemed to have had little contact with the snail eaters several hundred miles west, which we studied in 1927. Undoubtedly the two groups reached the northern plateau by different routes from the Sahara and developed along different lines."

Mr. Pond believes that Africa and not Asia was the earliest home of ancient man and that these nomad snail-eaters link up with the prehistoric folks of South Africa.

Mr. Pond said these tribes had entered the plateau through two gaps in the mountains of North Africa 250 miles apart. He said the African early man was a walker and that he had found no evidence of domestic animals of any kind. The prehistoric folks, it was learned, were not inclined toward work. They made no pottery nor did they practice agriculture in any form.

The Town House

wishes you to know:

It has been said of this Restaurant "it is like an oasis in a desert" in its physical location.

Friends have told us that in order to dine here they have to make a special trip for that purpose, which, although they consider it well worth while, it nevertheless results in their visits being less frequent than they otherwise would be.

We know this full well—knew it when we constructed this building. Our policy and plans however, do not begin and end this year and we look far into the future.

It will not be long before wonderful improvements and attractions of all kinds will surround us, then the whole of this neighborhood will become an oasis.

LOST GIRL HOME FROM ESCAPADE

Mary McClenny Absolves Married Man Companion In Abduction Charge

RICHMOND (Va.) July 13. (AP)—Mary Frances McClenny, prominent 20-year-old Richmond girl missing since July 1, is at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. D. C. McClenny, today, after returning last night with her companion, Harry Dickinson, whom the girl's father had arrested on the charge of "abducting" his daughter wihout her parents' knowledge or consent.

The two weeks they spent together in a Waynesboro rooming-house apartment came to an abrupt end late yesterday when they were discovered and returned to Richmond—the girl to her parents, and Dickinson, a filling-station operator, to jail.

Miss McClenny in a signed statement given to a Richmond newspaper absolved Dickinson of all blame, and said she went with him willingly and with full knowledge "that he was married, and not divorced."

She said they hitch-hiked to Waynesboro and on the 2nd inst. rented a room, kitchenette and bath apartment.

Mrs. Flagler, who was 83 years of age, left an estate said to amount to more than $12,000,000. She was adjudged insane in 1889 and ever since then had lived at the sanatorium under the care of doctors.

The broadcast is said to be the first in history to originate from under a body of water.

YOUNG WILL SEE BOMB WITNESS

MacDonald to be Released to Mooney Lawyers

Reiterates Retraction of Trial Testimony

Date of Return Here Not Yet Determined

BALTIMORE, July 13. (AP)—John MacDonald, itinerant acrobat-waiter-watchman, whose testimony fourteen years ago aided in sending Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings to prison for life, tomorrow will be released to attorneys for Mooney, who will return him to California to seek Mooney's pardon.

MacDonald, arrested here, signed a 1500-word affidavit in which he declared testimony he gave was false and engineered by the Mooney-Billings prosecution at their trials in 1917 for the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco in 1916 which cost eight lives.

The statement in which he repudiated his testimony was made to Herbert R. O'Connor, Prosecuting Attorney of Baltimore; Frank P. Walsh, Mooney attorney, and other officials. Tomorrow he will be turned over to Walsh, representing the Mooney defense committee, for return to California and to appear before Gov. Young, who last week refused a pardon to Mooney.

WIRE FROM YOUNG

Decision to release the prematurely aged recanting witness was reached by O'Connor today after he had received a telegram from Gov. Young in which the executive said he would hear his retraction and story of coercion and bribery by prosecutors of the bombing case.

O'Connor today wired Gov. Young that unless he disapproved MacDonald's release would be made to Walsh, who had received telephonic instructions from the Mooney defense committee to bring him back to the Coast. O'Connor also wired the defense committee of his intention to release the witness.

The prosecutor in opposing MacDonald's release Saturday on a writ of habeas corpus, takes the position his affidavit, made officially and communicated through official channels, would have more force than did a similar statement made officially in 1921.

Following the 1921 statement of retraction, MacDonald said in his new repudiation, he was taken to California, but was not allowed by State officials to go before the grand jury to tell his story of coercion in connection with his Mooney trial testimony.

IDENTIFICATION FALSE

MacDonald's statement said his identification of Mooney and Billings as the men who planted the bomb in 1916 was false, and that he never had seen the two until taken to their cells by San Francisco police.

He said the prosecutor and a police lieutenant then told him what he was to testify and coached him before he took the witness stand. He also charged they offered him money for his testimony, and paid his expenses during the trial.

MacDonald will be accompanied to the Coast by Charles Ruzicka, and Hilary Gans, his attorneys here, Walsh and Edward M. Nochels, secretary of the Federation of Labor, O'Connor said. How soon after the release is effected the trip west will be started has not yet been decided.

UNION FEDERATION ASKS CASE REOPENING

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13. (Exclusive)—Gov. Young was urged by the executive council of the State Federation of Labor today to reopen the Mooney-Billings case. The council meeting in San Francisco reviewed the recent developments in the case and after a long discussion unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, by the executive council of the California State Federation of Labor, in regular meeting assembled in San Francisco June 13, 1930, that we reiterate our firm belief in the innocence of Mooney and Billings and strongly urge the Governor of California to immediately reopen the case and use every means at his disposal to have all the discredited witnesses brought before competent authorities so that the flimsy excuses for the continued incarceration of these innocent men may be fully swept away."

DEATH TAKES GEN. SMITHER

Former Chief Co-ordinator of Budget Bureau Expires

End Comes in Illinois After Two Major Operations

Veteran of Three Wars and French Legion Officer

LAWRENCEVILLE (Ill.) July 13. (AP)—Brig.-Gen. Henry Carpenter Smither, veteran of three wars and former chief co-ordinator of the United States budget bureau, died at the Ilney Sanatorium early today of complications that followed two major operations. He was 56 years of age.

Gen. Smither underwent an appendicitis operation Wednesday, but attending surgeons found it necessary to perform the second one Saturday.

MILITARY RECORD

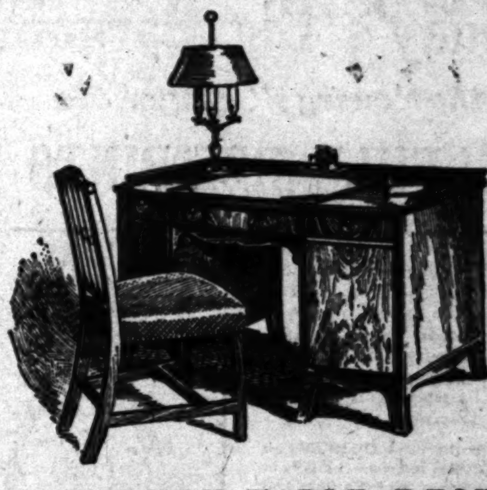
A commanding officer in the Spanish-American and Philippine wars, he was assistant to the chief of staff of the American Expeditionary Forces in France. During his career he earned the distinguished service medals of the United States and Panama and a commission in the French Legion of Honor.

Born at Fort Sill, Okla., the son of Gen. Robert Gano Smither, he attended the Burlington (Iowa) schools. Following graduation from West Point in 1897, he entered the Army and advanced through the grades to become major and colonel successively in 1917 and brigadier-general in 1925.

BUDGET BUREAU POST

Gen. Smither was chief co-ordinator of the budget bureau at Washington, from 1921 to 1928 and a member of the Dawes commission for arranging the Santo Domingo budget system in 1929. He came to Lawrenceville two years ago as a director of the Indian Refining Company.

He leaves his widow, the former Helen Lyte of Tacoma, Wash., and three children, Mrs. Paul Armel and Mrs. George W. Gering of Washington, and Henry C. Smither, Jr., of Lawrenceville.



SUDBURY TABLE DESK

IT is difficult to find a small table desk of the right proportions for home use. The Sudbury Table Desk is an enlarged form of the old time knee-hole desk. It is made of beautifully figured San Domingo Mahogany, with curved front inlaid with delicate bands of marquetry. The feet are a type of bracket commonly found in Eighteenth Century Connecticut pieces.

Across the full length of the back of the desk is a book shelf so that this piece can stand out in the room and make an unusual contribution to the entire decorative effect. Naturally the joinery is in keeping with the dignity of the piece—hand dovetailed joints in the drawers and laminated stock in the tops and ends.

Visit our showrooms and see this unusual desk—with a lovely collection of individual pieces and related groups for every room in the home.

CAPPER URGES WHEAT BUYING

Kansas Senator Asks Hoover to Coach Farm Board

Demand 100,000,000 Bushels Taken Off Market

Chicago Prices of Saturday Seventeen-Year Low

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 13. (Exclusive)—The farm-relief issue is back again on the administration's doorstep clamoring louder than ever for attention.

Instead of nearing a solution under the legislation enacted by Congress last year it appears to be more troublesome and menacing than at any time since the government adopted it as a national problem. That it will figure as a major issue in the autumn Congressional elections, especially in the wheat-growing areas, is now generally conceded.

A crisis has been brought about by the decline of wheat in the Chicago market to 85 cents a bushel yesterday—the lowest in seventeen years—with sympathetic drops in virtually all other farm commodity prices.

CAPPER'S PLAN

Senator Capper of Kansas, a strong administration supporter, is so disturbed by the agricultural outlook that he intends to call upon President Hoover tomorrow to urge him to direct the Federal Farm Board to buy 100,000,000 bushels of this year's crop and take it out of the market. He figures this can be done for approximately $85,000,000 and that it will have an immediate stabilizing effect on prices.

The Farm Board already is holding approximately 60,000,000 bushels of last year's crop, which is bought for approximately $1.15 a bushel.

Yesterday the Grain Stabilization Corporation, a Farm Board agency, sold 2,260,000 bushels of this wheat at approximately 78 cents a bushel, taking a loss of nearly 37 cents a bushel on it.

Senator Capper plans to lay the situation before the President frankly tomorrow. He is fearful that unless prompt action is taken by the administration to "peg" the market the protests now being heard will develop into an overwhelming demand from the West for more radical measures of agricultural relief, such as the debenture, which President Hoover has condemned as utterly unsound economically.

FARMERS "UNSOLD"

Chairman Legge and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde have concluded their tour of the wheat States. They went there ten days ago to "sell" the farmers the idea of reducing their acreage under cultivation.

They made speeches before large audiences in nearly all principal centers in the wheat country, telling the farmers that the only way to solve the problem of surplus production and get better prices is to limit their planting of next year's crp. They have had a rather hectic time of it. The chairman of the Farm Board did some rather plain speaking and received some rather plain answers from those who disagreed with him.

Gas Company Runs Afoul Dry Statute

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) July 13. (AP) A threat to seize the books of the Kansas City Gas Company and hold them until the company answers satisfactorily questions to be propounded by the government concerning reasons why a meter reader for the company failed to report a still near which he made monthly readings was made here by United States District Attorney Vandeventer.

The still was found recently. Near by was a gas meter, in view, so the government contends of the still. The government also announces it discovered the company furnished gas for the operation of the still. Mr. Vandeventer proposes to indict the gas company as an accessory to violation of the prohibition law.

T. J. Strickler, general manager of the company, has been subpoenaed to appear before a Federal grand jury tomorrow.

Honeymoon Tiff Ends Two Lives

STRONG CITY (Kan.) July 13. (AP)—A family quarrel today was believed responsible for the action of Alfred Drummond, a young farmer of Clements, Kan., who shot and killed his bride of three months and then took his own life.

The shooting occurred in the Drummond home. After he slew his wife with a shotgun, Drummond used a rifle to send a bullet into his own head. He died shortly after he was taken to an Emporia hospital.

Wife Witnesses Mate's Slaying

DALLAS (Tex.) July 13. (AP)—While his wife looked on, Charles Maxson, 33 years of age, ordained in the Baptist Ministry, and Dallas salesman, was killed in his Oak Cliff home here early today by a prowler whom he had ordered from his bedroom.

After shooting Maxson, who died about an hour later, the burglar fled toward the Fort Worth pike. He had not been captured tonight.

GREECE'S ANSWER TO UNION GIVEN BRIAND

ATHENS (Greece) July 13. (AP)—The Greek government's answer to the memorandum of M. Briand of France on a Pan-European union was handed to the French Minister here today. The note says creation of a permanent machinery for systematic political and economic cooperation between European states, within the League of Nations frame, is in accord with the Greek government's ideals and real interests.

SLAYER WAITS YEARS FOR ELECTRIC-CHAIR SEAT

TRENTON (N. J.) July 13. (AP)—Seventy-one-year-old Archibald Herron has been waiting since 1908 to attend an execution that will never take place.

He doesn't mind. It's his own.

Twenty-two years ago, this month, Herron was sentenced to be electrocuted for killing Rev. Samuel B. D. Pricket. Writs and reprieves and one thing and another kept delaying the execution. Herron tried to be patient.

Finally a Supreme Court Justice postponed the event until "further order." He died in 1923 without issuing those orders.

So Herron has stayed on and on in his cell, awaiting a natural death. He has had but two visitors in twelve years.

Stores in Butte Close to Fight Delivery Strike

BUTTE (Mont.) July 13. (AP)—Business men affiliated with the Silver Bow Employers' Association yesterday dismissed clerks and practically all mercantile establishments closed for an indefinite time.

The situation is an outgrowth of the strike of teamsters, who object to a wage cut of 25 to 50 cents a day, reducing their pay to about $6.

Employers said the action resulted from the clerks' union general order calling on its members to leave their jobs where goods were delivered or received by nonunion truckers.

Automobile mechanics also are at outs with their employers over wages. The employers proposed to pay $8 a day instead of $9.

Girl Tells Tale of Murder and White Slavery

DUNNELEN (N. J.) July 13. (Exclusive)—Unfolding a tale of horror in which murder, dope smuggling, white slavery and kidnaping hold major roles, a 23-year-old Baltimore girl today sent Dunnelen police on a hunt for a gang of white-slave traffickers, whose operations are believed to cover several States.

After thirty days of terror the girl who says she is Evelyn S. Leidensperger, petite and well educated, told police she escaped from her captors after leaping from a second-story window.

Fearful of underworld vengeance, she refused the questioning and threats of detectives who sought to learn her story until sheer exhaustion forced her to talk. A hasty check confirmed many of the points of her story.

KILLER-SUSPECT EVADES POLICE

Gangster Burke Again Slips Through Fingers

Officers Arrive at Hangout Hours Too Late

Fugitive Identified With Last-Week Crime

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) July 13. (AP)—Chicago detectives on arriving at a cottage on Hess Lake in Newaygo county, in which they thought Fred Burke might be hiding, late tonight found their man had departed a half hour earlier, according to reports to police here.

They arrested W. A. Smith, owner of the cottage and took him to Chicago for questioning. An automobile with Illinois license plates was parked in Smith's yard. He told officials the car was left there by a Chicago man who exchanged it temporarily for one Smith owned. "Because he didn't want to drive his new car in the brush."

Today's raid on the cottage at Hess Lake was a result of information Chicago detectives obtained after Mrs. Thomas Bonner, widow of a Chicago man slain last week, is said to have identified Burke as the slayer of her husband.

BUSINESS MEN VANITY VICTIMS

Biography Racket Found to Be Cheating Many

Big Sums Paid for Publicity Sent to Wastebaskets

Better Business Bureau Will Aid In Expose

NEW YORK, July 13. (AP)—Under the heading "Big Business Falls for Vanity Appeal," the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., releases today the results of a long investigation of schemes by which important business men are mulcted of money in the belief that their biographies and photographs will be published in newspapers throughout the country when they figure in the news.

The report shows that these schemes are not supported by the newspapers or press associations, but often a form of "racket" growing in use and constantly finding easier game. The Better Business Bureau says that millions of dollars have been given to pseudo press associations which have no established position with newspapers for these "puffs" which clutter up editor's waste baskets from coast to coast.

BUSINESS PREYED ON

A portion of the expose follows:

"In the mistaken belief that they can buy their way into the news columns of reputable newspapers, business executives are spending more than $1,000,000 a year. A recent announcement of the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., reveals that many of the nation's leading executives are supporting a scheme that preys exclusively on 'big business.'

"For a fee ranging from $100 to $1000, depending on what the traffic will bear, some twenty-odd firms styling themselves 'press bureaus' or 'press syndicates' or 'press associations' offer to prepare and publish a short, but favorable biography, illustrated with a photograph of the subject, for distribution, ranging upward to approximately 1000 newspapers throughout the country.

"The solicitors represent that the newspapers will welcome the biographies, but based upon its survey of newspapers the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., reports that the vast majority of the newspapers replying to the bureau's inquiry, promptly consign these unsolicited and undesired biographies to the waste basket. Some newspapers report that they retain some of the 'complimentary' biographies, in the belief that they are accurate as to dates and names and, therefore, useful for reference purposes."

EXPOSE AID OFFERED

"Business executives who are solicited to pay for newspaper publicity are reminded that reputable newspapers and news-gathering agencies serving the press do not accept fees for the publication of news or photographs and that any material that is not news finds its way promptly to the wastebasket. If an individual is prominent enough to warrant a newspaper giving his biography or photograph, space in their files, the chances are that one of the accredited press agencies will have supplied the data, as a regular feature of its service to its subscribers and without cost to the subject, or, if they haven't they can flash the necessary data over the wires promptly whenever there is any occasion for using it.

"The National Better Business Bureau will willingly assist business executives to get facts regarding any organization masquerading as a 'press association' that offers to publish their biography for a consideration."

Here's the LOAF Wrapped in GINGHAM BLUE

Freshness and Goodness "SEALED-IN"
A Guarantee of Satisfaction to You

AT last we've found it—a dress for WEBER'S bread that actually radiates the goodness of the loaf itself. Since the days of your grandmother and your grandmother's grandmother, blue gingham has stood for cleanliness, purity and freshness. Through the ages it has been a symbol of good, wholesome cookery. It has meant honest, old-fashioned dependability. All of this and more it means now in relation to WEBER'S bread. See the loaf on your grocer's counter—instantly your eye will be attracted by the fresh, dainty, blue gingham wrapper. And so at last WEBER'S bread dominates in outer-dress just as it has always in inward flavor, freshness and quality. Easy to select, easy to say: WEBER'S IN THE BLUE GINGHAM DRESS.

SCIENCE MEET WON BY STATE

National Academy to Make First Trip West

Stanford, U.C. and Caltech Will Play Hosts

Gathering Scheduled for September 18 to 23

BERKELEY, July 13. (Exclusive) California has been chosen for the first meeting of the National Academy of Sciences ever to be held west of Wisconsin, according to advices received here. The gathering will convene September 18, next, remaining in session until September 23, opening at the University of California, moving to Stanford on the third day, and on to California Institute of Technology for the last two days.

Arrangements are in the hands of a committee of California scientists including Director Robert G. Aitken of Lick Observatory, A. O. Leuschner and Prof. C. Fray, chairman, all of the University of California; Prof. W. F. Durand of Stanford University, Robert O. Schad of the Huntington Library, Astronomer F. H. Seares of Mt. Wilson Observatory, and Prof. Richard C. Tolman of Caltech.

It is expected members of the academy from all parts of the United States will attend. President Sproul of University of California will welcome them to California, Acting President Swain to Stanford, and Dr. Robert A. Millikan, chairman of the executive council of the California Institute of Technology, will welcome them to Pasadena.

One of the chief speakers will be Dr. Isaiah Bowman, internationally known geographer and explorer. He is director of the American Geographical Society of New York and has taken an active part in the planning and directing of many exploration and discovery expeditions.

The National Academy of Sciences was organized in 1863, with the approval of President Abraham Lincoln, and now has a regular membership of approximately 250 scientists. The purpose of the academy as set forth in the act passed by the Senate and House of Representatives, was to organize America's leading scientists into a body corporate, for the investigation, examination, experimentation and reporting of any subject of science or art at the call of the government of the United States.

DANES DREADFULLY HURT BY SNUB FROM ICELAND

COPENHAGEN, July 13. (AP)—Strained relations have developed between Denmark and Iceland over the failure of the Icelandic Parliament to invite representatives of Denmark to the festival marking the 1000th anniversary of the Icelandic Parliament.

In 1918 Iceland obtained independence from Denmark and the Danish press takes the view that the little northern island kingdom does not show proper gratitude for the years of beneficent reign.

Denmark has also been annoyed at a bill passed by the Iceland Alding providing that negotiations "be immediately opened with Denmark for the return of various Icelandic manuscripts now in the possession of Danish libraries and archives."

THE REASONS Back of This Growth . .

This statement shows that during the first eleven days in July savings with this institution increased more than three million dollars.

But of more importance, this statement shows the reasons back of this growth, a maintenance of the factors of strength and liquidity which have earned us the confidence of our 70 thousand old customers and nearly four thousand new savers who have brought their funds here since July 1.

We serve these customers by a rigid maintenance and continuous reinforcement of the measures of protection which have given Pacific States Savings its flawless record for 41 years.

We serve California by placing at the disposal of the state's property owners our large loanable funds at the notably economical rate of 7% simple interest on the declining balance. We solicit the loan applications of owners of residential and income real estate meeting our qualifications.

RYKOV RETAINS SOVIET PLACE

Re-election as Soviet Cabinet Head Surprises

Stalin Himself Said to Love Coveted Position

Other Right-Wing Members Also Returned

MOSCOW, July 13. (AP)—Alexei Rykov, whose position not only as a member of the powerful political bureau of the Communist party but as Premier of Russia had been seriously endangered by his activities in the right wing opposition, surprised everybody today by being re-elected to the all-powerful political bureau of the Communist party.

Thus his retention of the post of head of the Russian Cabinet, which foreign reports said Josef Stalin covered, has been assured. The political bureau of the Communist party is the inner sanctum of Bolshevist government.

Rykov's re-election, in the face of repeated assertions he would be severely censured for having dared to oppose Stalin, Russia's iron man, assumes the character of a personal triumph.

Scarcely less surprising was the re-election to the important central committee of Nicholas Bucharin and Michael Tomski, who have been active members of the right wing opposition.

PROMISE LOYALTY

All these together are taken to mean that Stalin and other leaders of the party have accepted at face value the retractions of the leaders of the so-called "right wing heresy," who had given at least tacit sympathy and support to the exiled Leon Trotsky.

Rykov and the others have promised henceforth to adhere loyally to the policies of the central committee, where Stalin is all-powerful.

Tomski, however, failed to keep his place in the political bureau, which was filled by Sergei I. Kirov. M. Kirov is head of the Leningrad branch of the Communist party and one of the rising stars on the soviet political horizon.

Stalin, himself, amid thunderous cheers, was re-elected general secretary of the party, a position of the greatest power and strategic importance.

BUREAU MEMBERSHIPS

The complete membership of the political bureau, as elected by the party congress today, follows: Alexei Rykov, Clement Voroshilov, Michael Kalinin, Jan Rudzutak, Joseph Stalin, M. Kuibyshev, Sergei Kirov, M. Molotov, M. Kaganovich and M. Kossior. Kaganovich, Kirov and Kossior are new members. The others were re-elected.

M. Kaganovich, M. Molotov, M. Postishev and M. Baumann were chosen associate secretaries of the party, assisting Stalin.

The only right-wing leader to be defeated entirely was Nicholas Uglanov, commissar of labor, who in the present party congress twice made sweeping and abject recantation of his views and activities as a member of the opposition. He was defeated not only for re-election as alternate member of the political bureau, but for membership as well in the central committee.

This double defeat may ultimately mean Uglanov will lose his portfolio in the Cabinet.

With today's elections the sixteenth congress of the party closed its session. Three cheers were given for Stalin, and then the delegates sang the "Internationale."

LIVERPOOL FACES RACE PROBLEM

Negro Sailors Debarking at Port Marry Whites; Many Half-castes

LIVERPOOL (Eng.) July 13. (AP)—Liverpool is facing a race problem due to the large number of Negro sailors who debark here, according to the report of the Association for the Welfare of Half-caste Children.

The report, which is the result of two years' investigation, stated that there are 450 Anglo-Negroid families in Liverpool and at least 1530 colored children.

The association recommended that Negro sailors be immediately replaced with white men on all British ships coming to English ports.

Three Killed in Bus-Auto Crash

The dead include Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Leinback and Mrs. W. E. Stickle, all of Kansas City, Kan. Mr. Stickle, a Kansas City attorney, a fourth member of the party, is in a Lawrence hospital suffering a leg and hip injury.

OPENING FOUND IN BUS RULING

Railroads Experiment With Auto Service

Loophole Left in Refusal By Federal Agency

Passengers Soon May Be Picked Up at Home

WASHINGTON, July 13. (AP)—If progress in railroad transportation is going to require the great transportation systems to engage in picking up and delivering passengers and freight at house door and store entrance present indications are that the Interstate Commerce Commission is willing to facilitate the development.

Although the commission last week closed one stage of the hot railroad contest over New York passenger business—entailing automobile service on an important scale—railroad men say the competitive controversy there is far from ended and that the New York situation is being treated as an opportunity for important experimentation with the possibilities.

PICK-UP PLAN BALKED

The Pennsylvania Railroad, which owns one of the best known of all passenger terminals, in the heart of New York City has found it somewhat inadequate to demands of modern travel. It sought permission to install a motorized system of pick-up and delivery of passengers at house or hotel doors, and was refused by the Federal agency.

The commission's decision, however, now appears, to have been sharply qualified; the Pennsylvania may have merely been refused the right to install the auto extensions for its passengers on a schedule basis.

Since one of its rivals, the Baltimore and Ohio, initiated automobile bus service right into Manhattan, avoiding difficulty with the commission simply by doing it without filing regular transport schedules, it still is possible for the Pennsylvania to proceed in some other fashion to supplement its railroad cars with busses.

NEW YORK SQUABBLE

The remarkable revolution in transport conditions which development of automotive transport has brought about is regarded by interested people as best illustrated by the New York city squabble in which the commission's ruling was interjected. Though the Pennsylvania, like the New York Central, at a cost of hundreds of millions, put its passenger rails into the city, less wealthy lines have been unable to match the facilities. They stopped on the Jersey shore.

The Baltimore and Ohio, permitted during Federal railroad control to run passenger trains into the Pennsylvania's New York terminals, was excluded as soon as carriers were returned to private control. Experimentally the Baltimore line installed a relatively inexpensive bus service from the Jersey shore into New York City, and the rubber-tired rigs obviously have worked havoc with Pennsylvania's passenger traffic, for that carrier, after two years of experience, applied to the commission for authority to run busses out of its New York and Newark terminals, to reach right into the residence districts and pick up the passengers who were finding the several scattered B. & O. bus stations in New York City convenient.

RULING LEAVES OPENING

Promptly, not only the Baltimore and Ohio, but the other roads with terminals on the Jersey shore intervened. If the Pennsylvania were allowed with all its Manhattan terminal advantages to run busses and accomplish house-door delivery of rail passengers, they would be forced to follow suit, they said. A great increase in New York's already congested street traffic was among the possibilities foreseen and touched on in the argument.

Nevertheless, though the commission tentatively ruled against the proposals as filed, the language of the decision is so worded, many say, as to permit further experimentation. The commission is known to consider that a possible co-operation of railroads in bus-and-truck operation in cities might be highly advantageous; that transport systems can be so related as to reduce present congestion in cities very materially when the rail carriers are willing to assume responsibility for organizing their traffic service generally a step further than they have hitherto carried it.

Anti-Semitic Rioting Breaks Out in Rumania

BUCHAREST, July 13. (AP)—Anti-Semitic riots and demonstrations accompanied by the destruction or pillage of Jewish shops were reported from several parts of Rumania today.

In Bobsha 1500 demonstrators, led by students, brushed aside a small detachment of gendarmes and plundered Jewish shops, maltreating the owners.

They then marched in the direction of Klausenburg and continued their attack. At Banea, many young men gathered and attacked Jewish inhabitants, some of whom were severely beaten.

The Minister of the Interior has ordered rigorous measures to be taken against the ring leaders of the anti-Semites.

BOBBY JONES ON WAY TO HOME IN ATLANTA

All Quiet on Golfing Front as Emperor of Realm Heads South With Lion's Share of Spoils

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO, July 13. (AP)—The golfing clans, headed by Emperor Jones, passed through here today in full formation in the retreat from the battle of Interlachen.

Bobby, the all-conquering, enjoyed the first Sunday of rest in three years following an American open championship, making the most of it as his party sped south to Atlanta in a special car attached to a train due to roll in for the big home-town welcome tomorrow.

In fact, this was the first time in four years that all has been quiet on the golfing front the day after an open tournament, with no play-off to keep the main contestants on a Sunday field of combat. Jones has had to play an extra thirty-six holes to decide each of the two previous tournaments. Today he was the monarch of all he surveyed as a result of his sensational triumph within the regulation seventy-two holes at Minneapolis, finishing with a total score of 287 to beat his nearest rival, the veteran MacDonald Smith of New York, by two strokes.

It took the two Smiths to give one Jones the fight over the Interlachen links. Mac Smith set the pace at the outset and, after a brief lapse, he was the one to make the

AUGIE WALSH TWIRLS TWO HIT SHUTOUT IN FINALE

Seraphs Slug Way to 10-0 Victory in Nightcap; Indian Rally in Ninth Decides 5-2 Opener

BY BOB RAY

After dropping the first game to the Indians, 5 to 2, Jack Lelivelt's Angels came back strong in the nightcap to batter their way to a 10-to-0 triumph and wind-up the first half of the Coast League race in the proverbial blaze of glory.

AUGIE WALSH

Behind the two-hit mound performance of Augie Walsh, showing his last year's form for the first time this season, the Angels had an easy time blasting their way to victory. The Seraphs pounded three Tribe twirlers for thirteen hits, which included home runs by Frank Sigafoos, Ray Jacobs and Johnny Moore, to pile up their lop-sided margin.

The first struggle was a mound duel between Wilbur Hubbell and Glenn Gabler with honors all even until two were out in the ninth when the Indians uncorked a three-run rally to settle the issue.

Although the Angels got an even break for the day and won the first half race and the honor to meet the second half winners in the play-off for the pennant, they dropped the odd game of the series to the lowly Redskins, who caused the Leliveltians no little embarrassment earlier in the week. Despite their wobbliness earlier in the series, the Angels finished three and a half games ahead of the second-place Hollywood Stars.

Some 9000 fans came out to acclaim the Angels as first-half champions.

Skipper Lelivelt presented a makeshift infield in both games, giving

Baron De Morpurgo Scores Smashing Victory Over Foe in Davis Cup Play to Put Team in Position to Meet United States in Next Competition

BY THOMAS J. TOPPING
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENOA (Italy) July 13. (AP)—The potent racket of Baron Humbert L. De Morpurgo carried Italy into the interzone finals of Davis Cup tennis competition today for the second time in three years.

Playing in his finest form, the Italian ace swept Yoshiro Ohta of Japan off his feet in straight sets to enable the Italians to win the series, three matches to two. De Morpurgo, giving Ohta only three games all told, won by scores of 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

Earlier in the day, Takeichi Harada, who had beaten Morpurgo in singles on Friday, conquered Georgio De Stefani in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5, 7-5, to deadlock the series at two victories apiece.

Italy's triumph qualified Morpurgo and his mates for the interzone finals against the United States at Paris Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The winner of this series will gain the right to meet France, holder of the cup for three years, in the challenge round at Paris the 25th, 26th and 27th inst.

Morpurgo, who plans to retire from international tennis competition after this year, played a brilliant all-around game that held Ohta helpless. The Baron showed no signs of the illness which was reported to have handicapped his play against Harada Friday.

He raced through the first set without loss of a game, alowing Ohta only six points in the first five games and only eleven in the entire set. The Japanese put up a better defense in the next two sets but at no time was he dangerous.

Harada, playing a high-grade game all the way, gave De Stefani a tennis lesson in their match. Harada was superior to the Italian in every department of play, and was not disturbed when the ambidextrous De Stefani passed him time and again on both sides.

BLUES BEAT UPLIFTERS

Lyle Puckett and Snowy Baker Big Guns of Polo Team's Victory Over Foes by 11-to-5 Score

BY BRAVEN DYER

With T. Lyell Puckett banging in goals from all corners of the field, the Santa Monica Blues made it three straight over the Uplifters' polo squad yesterday afternoon while a crowd of several thousand fans looked on and waited for the losers to get started.

The score was 11 to 5 and scores of polo lovers who had figured the Uplifters a good bet are still waiting for their team to go into high gear.

SNOWY BAKER

Mr. Puckett, who rides smoothly and wields a mean mallet, personally attended to the matter of scoring five goals for the Blues. This, it will be deduced, was the sum total of points tallied by all four Uplifters. Inasmuch as Mr. Puckett's mates were doing a bit of goal registering on their own hook the Blues won out by a handsome margin.

BAKER SUPPORTS

Snowy Baker, that swashbuckling athlete of many accomplishments, afforded Puckett plenty of support, bagging three goals and cutting off a lot of wallops which the Uplifters had steered in the direction of the goal posts. Snowy is one of the hardest riders in the game and he asks and gives no quarter.

The same goes for Will Rogers, Sr., author, actor, humorist, polo player and what not, who did his best to keep the Uplifters in the running. Will scored the opening goal of the game and rapped another through the uprights in the final period, but his efforts, plus

Kansas City Scene of National Tennis Tournament Opening With Large Field Entered

KANSAS CITY, July 13. (AP)—Seven of the first twenty ranking tennis players in the United States have been paired for the opening of the twenty-first annual national clay courts tennis tournament here tomorrow.

The seven include the defending singles champion, Emmett Pare of Chicago and of Dayton, Ohio, ranking No. 15, and the doubles title-holders, J. Gilbert Hall, Orange, N. J., ranking No. 13, and Frederic Mercur, Harrisburg, Pa., ranking No. 6. The entry list totals an even 100, with the last-minute withdrawal of two players, including Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., ranking No. 2, nationally.

AL SINGER GETS SHOT AT MANDELL THURSDAY

NEW YORK, July 13. (AP)—Sammy Mandell's defense of his lightweight championship against Al Singer at the Yankee Stadium on Thursday night overshadows any other attractions on the national boxing schedule for this week.

The "Rockford sheik," veteran of nearly 150 matches, has held the 135-pound title since July 3, 1926, when he beat Rocky Kansas in a ten-round bout at Chicago. Despite the fact that he has been fighting since 1920, Mandell is only 26 years of age. If he has lost any of his marvelous speed in recent years, few if any, of his opponents have discovered it.

Mandell still rates as one of the fastest, and perhaps the cleverest, of all the lightweights. He gave a remarkable demonstration of boxing skill here two years ago when he cut Jimmy McLarnin to pieces in a fifteen-round battle for the title.

BANKS ON RIGHT HAND

Singer, a youngster hailed in some quarters as a certainty to lift the lightweight crown within the next year or so, will bank largely on the dynamite in his right hand to beat Mandell. He is almost certain to be outspeeded and outboxed.

Supporting the fifteen-round championship go will be a ten-round semifinal marking the American debut of Justo Suarez, sensational Argentine lightweight, against the veteran Joe Glick. Midget Wolgast of Philadelphia, recognized in some States as flyweight champion, will battle Ernie Peters of Chicago in an eight-rounder.

In another title affair, Bat

PEDLEY AND BOESEKE TO TRY FOR SEPARATE POLO BERTHS

Word was received here yesterday by Lionel Pedley from his brother Eric, who is in the East, that he (Eric) will try for No. 1 position on the United States polo team which is practicing for the coming international series with England. Eric wired that Elmer Boeseke, the Pacific Coast's other brilliant star, planned to make a bid for the back position, which means that the two great western players will not be "cutting each other's throats" to get on the American team.

Max Baer and Les Kennedy Head Attractive Fight Program at Olympic Tomorrow

OAKLAND HEAVY PICKED TO WIN BY KNOCKOUT

Long Beach Battler Claims to be in Fine Condition; Doman to Face Birkie in Semi-Wind-up

Max Baer, hard-punching heavyweight from Oakland, is ready to make his second start in Los Angeles tomorrow night as a prohibitive favorite. He is an even money bet to stop Les Kennedy, the cagey longshoreman from Long Beach who once handled a shovel in a Butte (Mont.) copper mine.

MAX BAER.

Baer's entire troupe is here for the festivities. This includes his 240-pound father, Jacob, and his millionaire manager, John Hamilton Lorimer, who travels in the best social sets of the Bay City.

A party of twenty of Max's friends and boosters are due here by airplane from San Francisco tomorrow. Baer will join the sky crowd Wednesday and be home in a few hours. He hopes to be able to see more of the scenery than on his last trip.

Baer went back by plane after he fought Ernie Owens here. Everything was pretty much of a blur because Owens had closed one of his eyes. Since then Max has tried to perfect a defense and hopes to end the bout in less than ten rounds.

The German's best wins to date were registered over Owens. He won the decision from Ernie here after scoring five knockdowns. In the return fight held at Oakland Owens was knocked down seven times and the fight was stopped in the fifth.

Kennedy was knocked out in four rounds by Frankie Campbell at Wrigley Field, but was making a sucker out of the Italian until dipped. Los Angeles hasn't much of a line on Kennedy's present condition since he has trained at Murietta Hot Springs.

Tom O'Grady, who has been the chief scout of the Murietta camp, says that Kennedy will surprise everyone by his condition. The longshoreman has had only one sparring partner, Vijo Doman, to whip him into shape. Since Doman doesn't hold his punches—because he can't—Kennedy has virtually had a tough fight every day for the last week.

Kennedy has upset the dope several times in his career. Notable cases were his wins over the highly touted Kayo Christner of Akron and Jack DeMave, a fair eastern heavyweight.

Doman is choice to reverse on Hans Birkie in the eight-round semi-wind-up. Two weeks ago they battled at Oakland on the Baer-Owens card and Vijo was knocked out in thirty seconds.

O'Grady had to give Birkie $700 of a $1000 purse to get the rematch. Birkie is a raw-boned German from Hamburg with a record of ten knockouts in sixteen fights.

The Olympic has all its July dates filled with Billy Townsend and Joey Medill slated for an encore on the 22nd inst. and Midget Wolgast, flyweight champion, coming here to engage Speedy Dado over the weight on the 29th inst.

Ace Hudkins is slated to work in the Grand-avenue arena early in August. The club has hopes that the Wildcat will agree to a Bert Colima match.

HOWARD JONES RETURNS TODAY

Trojan Mentor to Take Over Local Session

Sam Barry Leaves for Home in Wisconsin Today

Bill Hunter Directing Boys' Camp at Catalina

Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California will return home this morning, following his completion of summer coaching courses at the Utah Agricultural College, Washington State College and Southern Methodist University. Jones wound up his outside coaching course activities for the summer on Friday at S.M.U.

HOWARD JONES.

After a week's rest here, the Trojan mentor will take charge of the S.C. summer session course in coaching athletics and for three weeks, from the 21st inst. to August 8, will give classroom instruction and field demonstrations in football to a large body of high school and college coaches and physical education instructors.

Sam Barry, Southern California coach in basketball and baseball who has been instructing in these sports at the Trojan summer session for the past two weeks, will leave by automobile today for his home in Madison, Wis. Following a visit in Madison, he will go to Clear Lake, Iowa, to conduct a coaching school in basketball from August 4 to 16. From August 25 to 30 he will instruct in the Frankfort (Ind.) coaching school, returning to Southern California early in September to take up his duties as assistant football coach when the season opens September 15.

During the week starting today, Dean Cromwell will take over the Trojan summer session coaching course, devoting the time of the class to instructions in track-and-field athletics.

While Southern California's mentors are conducting coaching schools this summer, Willis O. (Bill) Hunter, director of athletics at Southern California and head of the coaching staff, is directing the Catalina Island Boys' Camp, which he operates in conjunction with Elmer Henderson, former Trojan coach.

SAUNDERS TO OFFICIATE AT ASCOT NIGHT RACE

Russ Saunders, who was one of the Trojan backfield heroes last season, and who has long been an auto racing enthusiast, will serve as an official of the sport of speed Saturday night. Saunders was yesterday named to the post of referee and master of ceremonies at next Saturday's opening of the night racing season at the Legion Ascot Speedway.

RUSS SAUNDERS.

Athletes of U.S.C. have become "racing-minded" to some extent lately. Frank Wykoff refereed at the Legion oval three weeks ago.

Lighting equipment at the track will be installed today and tested tonight, Dr. Fred Loring, head of the speedway contest board, announced.

A tower fifty feet high, located in the infield, will throw the spray of illumination on the five-eighths-of-a-mile saucer.

The recently completed entrance on Alhambra Boulevard also will be brightly illuminated, as will roads leading into the grounds.

Although night racing will be more expensive than the day sport, Loring and his Legionnaire cohorts are confident that the idea will be a success. They point out the fact that racing, which is spectacular by daylight, is twice as thrilling at night when the cars appear to be traveling much faster than they actually are.

Ernie Triplett, the Belvedere "bad boy," who recently returned from Indianapolis, yesterday stated that he is confident that he will be able to go to the post with the twenty-five or more speed kings.

SYLLA WINS HURDLE HORSE RACE CLASSIC

AUTEUIL (France) July 13. (AP)—Sylla, owned by R. Mathe-Dum, won the 3100-meter hurdle race Prix Aguado, feature event of today's program. Alexis De Leaus's Sucre De Choix was second and Le Guye's Triplicata third. The race was worth 50,000 francs, and the winner paid about six to one.

those of Lionel Pedley, good as they were, were rather overshadowed by the brilliant work of Puckett and Baker. Pedley scored three goals and played a splendid game at all times.

In the final analysis the Blues had better teamwork than the Uplifters and this counts just as much in polo as any other game where combinations rather than individual brilliance are the rule. In addition Puckett was alert to every opportunity and made good on practically all of the chances presented him. Lyle is so much improved over a year ago that he now takes rank with the best of the riders performing on the Uplifters' field.

RIDERS TANGLE

Rogers and Baker had a number of skirmishes which delighted the crowd. When Will and Snowy climb on their mounts and put spur to their steeds the turf generally takes quite a beating and yesterday was no exception.

Midway in the game, when time was out for a short respite, Baker asked if "the old men," meaning the Uplifters, were ready to go again. Rogers came back with the crack: "Sure thing 'Sawtelle,' let's go."

The game was refereed by Hugh Blue and following hostilities the winners received handsome trophies.

Johnny Rawlings, former Giant and Pirate star recently signed by the Angels to fill their crying need for an experienced utility infielder, played second in the first game and at shortstop in the nightcap. Art Parker also played a dual role, covering first base in one game and third in the other.

Walsh never looked better than he did in the finale, breezing his fast ball right by the Redskins and having much better control than usual. It would surely be a break for the Cherubs in the second half if Walsh has finally regained the stride that made him a big winner last season.

The nightcap was settled in the first inning when Sigafoos and Jacobs clouted home runs, each with a man on, to pile up four runs and chase Guido Simoni, the former Santa Clara College athlete, to the showers in a hurry.

Schulmerich doubled off the center-field wall in the third and scored on Jacobs's single to make it 5 to 0.

SCORE FOUR MORE RUNS

In the fourth Lefty Lamanski was shelled of the mound, five hits and an error producing four more Angel tallies. Walsh's single started the trouble. Then Parker doubled, and Sigafoos, Schulmerich and Statz singled to chase Lamanski to cover. Knothe made an error on Jacob's grounder that would have retired the side with but three runs in.

Hanson replaced Lamanski and was the victim of the final Angel run, which came in the sixth, when Moore bumped one over the right-field screen.

In the meantime the Indians could get only one man as far as second, so well did Walsh keep them in subjugation.

The Indians played ragged ball in the first contest but Hubbell hurled effectively in the pinches to chalk up his second win of the series.

Los Angeles scored first in the second inning when, after two were out, Skiff's pop fly was lost in the sun by Taylor and allowed to fall for an infield hit. Knothe dropped Gabler's pop fly and Parker followed with a legitimate hit.

Seattle tied it up in the third with the aid of an error by Harper. Hubbell led off with a double but Knothe popped out. Taylor walked. Holland then lined to Harper, who dropped the ball, filling the sacks. Hubbell scored on Almada's infield out.

MULLER HITS HOMER

Fred Muller lined a home run over the left field fence in the fourth to put the Redskins out in front.

The Angels knotted the count in the seventh when Gabler doubled to left and after two men had been retired, scored on Dittmar's single off Muller's shins.

Then came the winning Seattle rally in the ninth. The round opened with Cox hitting a single. Hubbell tried to sacrifice but was out when the ball hit him in fair territory. Knothe fanned. Taylor singled to right and then Holland scored both runners with a double down the left field line. Alamada dropped a Texas leaguer over Rawlings' head for a single to score Holland with another run before the round ended. Scores:

JOE PEREGRINA TOPS MAIN-STREET FIGHTS

Joe Peregrina, Mexican middleweight who is one of the biggest cards ever developed at Main street, will return to Carlo Curtis club Saturday night when he boxes Jack Venable in the six-round wind-up. Peregrina boxed some fifteen winning bouts at Main Street, scoring a dozen knockouts. He dropped but one decision, that to Tom Moore. Ten-round bouts have bothered the Mexican but he should regain his form in the shorter bouts. Venable is the Oakland Negro who gave Sandy Casanova a great battle a few weeks ago.

Red Stephens and Johnny Chrismas, two of the best junior lightweights that ever showed at Main Street will tangle in a second six-round feature and four four-round bouts will complete the card.

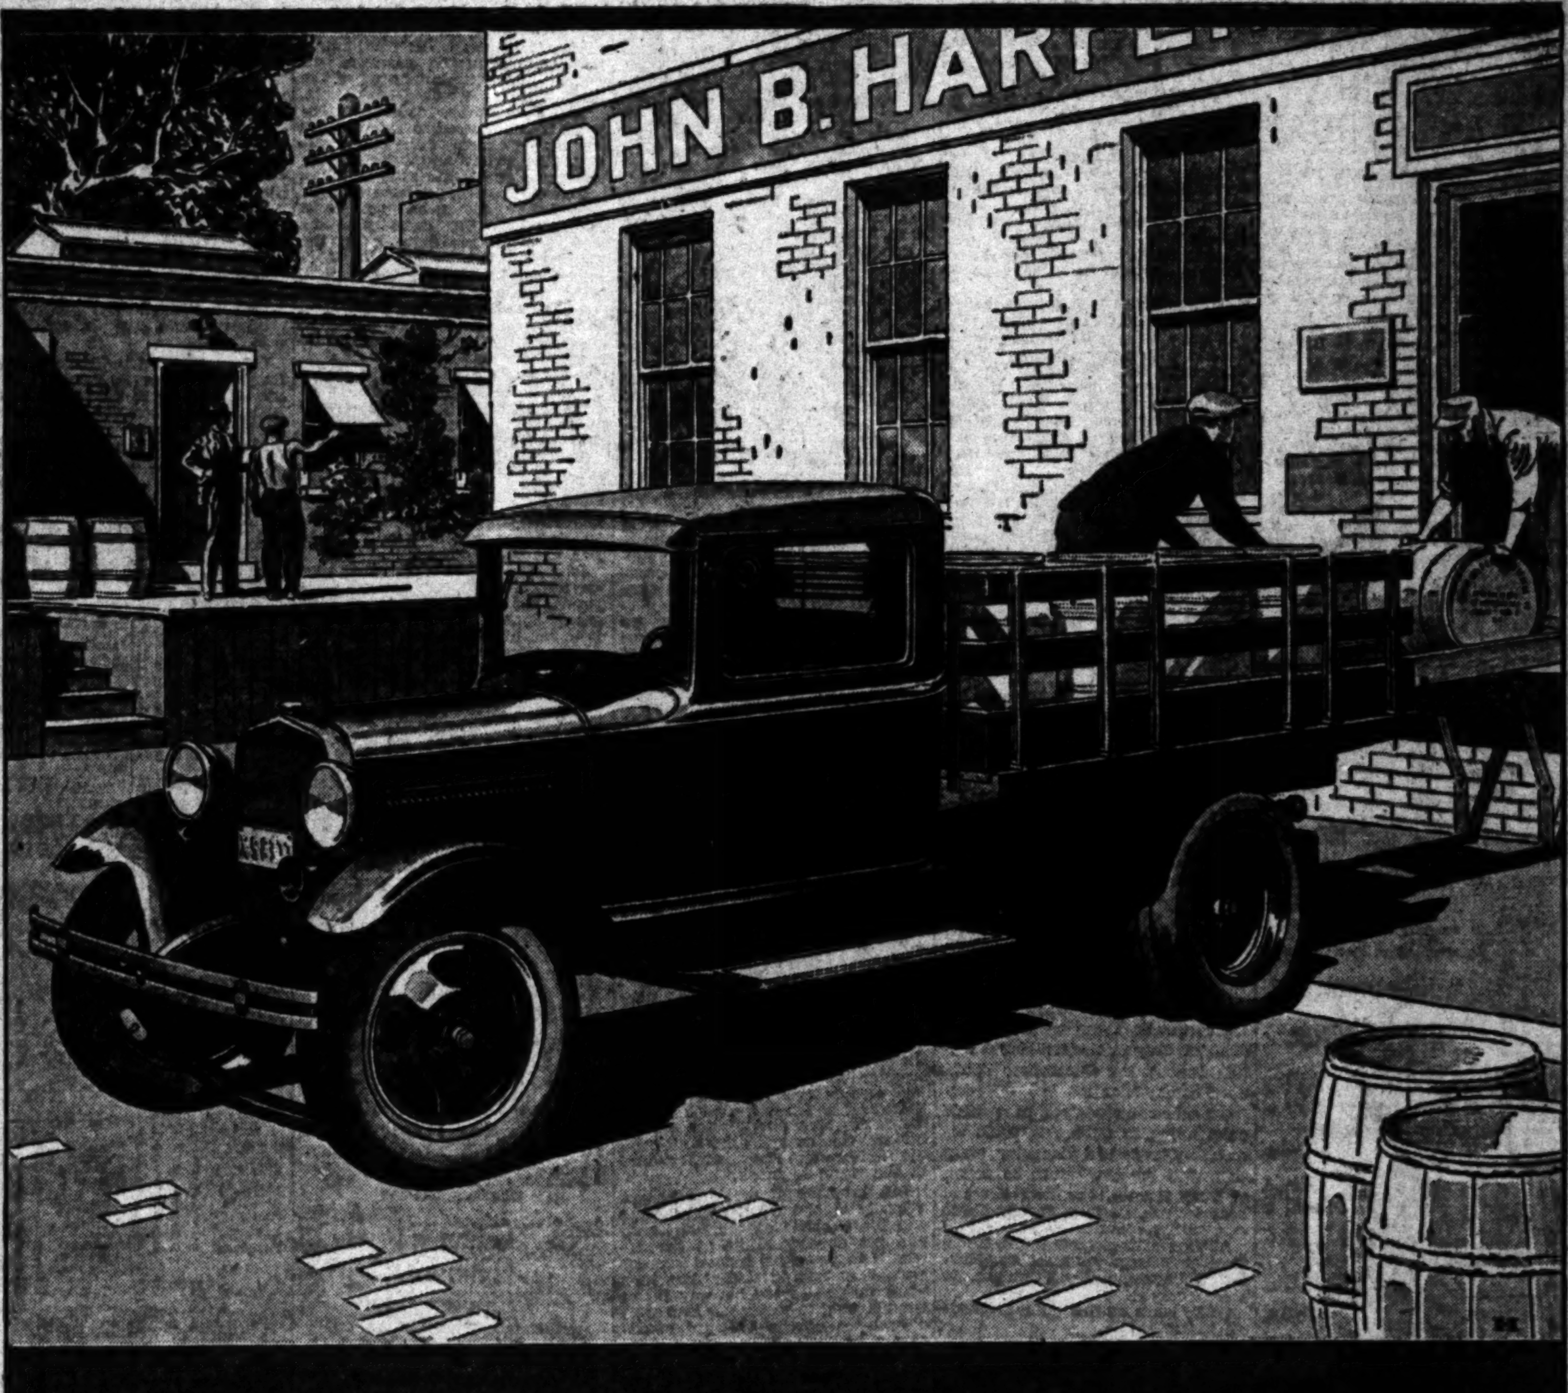
The Ford is a strong and capable truck



WHEREVER there is material of any kind to be hauled, you are likely to see Ford trucks at work. You will find them at many a shipping-platform, or meet them on the way. And see them climbing ramps, out of excavations.

You will notice Ford trucks where business is swift . . . and in rural sections, where strict economy often dictates the type of transportation. For the Ford truck is excellently adapted to a wide variety of purposes.

A number of new features increase the usefulness of the Ford truck, adding as well to its capable performance and rugged strength. Among them are the spiral-bevel-gear rear axle; the two optional gear-ratios; the larger brakes; the heavier front axle and spring; the 4-speed transmission, and the dual rear wheels available at small additional cost.

Standard bodies for the Ford truck, which are the panel, stake, and platform, are mounted on the chassis with 131½″ wheelbase. A chassis with 157″ wheelbase is available for carrying light but bulky loads.

Bodies are strong and good-looking, with loading space of carefully planned dimensions. The stake and platform types can be equipped with either open or enclosed cabs. Go to your Ford dealer, and learn how long and well, and at what low cost, the Ford truck will serve your purpose.

San Bernardino Star Makes Great Finish

Billy Jacks Captures Prize for Low Net

DAVE MARTIN.

David Martin of the California Country Club yesterday won the annual fifty-four-hole medal-play invitation tournament on the Lake Arrowhead mile-high links with a total of 68-72-74 — 214. Martin nosed out Gale Stockton of the San Bernardino Country Club, 1929 winner, who finished four strokes behind the leader. Stockton, 17-year-old San Bernardino jaysee star, finished with two brilliant 70's after taking a 78 on the first day of play.

Low net honors in the championship class went to Billy Jacks of Girard with 77-73-75—225-210. A. L. Clark won low-gross honors in Class B with 246, while G. E. Sheuman captured low-net honors in this division with 217.

C. R. Holbrook of San Bernardino and G. Benar tied for low gross and low-net honors in Class C, but on the basis of the most par holes, the former was awarded the low-gross trophy.

The tournament was run off under the direction of Lew Owens, professional at Arrowhead. The three-day event drew more championship-class players than ever before, including Fay Coleman, Southern California amateur champion.

JONES ON WAY TO ATLANTA

greatest bid to overhaul the flying Georgian on the last round. Mac shot opening and closing rounds of 70, each 2 under par, but he sandwiched cards of 75 and 74 in between to spoil his chances of victory.

Horton Smith, the 22-year-old Missourian, came along to set the pace for Jones and lead the field at the halfway mark. There the tall blond professional had a sparkling total of 142. He made the best showing of his career in this tournament, but he, too, found the final day's pace a trifle too swift. Horton wound up with rounds of 76-74 for a total of 292 that moved him back to third place at the finish.

For the first time in about three months, Jones can rest now, with three major conquests on British and American links to his credit and the fourth in prospect for him in the American amateur championship at Philadelphia in September. Where the odds were 50 to 1 against him at the start, Bobby now has achieved the unprecedented by capturing three of the four main crowns of golfdom. Within eight years he has now captured twelve of these blue-ribbon events to set a record that well may stand for all time.

For the fourth time in the American open, the professional clans had to be satisfied by chasing Jones and collecting merely their share of the prize money. As the top finishing pro, Mac Smith lifted $1000 of the $5000 distributed to twenty-one players. Two other amateurs, Johnny Goodman and George Von Elm, received gold medals for being inside the prize-winning group, tied for eleventh position.

Horton Smith took second money, $750, and Harry Cooper third, $650, but such stars as Leo Diegel and Walter Hagen collected barely enough to help pay their carfare. Diegel collected $80.25 and Hagen, one of the biggest disappointments of the tournament, exactly $47.50.

The distribution, after the first three awards to Mac Smith, Horton Smith and Cooper, was as follows: John Golden, $550; Tommy Armour, $450; Charles Lacey of Philadelphia, $350; Johnny Farrell, $250; Craig Wood and Bill Mehlhorn, each $137.50; Al Heron of Reading, Pa., George M. Smith of Chicago, Leo Diegel and Pete O'Hara, each $80.25; Hagen, Charles Guest of Detroit, Joe Turnesa, Bob Shave of Cleveland, Mortie Dutra, Willie Hunter, Ed Dudley and Al Watrous, $47.50 each.

MANDELL SHOT FOR AL SINGER

Battalino of Hartford, Ct., will defend his featherweight championship against Ignacio Fernandez, hard-hitting Filipino, in a fifteen-round battle at Hurley Stadium, Hartford, tomorrow night. Fernandez, who holds a three-round knockout victory over Singer, gave Battalino a close fight of it in a nontitular affair a few months ago.

KID CHOCOLATE FIGHTS

Kid Chocolate, Cuban Negro featherweight, takes on Luigi Quadrini of Italy in the ten-round feature bout at the Queensboro Stadium Tuesday night.

Other boxing centers have little outstanding to offer this week, although Cleveland's Thursday night show will see the return to action of Tom Heeney, the New Zealand heavyweight, against Johnny Risko in a twelve-round bout.

At Detroit tomorrow night, Eddie Shea of Chicago will meet Lew Massey, Philadelphia featherweight, in a ten-rounder.

Other bouts on the national schedule include:

Monday—At New York, Dexter Park: Harry Ebbets, Freeport, N. Y., vs. Nick Palmer, New York, middleweights, ten rounds. At New York, Henderson's Bowl: Johnny Indrisano, Boston, vs. Izzy Grove, New York, and K. O. Phil Kaplan vs. Joe Oliver, middleweights, each ten rounds. At Dayton, Ky.: Amy Buchannon, Waycross, Ga., vs. Jimmy Neal, Cincinnati, welterweights, ten rounds. At Cleveland: Johnny Datto, Cleveland, vs. Benny Gerahe, Cleveland, featherweights, ten rounds. THE Sportlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

CHICAGO (Ill.) July 13.—Surrounded by eight or ten of the greatest professionals in golf, Bobby Jones had to cut his way out with the weapon that was once poison to him. This weapon was his mashie niblick. For the greater part of the championship he was driving well and putting well but it was the big spade that carved out his twelfth major golf crown at a time when the road of fame looked to be cut off or closed.

Banked around him after the first day were such great golfers as MacDonald Smith, Tommy Armour, Walter Hagen, Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, Johnny Farrell, John Golden, Whiffy Cox, and one or two others. It was a desperate situation, even for a Bobby Jones.

But the flashing blade of his mashie niblick or his spade came to the rescue at almost every call. He handled this pitching club as some master might direct the bow across the strings of a violin. On hole after hole that last day from sixty to 120 yards away he put the ball close enough to the pin to kick it in with either foot. On three occasions he almost holed his pitch, the ball stopping less than a foot from the cup, and usually dead on the line.

It was one of the most astonishing exhibitions of short pitching any championship has ever seen. It was beyond the uncanny stage, for in the final double march it brought him no less than nine birdies where he had only short putts to hole as he peeled the hide off par.

The Winning Weapon

Before the championship Jones was worried about his wooden club play and his long irons. For the first time in any United States open his favorite weapons had begun to falter here and there—not often—but just often enough to be a mental worry and to add a few strokes here and there that might bring disaster.

"But I am playing my short pitches better than I ever played them in my life," he said. "I almost feel that I can hit the cup from 100 yards with the club that once bothered me most."

His prediction along this line was perfect. This was the club that gave him most of his birdies. For example in the third round he laid his pitches stone dead at the fourth, sixth, seventh, eleventh, twelfth and sixteenth to beat par.

Take the case of the 550-yard twelfth: After a fine drive with a following wind, Jones could have carried the plateau guarding traps to reach the green. But there was danger in front if he failed and deep danger behind from a fifty-foot drop if he over-ran. So he played ninety yards short of the traps that scarred the face of the upland and then from the valley pitched to within four feet of the cup to beat par again and get his 4. He was down in one putt from short distances on the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth holes in succession and on two of these occasions the putts he had to hole were less than two feet.

The 350-yard sixteenth was an ideal hole for his club. In the morning round of Saturday Jones pitched to within eight inches of the pin. In the afternoon round he was less than three feet away. There were at least five or six holes at Interlachen that called for a spade or a mashie niblick after a good drive and these were the holes that Jones murdered with his devastating pitching blade.

On each occasion he struck the ball firmly and crisply but always with a marvelous smoothness of wrist and hand action that was never close to being a hurried jab or an unsteady thump. Hands, wrists and forearms worked together on this stroke like well-oiled machinery, perfectly adjusted, and the head remained anchored until the ball was well on its way through the sultry air.

In the afternoon round he took a 5 at the short third, and a 5 at the short thirteenth, where on each occasion he was trapped. Here were four strokes over par on two short holes and he knew the pack was at his heels—Mac and Horton Smith, Cooper, Golden and others all closing in. Here was the greatest chance in the world to break.

But in place of breaking he got a birdie at the thirteenth, hit the cup for a birdie at the fourteenth and got another birdie at the fifteenth to prove his mental courage as well as golfing skill. And then when he had carved his way out of trouble, only to throw the lead away once more at the 262-yard seventeenth by slicing into a swamp, his third 3-par hole in 5, he once more rallied to close out the big act with another birdie 3 at the uphill, treacherous eighteenth, where on this occasion he sunk a 40-foot putt. It was not only his golf skill that pulled him through, but his complete refusal to break down or to fall back after certain serious mistakes.

Jones had every chance to crack in the afternoon round, if there had been any weak spots in his brain or heart.

In the third round he stood on the seventeenth tee with par for a 66. His pace had been so terrific, 6 under par for sixteen holes, that it had burned him out for the time being. The result was that he played the next five holes, two in the forenoon and the first three in the afternoon, 5 over par before he could pull himself together.

But the answer is that he never slipped too far. He kept a light, firm grip on his club and a tight grip on his heart and head and in this way put up an impregnable barrier that not even the best of the pros could beat down.

Mac Smith's Great Golf

This has been the toughest and the most brilliant of all seasons for MacDonald Smith of Lakeville, who tied for the open twenty years ago. He finished in second place, just two strokes more than Jones at Hoylake. He finished in the same spot at Interlachen. He might well have been the open golf champion of Great Britain and the United States except for the powerfully built amateur.

Through that last day's double round, Mac Smith knocked in at least ten putts that were only an inch or two inches in length. That meant putts that just curled by the cup, flirted with the rim of the tin, but would not drop. He had enough of these to crack the heart of an iron buffalo, yet he kept up the fight with brilliant golf and indomitable spirit and chased Bobby to the last green.

It is something to start seven shots back of Bobby Jones with only eighteen holes left and carry the charge to the final flag fluttering at the last green. Mac hewed five of these strokes away, but seven were too many. It was too much of a job for any man to face. Smith continued to hit the ball down the fairway, to rap his long irons and his short pitches true to the pin, but he could not drop quite enough of the holeable putts.

At the 200-yard thirteenth, Johnnie Golden hit his iron dead on the pin. The ball stopped 20 feet away. Mac Smith then followed with another shot that traveled so truly that his ball, rolling straight for the flag, struck Golden's and stopped him up where he might have been stone dead for a 2.

Mac Smith played fewer wild shots and fewer bad shots than any man in the field. He was a marvel of deadly accuracy of true hitting. His tee shots were down the middle. His longer irons were on the green, eight, ten and fifteen feet away from the cup. Most of his putts came up and looked in, but few of them disappeared into the hole.

And those 1 and 2-inch putts that were left counted just as much as a full drive, or a forty-footer. It was a great performance of the mental and heart side to stand up so well after so many of these putts had just failed, the ones from eight or ten feet or even less.

Horton Smith

Horton Smith made his big challenge through the first two rounds, when he played as fine golf as any one would want to play. When he went out in 36 for his third round he was still in the midst of the fight. It was the last round of the third trip that wrecked his chance.

From across the course on beyond, he was forced to listen to the thundering cheers of the Jones gallery, 8000 strong and lusty, paying tribute to one birdie after another.

Young Horton must have thought that Bobby was going around in nothing flat. He knew that his leading rival was burning up the battlefield. No wonder that he perhaps tried just a trifle too hard to match this pace and the result was that he needed 40 to get back. That 40 put him in a tough spot. It gave him too much work to do through the last round.

Jones had picked up eight strokes on the third journey and no man can spot Bobby Jones eight strokes in eighteen holes and catch him through the other 54.

The tall Missouri star proved again that he is still on his way. He is getting better right along as far as the big championships are concerned and experience is now molding him into a certain champion not so far ahead.

John Golden and Harry Cooper played well and were always dangerous but after his first brilliant round Tommy Armour could not quite hit his clip again. The slender Scot found the heat more than he could stand. It affected him more than most of the others in the higher ranks.

Walter Hagen seemed to sense after the first round that he could not get his old touch working and after the second round he took life and golf on the easy side. For example, at the ninth hole in the third round he put his short pitch less than three feet from the cup and then needed three putts to get down when he attempted to tap a short one in with one hand. But apparently there was no one around less worried than Hagen. When his game isn't hot, he can still keep cool.

CRABBE SEEKS A.A.U. RECORDS

Trojan Star Wants Recent Marks Confirmed

BUSTER CRABBE

Four world's records will be formally sought for Clarence (Buster) Crabbe, University of Southern California swimmer, at the next conventions of the national A. A. U. and the International Athletic Federation as the result of Crabbe's recent sensational performances in the national championships at Long Beach, it was announced today by Arnold Eddy, secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U. and general manager of the Trojans.

The following records have been checked and sworn to by officials of the national meet and will be sought for the Trojans' famous paddler:

380-yard free style, 10m. 20 2-5s., (old mark by John Weissmuller in 1927, 10m. 22.1s.)

800-meter free style, same time as above.

300 meters, medley, 4m. 6 4-5s. (old mark made by Crabbe in 1929, 4m. 12.1s.)

In addition to these world's records, Crabbe will undoubtedly get American and national championship marks in each of these events, making twelve new records in all, according to Eddy. A "noteworthy performance" will also be sought for him in the 330-yard medley swim. All of the marks will go down as long-course records.

The Trojan swimmer in addition to his outdoor national championships, also holds indoor national titles in the 220 and 500-yard free style and the 300-yard medley.

STARS CAPTURE SECOND PLACE

error. The Sheiks' other score came in the ninth. Gazella doubled, Rhodes sacrificed him to third and he scored on Hill's long fly to right.

The Senators could dent the rubber but once and that in the sixth frame. Osborn and Koehler walked and the former scored on Steinbacker's single. The Solons opened the ninth with two singles but two pinch hitters could not bring them in.

Gordon Rhodes for Hollywood and Laurie Vinci for Sacramento went the whole route in the second game. Both Sacramento and Hollywood used three pitchers in the morning contest, which was played at Stockton. Flynn, Gillick and Thomas worked for the Solons and Hollerson, Hulvey and Wetzel were on the mound for the Sheiks. Sacramento took the lead in the first inning and although the Sheiks were able to tie the contest once they were never able to take the lead. Score:

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROF. R. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

Transcribo a continuación una de las crónicas de sociedad, que, con el título de "Lo subrayado en la Semana", escribe Spottorno y Topete en "Blanco y Negro":

Sevilla "arde" en fiestas. Nunca más apropiado el tópico que en esta ocasión. Ahora mismo, cuando empiezo a escribir estos renglones, vengo de la feria. Me gustaría que pudieran ustedes contemplar desde aquí su iluminación. Es algo fantástico. La Reina de spaña y toda su augusta familia recorrían la feria sevillana; esa feria donde cada caseta es una especie de casa particular, con señores que reciben, atienden y obsequian a sus invitados.

Fiestas en tal cantidad, que uno tendría que partirse en cien pedazos para asistir a todas. Y gente, mucha gente, más gente que nunca. Princesas austriacas e italianas, "ladies" venidas de las brumas del Támesis, portugueses y americanos . . . ¡Qué sé yo . . .! Y además, la media España que se encuentra ahora en Sevilla; la aristocracia de Madrid, el todo Bilbao pudiente . . . etc., etc. Hasta el último lugar español ha mandado a Sevilla su representación correspondiente.

Fiestas. Comienza la cosa a las doce de la mañana en las casetas de la feria—en la del Sevillano, en la de Labradores—, entre dos chatos de manzanilla con sus inevitables tapas, y termina a las cuatro de la madrugada en Andalucía, un "cabaret" que se ha puesto de moda y al que acuden señoras y muchachas atraídas por un cuadro "flamenco" y una orquesta a cuyos sones se puede, naturalmente, bailar.

Al medio día cruzan el real de la feria las sevillanitas, bien plantadas en la jaca andaluza y vestidas de corto. Casi todas echan pie a tierra y entran en las casetas de los Círculos a tomar el aperitivo. El almuerzo, en la misma feria o en los hoteles; la mantilla para la corrida de toros, una vueltecita en coche por el paseo; el té en el Alfonso o en el Casino, la comida de gala, a la que sucede la correspondiente fiesta; y luego, para reponerse, por último, "a tomar vahos" en Andalucía. He aquí la existencia que lleva actualmente toda muchacha en Sevilla. Y a pesar de ella y después de una semana que llevo en la incomparable ciudad, cada día se ven más caras que parecen rosas. ¡Energía de la raza . . . !

En el Palacio del Aceite—esto del aceite no suena bien; pero en Sevilla el aceite es una de las mayores fuentes de riqueza, y en su Exposición se le ha erigido un palacio—hubo zambra gitana con asistencia de la Familia Real. Típicas buñolerías, donde se fríe la masa que ha de convertirse en un redondelito dorado y apetecible; las "flamenquillas" con pañolito, palillos y falda de volante; el "cantaor" consiguiente que se arranca por lo "jondo": "En esta calle vivía — La que me lavó el pañuelo . . ."

En Sevilla no se para, y sería inútil resistir a esta corriente de diversión que arrastra a todo el mundo fatalmente. Las tardes del Tiro de Pichón están concurridísimas; en los hoteles, a la hora del té, es imposible encontrar una mesa libre; el pedacito que dejan en el centro de las casetas para bailar está ocupado . . . Yo, hay veces que, acordándome de un invierno de Madrid bastante soso, me dan ganas de sentirme también "flamenco" y entonar aquella seguidilla que dice: "Tiene mi morenito — Venas de loco; — Unas veces por mucho — Y otras por poco."

Ahora que, como no sé cantar y temería, de hacerlo, ofender a unas nubes de Sevilla que al principio de la feria se pusieron bastante tontas, prefiero decirlo en prosa llana y lisa: es demasiado, sí, y, en realidad, para resistir la feria entera y sus derivaciones habrá que tener una naturaleza de hierro.

Porque aún queda tela larga que cortar. Por lo pronto se susurra—susurrarse nadá más — que en el Alcázar va a celebrarse una fiesta. Algo fantástico, según aseguran los bien entendidos, ya que el Alcázar, albergue aún de los Reyes de España cuando escribo estas líneas, cuenta con el escenario más bonito para una fiesta: la maravilla de sus jardines, en donde el tiempo parece que se ha dormido, y existen magnolias y jazmineras seculares.

Otra fiesta, ya anunciada como segura, es la que ha de celebrarse muy pronto en el precioso cortijo de los señores de Aritio, cercano a Sevilla. Los señores de Aritio tienen ahora allí alojados a un crecido número de los amigos de sus bellas hijas. Será una fiesta de noche y benéfica, en la que las infantitas de España, doña Beatriz y doña Cristina, venderán abanicos firmados por artistas de reputado nombre. Se bailará también, naturalmente, y en cada rincón de los jardines ha de haber—¿cómo no?—su "bailaora", su guitarrista y su "cantaor" correspondientes . . .

También se anuncian fiestas de campo netamente andaluzas, con acoso y derribo, y sus becerros o vaquillas para los que sientan correr por sus venas alguna gota de torera sangre.

De dormir, en cambio, ni hablar. En Sevilla la cama es un mito. Existen, sí, en casas y hoteles, y en estos últimos hasta las hacen pagar a bastante precio; pero de ahí a utilizarlas media unbismo. Y no sirve quejarse, porque, cuando uno confiesa estar cansado, estas sevillanitas, que, dicho sea de paso, tienen bastante guasa, aseguran, entre una sonrisa de dientes luminosos, que "los flamencos no duermen". Ni comen tampoco. A lo que parece, para ser "flamenco" de veras, lo único que puede hacerse es beber y cantar.

Agua Caliente Feature Won by Lady Seth

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) July 13. Lady Seth, stout-hearted Missouri filly, won the Coronado claiming stakes, first of the events of the summer race season here this afternoon. The filly, carrying the colors of James Parsons, ran the mile in 1:40 2-5 and was never headed, finishing a length in front of Irfaneh. Little Asbestos got the show.

Seven horses went to the post in the $12,000 added race which was worth $980 to the winner. Lady Seth went to the front at once. Claude C. was the first of the field to challenge but he wilted after going a half and then Little Asbestos took up the challenge. He too wilted and Irfaneh, always well up in the field, slipped in for the place.

Results:

First race, six furlongs, claiming, 3-year-olds and up, purse $500—Sunny Corn (McHugh,) 103, won; Streller (Van Pelt,) 113, second; Eager Polly (Hayward,) 98, third. Time, 1:14 2-5.

Second race, five and a half furlongs, claiming, 3-year-olds, purse $500—Porte De Oro (Lennie,) 112, won; Freedom II (Turk,) 110, second; Phil K. (Ringe,) 110, third. Time, 1:07 3-5.

Third race, seven furlongs, claiming, 3-year-olds and up, purse $500—Shasta Whoopee (McHugh,) 101, won; Fair Catch (West,) 110, second; Ahtram (Turk,) 101, third. Time, 1:28 2-5.

Fourth race, mile and an eighth, claiming, 4-year-olds and up, purse $500—Prickly Heat (Stranski,) 104, won; Clermont, Jr. (Jones,) 109, second; Worthman (Jenkins,) 109, third. Time, 1:56.

DRY QUESTION TO BE ASKED

Six Out of Seven Sheriff Candidates and Three Out of Four for District Attorney, Face Poser

ANAHEIM, July 13.—Six of the seven candidates for Orange county Sheriff, and three of the four for District Attorney appear destined to meet defeat upon the question of "To drink or not to drink."

Two organizations already have begun operation in the county with the avowed purpose of backing candidates who shall have satisfied dry leaders of the sincerity of their purpose.

In addition to this purpose, the People's League, recently organized at Santa Ana, with C. A. Rawlings of Del Mar as president and G. W. Moody, Fullerton, as executive director, seeks to oust what it terms the "political ring" at the Courthouse.

A second group, known as the Law Enforcement League of Orange County, is seeking candidates for Sheriff and District Attorney who shall provide convincing answers to a questionnaire recently propounded by the Orange County Woman's Christian Temperance Union. This group, with Perry W. Mathes of this city as president, and R. R. Lutes, Santa Ana, secretary, has held two meetings at Garden Grove and will meet at Fullerton for its next deliberations. No candidates have been indorsed by this group.

Valley Crops Put Money in Ranchers' Hands

VAN NUYS, July 13.—San Fernando Valley ranchers will realize nearly $575,000 from two crops this summer. Onion growers will receive about $300,000 for their crop, while potato growers will be paid nearly $275,000. There are about 1000 acres of onions being harvested at this time and an army of field hands are at work on gathering, sacking and shipping the huge crop, which will average about 175 100-pound sacks to the acre. The present price is about $2.10 per 100, and it is predicted that it will remain around $2.

Two large acreages stand out as unusual in the valley, the foremost being that of William J. Petit on Victory Boulevard west of Van Nuys. A little more than 250 acres were planted to onions. There has been a harvest of 200 sacks to the acre. The other piece is east of Van Nuys on Oxnard street, on the W. P. Whitsett holdings, and planted by Frank Whitsett. On sixty acres, 150 sacks were produced to the acre. Whitsett asserts the acre production would have been larger except for the chilly weather of early spring.

Early potatoes are now being sacked, and within a few days the entire harvest of the valley crop will be at the peak. The local branch of the water department estimates that 1200 acres were devoted to potatoes, and those familiar with potato production in this section assert there will be an average of 100 sacks to the acre. In some of the best potato fields west of Van Nuys as high as 200 sacks have been produced per acre. The present price is about $2.25 per 100-pound sack. Those familiar with price conditions say they do not expect prices to drop below $2 when the full potato crop goes on the market.

Police Chief on Leave to Make Run for Sheriff

PASADENA, July 13.—In order to permit him to direct his campaign for election as Sheriff of Los Angeles county, Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley has secured a leave of absence until August 26, City Manager R. V. Orbison announced today.

Chief of Detectives Charles A. Betts will serve as acting Chief of Police during Kelley's absence. He will be assisted by Capt. Carl Grisbach, head of the identification bureau, and Capt. Hugh Morgan, head of the uniform department.

Chief Kelley will open campaign headquarters in the Hotel Cecil, Los Angeles, tomorrow.

Last Rites for Pioneer Woman

ONTARIO, July 13.—Funeral services were conducted Saturday at Draper's chapel for Mrs. Ida M. Vestal, who came here in 1884, when there were but one or two women in Chaffey Brothers' Ontario Colony.

Mrs. Vestal died on the Remington ranch at Chino. She was born in Dallas, and rumbled across the prairies in one of the first wagon trains heading for Southern California.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Vera French of Los Angeles, three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Hiller of Austin, Tex.; Mrs. Nina Snyder of Burbank, and Mary Budholdt of Altadena, and three brothers, Wiley Murphy of Wrightwood; Calvin Murphy, Los Angeles, and Joseph Murphy of San Bernardino.

Church Building Fund Growing

CHINO, July 13.—With approximately 75 per cent of the building fund subscribed, the congregation of Chino First Methodist Episcopal Church expressed keen appreciation of the efforts of the building committee at the close of services here today.

Rev. Harry Branton, pastor of the church, announced that the campaign for the remaining 25 per cent will be pressed with vigor, and the new church edifice will be erected as soon as possible on the site of the present structure.

Important Bus Line Franchise Given in Valley

VAN NUYS, July 13.—A permit was granted this week to the Bay Cities Transit Company of Santa Monica to operate an auto stage line between Venice and San Fernando and intermediate points, including extension of territory between Sawtelle and San Fernando. The permit was given by the California Railroad Commission.

No passengers can be transported locally between San Fernando and Pacoima; nor locally between the intersection of Magnolia Boulevard and Van Nuys Boulevard, and Rayen street and Van Nuys Boulevard. Local passenger service between Van Nuys and San Fernando also is barred.

Through passengers may be handled to or from points between Magnolia Boulevard at Van Nuys Boulevard, and Van Nuys Boulevard at Rayen street, Van Nuys, when such passengers are destined to or from points south of Magnolia Boulevard or points between Rayen street and Ilex avenue on San Fernando Road in the Pacoima section.

The new bus line and the schedule are of great importance to valley residents as the granting of the permit provides the valley with excellent and rapid transportation between San Fernando, Van Nuys and the Santa Monica Bay region. Passengers wishing to go to Los Angeles can transfer at the Sawtelle depot or the stage line headquarters at Santa Monica.

Apricot Crop Drying; Trays Contain Tons

ONTARIO, July 13.—Hundreds of trays are scattered over several acres of land near the California Co-operative Canneries, Inc., local plant, where more than 1500 tons of apricots are being dried and made ready for storage.

The apricot season closes this week, and will be followed later in the month by the annual run on peaches.

Cutler-Lobingier cannery has been canning apricots three weeks, while the Co-operative cannery opened the dry yards on the 3rd inst.

Cutler-Lobingier had one of the heaviest runs of years on apricots this season. It was larger than that of last year.

Field workers have been visiting peach growers for several weeks signing them up to contract for cannery runs. Crops are in demand, and a fair price is hoped for by the growers.

Officials Sift Residence Fire at Hawthorne

HAWTHORNE, July 13.—Local police officers and deputy sheriffs are investigating the fire which wrecked a residence at 527 Gale avenue here. Tony Shendo, 35 years of age, and his wife, the occupants, are held pending the outcome of the investigation which resulted when firemen, under acting Capt. Jack Baumgardner, found a number of oil-soaked rags in the burning house.

Shendo is asserted to have recently obtained insurance amounting to $2000 on furniture in the house. Joseph Klotzele of Hawthorne, owner whose interest in the property is understood not to have been covered by the insurance, is not involved in the investigation. The loss is estimated at $3000.

Ontario Women Asked to Fill Boys' Fruit Jars

CHINO, July 13.—An appeal was sounded from California Junior Republic today to the good housewives of Ontario to fill the pantry for the boys at the Republic with canned fruit.

Each year during fruit-canning season the boys provide the empty fruit jars and carry them to the Ontario Chamber of Commerce. They then turn appealing eyes to the housewives, and ask them to fill one or two extra jars with fruit for them.

In previous years the pantry has been filled with Ontario fruit, and the present campaign promises to repeat the success.

BATHING GIRLS IN NEW MOVE

They Play Beach Checkers at Venice

These Queens Stand Near King Row

VENICE, July 13. — "Beach Checkers," launched as a fad at the Venice beach last season, blossomed forth again today. Down near Del Rey the big canvas "checkerboard" was brought out, and the bathing girls displayed wonderful concentration — for bathing girls—during the tournament.

Whenever they couldn't remember whose move it was they all moved at once.

Body in River Identified as Missing Baker

CALEXICO, July 13.—A body, identified as that of Adolph Augustein, local baker who dropped from sight here two weeks ago after a complaint had been issued against him by Deputy Labor Commissioner E. S. Holmes for nonpayment of wages, was found floating in New River just south of the international line in Mexico last night.

Mexican officers immediately took charge of the remains and started an investigation to determine the cause of death. Although the man has been missing since June 30, the body had been in the water less than twelve hours, according to Mexican physicians who examined the corpse.

An autopsy is to be held, it was stated, in Mexicali today. Augustein, who is known here as Henry Augustein, is a native of Germany and has never taken out naturalization papers in this country, according to local immigration officers. He is known to have had financial troubles for some time. Nothing is known here regarding members of his family.

The complaint against him was issued by the Deputy Labor Commissioner after a check for $7.50 issued to Charles B. Ruffin in payment of wages had been returned due to lack of sufficient funds. The labor department has had similar trouble with him before, Holmes said.

Phone Company Work Train at Banning Now

REDLANDS, July 13.—The construction train of the Bell Telephone Company which was in the yards of the Southern Pacific here while the crew was pulling cable through the conduits in this city, has moved to Banning and the crews are busy between Banning and Beaumont now pulling the cable through the conduits there.

The work of pulling the cable on through to Whitewater will probably be finished before the train is brought back here and the cable pulled through from Cajon street here to Beaumont.

The Delta Construction Company which has the contract for the laying of the conduit in several gaps between Redlands and Beaumont, has a large force of men at work. The conduit is being taken from Franklin avenue over the hills and will strike the highway again near Crystal Springs.

That is the longest gap which is not completed and is about half of the total of six miles between here and Beaumont, where no cable has been laid as yet. The conduit will be laid as rapidly as possible now and then the cable will be pulled through to complete a cable from Los Angeles to Whitewater, all underground. At Whitewater there will be a big repeater station or booster, and there the wires will be taken from underground and run on poles.

TALKIE HOUSE EQUIPPED

OWENSMOUTH, July 13.—All theaters in San Fernando Valley are now equipped with the "talkie" apparatus. The latest is the Madrid Theater here. N. Scheinberg and M. P. Horwitz, owners of the playhouse, have installed Movietone equipment of the latest make of the Western Electric type. Both Movietone and Vitaphone pictures may be shown.

TWO-YEAR-OLD STARTS FUROR

Very Young Miss in Sun Suit Creates Sensation When She Starts Out to See World; She Wails When Hot Street Burns Bare Feet; Officer Aids

ONTARIO, July 13.—Kathleen Moore is only 2 years of age, and when she went for a solo stroll on the auto-thronged highways the other day she created quite a sensation.

Miss Kathleen wore a sunsuit, just enough to hide her embarrassment. Her feet were equally bare. When she got to a street the concrete sidewalk got hot, and the piteous wailing of the youngster added to her powers of attraction.

Patrolman Freeman Futscher responded to a call, and started out with her in the police car to find her home. Kathleen gave him a vague description of the neighborhood wherein she lived, and Futscher drove into the Narod district. There he drove the car back and forth, along both sides of the streets, the little girl intently watching all the houses. Suddenly she pointed to one in Ramona avenue, and sure enough, that was the one in which she lived.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Moore, were more than glad to see her, even though she came back home under the escort of a policeman.

SAN FERNANDO SHIPS FRUIT

Approximately Thirty Trainloads of Citrus, Average Fifty Cars Each, Will be Valley Output

SAN FERNANDO, July 13.—Approximately thirty trainloads of citrus fruit, averaging fifty cars to the train, will have been shipped from local fruit-packing houses by the end of the packing season, according to estimates of the managers here. The season's output will total at least 1500 cars, it was said, valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Lemon growers are enjoying one of the best seasons in the history of the industry in the valley. According to reports received here, the San Fernando Valley lemons are the finest in quality being offered on the markets. The fruit is of excellent color and is sounder than most of the lemons from other sections of the State, it is said.

More than a score of cars of grapefruit will be shipped by the local house of the American Fruit Growers for export trade and the total shipments of other citrus fruit will amount to at least 250 cars for the season.

The San Fernando Lemon Association is shipping one car daily and will continue this average for the remainder of the season. The total output will be around 300 cars. The San Fernando Heights Lemon Association's seasonal output will approximate 400 cars with two cars of lemons being shipped each day.

The San Fernando Fruit Growers' Association will finish the orange pack within the next ten days, with a seasonal output of 200 carloads of navels and Valencias. The San Fernando Heights Orange Association will continue shipments of oranges until September 15 when the lettuce pack will start. This house will ship about 215 carloads of oranges by the end of the season.

Hundreds of local residents are given employment by the packing-houses and the pay-roll totals thousands of dollars each week.

BOAT PARADE IS DAZZLING

Annual Tournament of Lights at Balboa

Water Carnival Far Eclipses Former Efforts

Long Beach Wins Prize in Civic Division

BY BURTON L. SMITH
"Times" Staff Representative

BALBOA BEACH, July 13.—The placid waters of Balboa Bay were transformed into a bit of fairyland last night as the two-mile parade of decorated and illuminated boats, ranging in size from canoes to cruisers, passed in review as the culminating feature of this beach city's twelfth annual Tournament of Lights. Sixty thousand spectators in automobiles, on roof tops and in every available niche along the shore, witnessed the event and registered a unanimous verdict of approval of the efforts of H. L. Sherman, general chairman of the committees having the pageant in charge.

Never in the history of the long list of successes of this unusual and unique event was so much beauty displayed by the boat owners or so much enthusiasm shown by the great throng of spectators. The event of last night was far more brilliant than tournaments of former years, owing to the added aerial features and the large number of elaborate community floats.

WATER CRAFT SEEK PRIZE

The annual Tournament of Lights is a pageant in which owners of water craft enter decorated and illuminated boats and vie with each other for prizes and popularity. The result is a scene beautiful in the extreme and unique in detail. Great searchlights from Fort McArthur threw a flood of illumination over the water as the boats passed down the bay, while the great Goodyear blimp, Volunteer, and a beautifully decorated airplane circled overhead, adding a touch of color to the bewildering spectacle.

The highways along the ocean front with their thousands of automobiles contributed not a little to the spectacular event as the cars shifted position or remained still, their flashing lights becoming a major part of the dazzling scene.

Perhaps the most interest in the spectacle centered in the division of civic floats in which Long Beach won first, Newport Beach Fire Department, second, and San Clemente, third. First prize in the organization division was won by the Newport Beach Exchange Club; second by the Boy Scouts, and third by Newport Beach Harbor Yacht Club. The judges were Frank Cuprion, William A. Griffith, Julie E. Raymond, William W. Riddell, Ross Shattuck and Virginia Wooley, all members of the artists' colony at Laguna Beach.

TRAFFIC WELL HANDLED

Balboa Beach did itself proud as host to the multitude who witnessed the unusual spectacle by the manner in which the vast crowd was handled. Traffic was directed with perfect precision, order of the highest degree was maintained and the general comfort of guests given every consideration.

The great success of the tournament this year assures a repetition of the event in 1931, at which time every effort will be exerted to outdo this year's pageant, and it is fair to say that the Southland will respond with ever-increasing throngs of spectators as the Tournament of Lights more and more becomes one of the greatest of the many great and beautiful outdoor events staged each year by Southern California communities.

WOMAN ARRESTED ON PETTY-THEFT CHARGE

PASADENA, July 13.—Asserted to have cashed worthless checks for more than $300 in this vicinity, Miss Avis Booth, 35 years of age, of 370 Congress Place, was taken into custody on a petty-theft warrant last night by Detective Sergeants Leon Schuhl and Frank Clendenen.

Miss Booth, said by the police to have lived formerly at 700 South Orange Grove avenue, is reported to have explained that she expects to receive a large legacy in the near future and that any checks she has made out were cashed in the belief that she would have ample funds in the bank to cover them.

The suspect, whom the police assert is a landscape architect, was released on bail, and her preliminary hearing set for tomorrow morning before Justice of the Peace Elliot Gibbs.

POMONA VALLEY BAR INDORSES SWAFFIELD

POMONA, July 13.—Judge Ronald G. Swaffield of Long Beach has been indorsed by the Pomona Valley Bar Association for the office of Governor of the California State Bar Association, at a recent dinner sponsored by the local organization in honor of ten judges, indorsed by the Los Angeles Bar at its recent plebiscite. Allen P. Nichols, president of the local association, presided as toastmaster, introducing Judge Frank C. Collier as the principal speaker of the evening. Norman Bailie, president of the Los Angeles Bar Association, was also present.

JUDGE IMPOUNDS CAR OF YOUNG SPEEDER

ALHAMBRA, July 13.—"I think it will be well for you to stay away from your car for a while; it will be safer for the public, too," said Police Judge H. S. Farrell to Edward Westall, 17 years of age, charged with driving his roadster fifty miles an hour at Raymond avenue and Main street. The court made sure by ordering that Westall's car be held by the police for thirty days.

AGED PAIR MARRIED AT CROWN CITY

Bridal Couple at Pasadena Give Their Ages at More Than Seventy Years

PASADENA, July 13.—Marking the third marriage here in the last week in which all principals admitted being more than 70 years of age, William F. Kincaid, 71, and Mrs. Minnie Strandorf, 70, were married last night in their honeymoon cottage, 525 Buckeye street.

This morning, the bride and groom were discovered in their kitchen where Mr. Kincaid, an apron tied about his chin, was wiping the breakfast dishes. They revealed that their friendship of more than forty years grew into love and courtship following the death of the first Mrs. Kincaid two years ago.

"You see," asserted the bride, "my first husband and I were close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Kincaid, and now that my husband and Mr. Kincaid's wife are both dead, it seemed right and proper that we should find companionship with each other."

The present Mrs. Kincaid has lived in this city for forty-three years, having come here with her first husband, R. E. Strandorf, who died three years ago. Mr. Kincaid has been a local resident for twenty-nine years. He looks ten years younger than his actual age and is employed by the Park Produce Company.

The newlyweds have only one possible point of disagreement and that is the question of to what morning paper they will subscribe. Mrs. Kincaid has been a Times subscriber for forty years, while her new husband reads an opposition paper.

"However, I'd rather subscribe to a dozen papers if it will postpone our first quarrel" exclaimed the groom as he led his beaming bride into the garden to cut some roses.

Pastoral Pair Bid Farewell to Congregation

ONTARIO, July 13.—Third year of the pastorate of Rev. F. C. Abbott, and Mrs. Lillian Abbott, his wife, at the Free Methodist Church, South Euclid avenue and Park street, came to a close tonight, and both pastors bade their farewells to Ontario and their congregation.

Rev. and Mrs. Abbott declared today their pastorate here was the most successful and enjoyable of their fifteen years in the ministry. Rev. Abbott preached his farewell address in the morning, and Mrs. Abbott in the evening.

Lifeguards Save Four Swimmers

REDONDO BEACH, July 13.—Quick and heroic work by Lifeguards Eddie Cherry and Lee Jarvis this afternoon saved the lives of four youthful swimmers after two of them had vainly tried to rescue their girl companions.

The near-victims were Sally Prosser, 12 years of age; her sister, Marian, 15, and Fred Rice, 14, all of this city, and John Brunner, 15, of Gardena. All were swimming out beyond the lifeline when the younger Prosser girl called for help and the boys went to her rescue. A moment later attention of persons on shore was called to their struggles and the lifeguards took matters in hand.

All were quickly revived after they had been taken ashore.

Flyer Returns From Reception

HERMOSA BEACH, July 13. Lieut. John Hiss of this place returned this morning from Santa Maria, where he was the guest of Capt. G. Allen Hancock during the reception tendered Wing Commander Charles Kingford-Smith and his flying command, and the homecoming program incident to the return of the Southern Cross to Capt. Hancock. Lieut. Hiss was present as a representative of the first graduating class of the Hancock Aeronautical College, having received his license as transport pilot and aeronautical instructor with the rank of lieutenant in June of this year.

RESTORATION OF MISSION STARTS

Ground-Breaking Ceremonies for San Diego De Alcala

Wednesday, Historic Date in Church Annals, Set

Bishop Cantwell and Dean Hegarty Will Speak

SAN DIEGO, July 13.—Restoration of Mission San Diego de Alcala will begin next Wednesday, according to an announcement today by Albert V. Mayrhofer, chairman of the Old Mission restoration committee, and Deputy Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West, under whose direction solicitation of funds for the restoration has been carried on.

The ground-breaking ceremonies will be informal and a general invitation to the public has been issued by Mayrhofer. The principal address and the ground-breaking itself will be in the hands of Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego. Another address will be delivered by Very Rev. John M. Hegarty, dean of San Diego and Imperial counties under Bishop Cantwell.

The Sisters of Nazareth, who conduct the Nazareth House Orphanage at the Old Mission, and from whose mother house the first impetus for the restoration of the Old Mission came, will also be represented. Mayrhofer will also speak as will Mayor Clark.

Peculiar significance attaches to the date of the ground-breaking ceremonies in that it is that upon which the original mission started and also on which the Sisters of Nazareth instituted their beautiful orphanage adjoining the mission. Mission San Diego de Alcala was founded July 16, 1769, and is the mother of all the California missions. In historic interest and in the beauty of the associations which cluster about it, it is easily the most interesting of all the missions which comprised the Franciscan chain from San Diego to San Francisco, it is declared here.

Children Use Playgrounds This Summer

VENTURA, July 13.—School children are making great use of the new playground system, Chief Supervisor Vernon Heber said today, announcing attendance figures for the first nine days of operation.

From the 1st inst. until Friday evening, 330 children registered at Washington School grounds, 391 at May Henning, and about 400 at Sheridan Way.

Attendance will climb sharply in the middle part of the month, Hebel believes. Between 125 and 200 a day is the number he expects at all three fields later in the season.

Volleyball backstops and standards are now being erected at the Sheridan Way playfield, and more apparatus will be placed soon, Hebel said.

Milwaukee Man in Beach Bank

MANHATTAN BEACH, July 13.—Announcement has been made of the purchase of a controlling interest in the Manhattan State Bank by Ernest C. Kambe, former Milwaukee banker, and William A. Reetz, also of Wisconsin.

Under the new management, Kambe is president and Reetz, vice-president. William Reetz, Jr., formerly associated with Kambe in the banking business in the East, will also be with the institution.

MOONLIGHT DRIVERS SMASH MAIL BOXES

SANTA BARBARA, July 13.—Moonlight drivers who permit their automobiles to wander off the road and knock down mail boxes have aroused the ire of Santa Barbara postoffice officials. The postal laws make it a serious offense to molest a mail box. "These one-arm drivers, who strike a mail box and do not report it to the postoffice, as required, are in the hit-and-run class. The only way they can square themselves is by reporting to the office here," said E. F. McCaffrey, assistant postmaster.

GRUNION ARRIVE AT LAST

Three-Night Vigil of Ardent Fishermen Rewarded by Belated Appearance of Finny Delicacy on Sands

SANTA MONICA, July 13.—The grunion ran last night, springing a surprise appearance shortly before midnight, after swarms of grunion hunters had spent hours on the beach for three nights waiting for them to show up.

Grunion for breakfast was the rule in many beach homes, the tasty little fish, only a couple of inches long, being cleaned by snipping off head and tail with a pair of scissors. There are other methods, but this was declared to be the simplest.

The annual duckings and unintentional comedy skits were staged by overenthusiastic tourists who were initiated into their first grunion hunting. When the run started, the beach highway was thronged with automobiles, and the excitement drew many motorists who had not dressed themselves for such wet sport.

One woman who took off her shoes and stockings, expecting to confine her efforts to the shallowest water, was deceived by a tricky little grunion which eluded her clutch. The next wave made her dress look like something just pulled out of the washtub.

Two men who held an auto robe between them for an improvised seine, fared just as badly. The backwash from a wave caught the blanket and dragged both fishermen into a curling breaker.

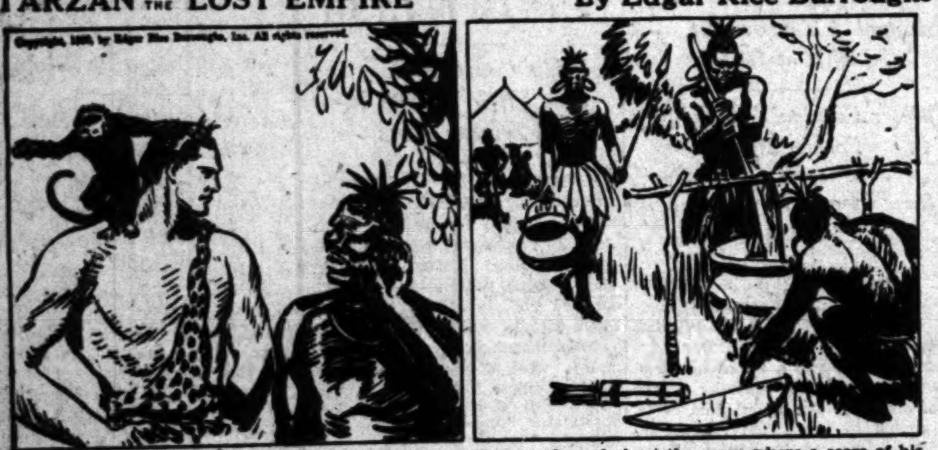
Everything from scoop shovels to bed sheets was used by the hunters, and one pair showed up with a hearth screen nailed, scraper fashion, to a couple of boards.

The grunion run, predicted for several nights, lived up to expectations in every way. Good catches were reported at most of the Santa Monica Bay beaches. The tiny fish wriggle up into the wet sand on a wave, spawn, and then wriggle back with the receding water. The trick is to catch them between waves. They do not bury themselves in the sand, as many novices are led to believe, but are so elusive they seem to have disappeared that way.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

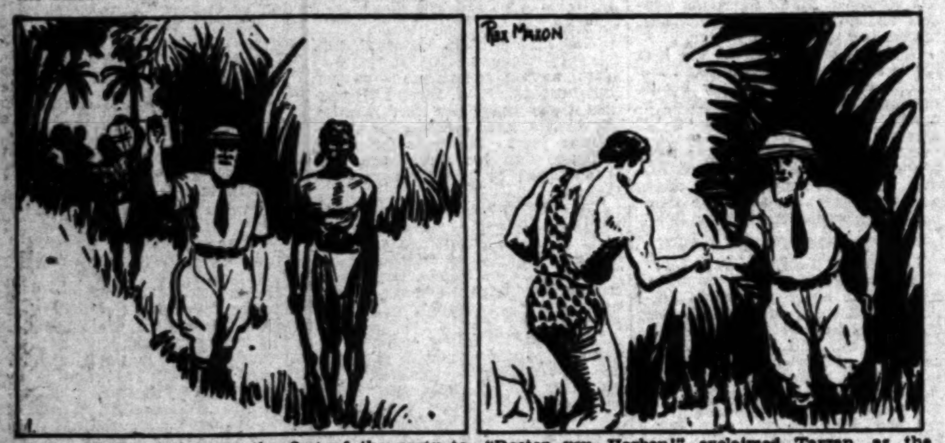
By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Nkima danced excitedly upon the naked, brown shoulder of his master. He chattered and scolded, now looking up inquiringly into Tarzan's face and then off into the jungle. "Something is coming, Bwana," said Muviro, sub-chief of the Waziri. "Nkima has heard it." "It's a party of men," said Tarzan. "Perhaps they are not friendly," suggested the black. "Shall I warn the warriors?"

Tarzan glanced about the camp where a score of his black fighting men were busy preparing their evening meal and saw that, as was the custom of the Waziri, their weapons were in order and at hand. "No," he said. "It will, I believe, be unnecessary, as these people who are approaching do not come as enemies would, nor are their numbers great." The advance of the strangers was now audible.



A tall, black warrior was the first of the party to come within sight of the camp. When he saw the Waziri he halted and an instant later a bearded white man came forward, making the sign of peace. Out of the jungle a dozen or more blacks followed him. Most of them were porters, there being but three or four rifles in evidence. The Waziri realized at once that it was a small and harmless party.

"Doctor von Harben!" exclaimed Tarzan, as the stranger approached. "I scarcely recognized you at first. What brings you into Tarzan's country, Doctor? I hope it is only a neighborly visit and that no trouble has come to you." "I, too, wish that it were nothing more than a friendly call," said Von Harben, "but as a matter of fact I am here to seek your help because I am in serious trouble, I fear."

NEW STATE ON LIST OF OIL FIELDS

South Dakota Regarded as Promising Source of Future Supply

South Dakota now is listed as an oil producer in the United States, thus vindicating certain geologists who for years contended that there is an abundance of oil in South Dakota, especially in the western and southern parts of the State.

Sections of Fall River, Pennington, Meade, Jackson, Haakon, Hughes, Charles Mix and Dewey counties are taking on the appearance of active oil fields; and it is predicted that great developments may be looked for in that direction in the west-river country during the next few years.

The first well to yield oil in South Dakota was the Standing Butte, thirty-five miles northwest of Pierre, according to the State's Secretary of Agriculture. This had to be abandoned when the drillers struck a flow of water of such proportions as to form a creek twenty-five miles long and still furnishes water, both winter and summer, for hundreds of head of stock. The newest well to be brought in is the Barker No. 1, which is located twenty-seven miles northwest of Hot Springs. On December 31, just as 1929 was drawing to a close, the well began to gush, producing between fifteen and twenty-five barrels hourly. The flow is increasing as the well is being carried to greater depth.

PRODUCTION BOOST PLAN EXPLAINED

Air-Repressuring Test in Texas Field Brings Substantial Gain

The details of how production of oil in the Williams pool, in Callahan county, Texas, has been greatly increased by the application of air-repressuring methods are outlined in an engineering report just made public by the United States Bureau of Mines.

The Williams pool, with sixty-one producing wells and nine input pressure wells, showed an estimated gain in production over what has been expected from normal production of 33 per cent under repressuring methods during 1927, 78 per cent in 1928, and 76 per cent in 1929. The initial production of wells in this pool ranged from less than four to thirty-five barrels, with a daily average of twelve barrels. The estimated net increase for the field over the three and one-half year period is 57,500 barrels, or 44 per cent.

The Williams pool is one of a number of shallow pools in the lenticular sands of the Cisco series in the Putnam-Moran district. The outstanding features of the pool are the abrupt variation in sand conditions, the absence of pronounced edge-water encroachment, the irregular oil-water contact, and the "low-head" and "small-volume" water that occurs apparently in the base of the sand in the "lows" of areas of depression.

Fruitvale Hole of Standard in Good Showings

FRUITVALE, July 13. (Exclusive) The Standard Oil Company expects to find production in its No. 5 well at Fruitvale on Sec. 26, 29-27 within the next 400 feet. The hole is down 3651 feet and indications are that the hole will be brought in at or near 4100 feet.

Standard has one other well in the district which is doing close to 1000 barrels a month. This well was drilled on the bank of Kern River and proved up a new area not far from the northwestern city limits of Bakersfield.

Operations at Oildale Told

OILDALE, July 13. (Exclusive)—The Chanslor-Canfield-Midway Oil Company's Fee No. 35 on Sec. 23, 28-27, Kern River field, with a total depth of 2026 feet and sandy blue shale predominating at bottom, is being cored and reamed at 1260 feet.

Standard Oil Company's Fee No. 24 on Sec. 15, 28-27, same field, has a depth of 2334 feet and is standing with the casing cemented at 2102 feet.

These are the only two active drilling projects in the field.

OPERATIONS AT WILDCATS TOLD

Chief Interest Centers in Half-Dozen Holes

Chanslor-Canfield Project One of Importance

Shell, Standard, Richfield Named as Others

Interesting developments from a wildcatting standpoint during the past week may be confined to less than a half-dozen widely separated projects, the most important ones belonging to the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company, Shell, Standard and Richfield, with perhaps a few other minor operations that have failed to show much class.

Several days ago Chanslor-Canfield while running the swab for the third time in its Hobson A-2 two miles southeast of the Seacliff field, had difficulties with fire which resulted from accumulated gas in the cellar. Damage resulting from this is in excess of $10,000 and before operations can be resumed on a production test considerable repair work must be done, requiring about two weeks.

Chanslor-Canfield's test to determine if it has found an extension of the Seacliff field is of interest because the General Petroleum Corporation and Continental Oil Company have large acreage near the wildcat. Should the Hobson A-2 come in as a producer, field scouts believe it would be good for from 500 to 1000 barrels a day, and it would require offsetting drilling at once.

The Continental Oil Company controls approximately 1100 acres near Hobson A-2 and General has extensive holdings there. Continental's activities now are confined to Seal Beach, where it is preparing to spud in a new well, while awaiting permission from Secretary of the Interior Wilbur to start operations on its government permit on the north dome at Kettleman Hills.

Continental is dismantling derricks on its leases at Carpinteria, where it drilled two gassers and put down a dry hole that failed to develop anything on a tideland permit a little south of there. No announcement has been made as to the company's plans at Seacliff.

At Point Concepcion, the Standard Oil Company's Gerber No. 1 continues to make progress with the drill, being below 4800 feet, endeavoring to find a deeper oil sand. This project swabbed continuously for more than a week based on the strength of oil showings above 4600 feet. It is located on what is thought to be a south structure, about six miles from the Richfield Oil Company's Universal-Consolidated No. 1, which is drilling below 3310 feet in hard formation. Richfield's test went through some interesting oil sand a little higher up, but it was insufficient to justify a production test.

South of the Coalinga field, the Ohio Oil Company is rigging up its Welsh-Brix No. 1 wildcat to be drilled on Sec. 4, 21-15, about twelve miles northwest of the Kettleman Hills oil field. The new project is situated near one of the oldest producing fields in the State and will test for deep formation. The test will probably spud in within a few days.

Six miles southeast of Bakersfield, the Shell Oil Company's Porter-Day No. 1 is standing cemented at 4890 feet with bottom of the hole at 4965 feet and yesterday drill pipe was being run preparatory to drilling out for a production test. Shell's project penetrated eleven feet of oil sand and has had considerable gas pressure. A week ago, mud and water with a good showing of oil were blown out and that showing has strengthened the belief that Shell may develop the first production in that area.

Tombstone Fete to Feature Old Mining Methods

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) July 13. (Exclusive)—Mining methods of historic days are to be shown at the next Helldorado celebration, in October, with intention to show the development of mining methods during the past fifty years. Much old-time equipment is available, in the Bonanza mines, even to rawhide ore buckets. There is assurance of the attendance of many miners and prospectors who operated the crude devices for hoisting and reducing the rich ore of pioneer days.

The shaft of the Tombstone Extension mine now is approaching the 200-foot level. It is continuing in ore running high in galena and silver, with some values in gold. There is much local pride in this property, which is in a location apparently not connected with the old bonanza ore bodies.

OIL SEARCH IN PHOENIX AREA PENDS

Los Angeles Group to Sink Wildcat on 4200 Acres East of City

PHOENIX, July 13. (Exclusive)—Leases on 4200 acres about eight miles east of Phoenix have been taken by the Garland Petroleum Company of Los Angeles, according to Charles W. Garland, president of the organization. The property is in a red sandstone and conglomerate formation that cuts through the valley alluvial and that has been prospected before for oil.

Mr. Garland states that oil scum as thick as twelve inches has been found on water in wells of the section and that the oil is of high quality. That oil is there is unquestioned, he states. The only matter for determination is the quantity and the proper location for the test well he will sink.

Machinery, already owned by the company, is to be brought here from the Coast, with equipment for sinking 3500 feet, if found necessary. Operations will be under the California company's charter. The first well will be only a short distance from Papago Saguaro Park, a large tract now held by the Federal government, but soon to be turned over to the State and to the city of Tempe.

OIL FIELDS COMMITTEE TO CONVENE

Fact Finders Will Meet Monday to Set Outputs and Potentials

The fact-finding committee headed by Chairman W. E. Dunlap meets at 2 p.m. Monday in the offices of the California Oil and Gas Association to establish new potentials and allowables for the various producing fields throughout the State.

At the last meeting of the fact-finding committee it was found necessary for the general committee to meet, as it was determined that the fact-finding committee had the curtailment situation well in hand.

This week, however, the Venice oil field, whose unexpected showing as to production has surpassed all forecasts, is expected to receive considerable discussion. No price has been established by any of the major companies, and will not be until the operators in that field have signed the curtailment agreement being circulated by Umpire Neil H. Anderson.

The situation at Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill remains practically the same as that prior to the recent restoration of its crude oil prices. The Santa Fe Springs field is producing approximately 112,000 barrels of oil a day, or about 10,000 barrels a day above its allowable, while the Signal Hill field is yielding 100,400 barrels daily as against its allowable of 93,000 barrels per day. In the latter case, the overproduction is blamed on new wells while in the former, the overproduction is blamed on a half-dozen operators who have not signed the curtailment agreement.

Deep Project in Lost Hills Area Reaming

LOST HILLS, July 13. (Exclusive) With 800 feet of hole cored to date, the Universal Consolidated Oil Company is reaming its deep test well in the Lost Hills field and will set twenty-four-inch casing at that point. The well is located on the company's lease, which now has several small producers. The average daily potential for the company's present producers is about 600 barrels.

The deep test will be drilled beyond 5000 feet, company officials declare. Some years ago, a few hundred yards away from this site, a well was drilled to about 5000 feet but mechanical difficulties forced suspension of activities.

New Poso Creek Wells Shut In

POSO STATION, July 13. (Exclusive)—Bring in and shut in is the rule with new completions in the Poso Creek field, two having been the net result of the past week.

The General Petroleum Corporation's Heisen No. 31 on Sec. 16, 27-28, was completed and shut in at 1616 feet in this fashion, while the company prepared to continue work on Heisen No. 32 on the same section, the latter being in rig stage.

The second completion is Pacific Western Oil Company's Glide-Vedder No. 7 on Sec. 15, 27-28. Total depth is 1514 feet.

HOBBS PRODUCTION MOUNTS

Total of 123,000 Barrels a Day More Than Twice Output for Previous Week

ARTESIA (N. M.) July 13. (Exclusive)—The daily oil production in the new Hobbs field has more than doubled within the last week, and now stands at 123,000 barrels a day. Despite the announcement of State officials that wells on State land would not be prorated, the sharp upward trend of production has overtaxed pipe-line facilities, and proration is compulsory to a certain extent.

Just now the pipe-line facilities at Hobbs are capable of handling only 40,000 barrels of oil per day, but the Atlantic line, which is the second one to be built, is about ready to begin running oil, and the Shell Pipe Line Company's carrier shortly will afford a capacity of 30,000 barrels a day. When the three lines are in service they will be able to care for approximately 100,000 barrels a day.

Operators are said to have signed a proration agreement, effective the 10th inst., which recommends the drilling of only one well to each forty acres in the Hobbs field. The pipe line facilities, of course, make it unnecessary to reach an agreement as to the amount of oil each operator will be allowed to produce. A proration agreement went into effect for the Artesia and Maljamar field on the 7th inst., limiting the production of those fields to approximately 70 per cent of their capacity or about the daily capacity of the Continental refinery at Artesia.

The State's biggest well is the Tidal Oil Company's Grimes No. 1, on Sec. 29, 18-38, which has just been completed for an initial production of 14,000 barrels daily at a depth of 4150 feet. On the first hour's test, the well made 864 barrels, flowing open. Grimes No. 1 widens the producing area of the Hobbs field approximately a mile.

The second largest well in the Hobbs field is Grimes No. 1 of the Gypsy Oil Company on Sec. 32, 18-38, which is said to be capable of producing more than 12,000 barrels from a depth of 4150 feet. In the first hour's test the well made 672 barrels of oil, and flowed 1440 barrels in one hour and fifty-five minutes.

Other completions made in the Hobbs area include the Amerada Petroleum Company's McKinley No. 1, on Sec. 30, 18-38, at a depth of 4230 feet. The McKinley No. 2 of the same company, when drilled to 4208 feet and given a test, flowed 2476 barrels in the first five hours. The McKinley No. 1 of the Getty Oil Company on Sec. 30, 18-38, was completed at 4200 feet and flowed 437 barrels in the first hour's test. The Midwest Oil and Refining Company's State No. 1, on Sec. 15, 19-38, made 821 barrels in three hours at 4143 feet.

Mines and Minerals

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Gypsum

BRAWLEY, June 22.—Question: In attached package you will find a sample of a deposit which I wish you to analyze, and also wish to know whether or not it would have any effects on alkali. X.

Answer: The sample is impure sulphate of lime containing more or less clay and traces of calcite, and one part of gypsum, at average temperature. Dissolves in 400 parts of water. To answer your chemical problem accurately, would call for quite a lot of space, with the given alkali stated. If you refer to alkali contained in certain soils you are respectfully requested to consult the Agricultural College at Davis.

Five Samples

BALBOA, June 22.—Q.: The five samples are from the mud hills, and from the dry lake beds of San Bernardino county. The round sample is float, and the rough ones, in place. I also inclose a sample of strontium from the mud hills near Daggett; the gray clay is what the strontium occurs in, and the blue sample looks like sodalite—is it? I thank you for past favors. It is now thirty-eight years since I first met Gen. Otis, and have been reading The Times ever since. X.

A.: The specimens were received all mixed up and loosened from wrappers. The brownish specimens (two pieces) are brownish chalcedony—quartz—and do not react for strontium. One other sample carries lime carbonate in low percentage; much soda, and no strontium. Sodium sulphate, and strontium-lime carbonate is present in one more sample. The blue rock is hydrated iron silicate, and not sodalite. Surely, you are entitled to be on the honored list of old subscribers and readers of The Times!

Quartz

VICTORVILLE, June 23.—Q.: I am sending, for analysis, a sample of rock which is new to me, and would like very much to know what it is composed of. It comes from a locality fifteen miles north of Desert Center, Riverside county. S.

A.: The sample is milk-white quartz and does not react for beryl. It carried a coating of micaceous iron (hematite,) on one side with veinlets of micaceous iron of microscopic sizes throughout the mass, and the white, flour-like material present is sericite, (microscopical orthoclase feldspar.)

Basalt Rock

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—Q.: Please state through In the Earth column what the inclosed sample contains, and kindly classify it. It is supposed to be an ore of beryllium, and it occurs near Wilhelmina, Or. MRS. C.

A.: The sample is a dark-colored basic volcanic rock, composed of pyroxene and soda-lime feldspar. It is known as "road metal" in California, and as "trap rock" in Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Oregon and Washington. It is far removed from beryl.

Doubtful Clays

COSLO MERA, June 24.—Q.: Do the inclosed samples contain anything of commercial value. I think they carry some aluminum. K.

A.: Aluminum silicate is present in both samples. No. 1 gives off a hissing sound in water, and lime carbonate is absent. No. 2 is an altered and banded, hydrous silicate of aluminum and magnesium, in low percentage. It is near float-stone, (silica) and carries traces of sodium chloride with a little sodium sulphate.

Interesting Samples

RIVERSIDE, June 24.—Q.: I am sending samples which I would like to have classified. They are all from a vein about fifteen miles from Banning. I take No. 1 to be corundum; some call it feldspar, and others say it is used for making spark plugs. No. 2 is the same as No. 1. No. 3 looks very much like pink beryl that I saw once in a specimen case; the small, clear piece seems to have some moss in it which comes from the pinkish rock. No. 4 comes in chunks and crystals with the rest of the samples. No. 5 is from a different place, it comes from a ledge near Mojave, it looks to me to be crystallized in the shape of an alum mixture. Thanking you for past favors. X.

A.: Samples 1 and 2 react as albite, (soda feldspar.) No. 3 consists of quartz crystals. No. 4 is iridescent quartz—no beryllium present. No. 5 is a crystal of transparent quartz. Beryllium not present in any specimen.

Micaschist

LOS ANGELES, June 25. Q.: I am sending you a specimen of mineral from Rowena mountains. Please classify it and oblige. G.

A.: It is micaschist carrying much silvery lustered and yellow mica, and such mica is known as cat gold and cat silver. Free gold absent.

Five Samples

CORONA, June 25.—Q.: Am sending five samples—four of rock and one of a metal I panned from sand and flattened. It is a metal of some kind. What is it that shows red in sample No. 1? All found in the hills around Corona. S.

A.: No. 1 is massive hematite in part, and carries some crystal hematite, and the red color is from hematite. No. 2 carries some rhodonite, (manganese augite,) and it runs high in silica. No. 3 is on the order of No. 2. No. 4 reacts for iron, microscopic orthoclase, (sericite,) silica, and clay. In a small vial a plate of very minute size was found, and under the microscope it was recognized as molybdenite. All samples probably represent doubtful commercial values.

Three Samples

YUCAIPA, June 26.—Q.: Will you please analyze the three samples of rock. No. 1 has little green-coated pebbles in it, but are white inside. No. 2 pans a golden-yellow concentrate, and No. 3 looks like iron ore—but the magnet will not lift it, and a file will hardly scratch it. Could this rock be samarskite? All samples from Riverside county. D.

A.: No. 1 specimen, chemically, is chiefly iron-magnesium silicate, and seems to be amygdaloidal lava carrying greenish-coated amygdaloid matter of chalcedony (quartz.) No. 2 is partly massive garnet carrying more or less yellowish amphibole. No. 3 is not samarskite (a columbate and tantalite of uranium) it reacts for limonite (hydrous iron peroxide) and hematite (iron peroxide.)

Three Specimens

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Q.: Inclosed are three samples taken from the same ridge in Sand Canyon, seven miles back of Tehachapi. I believe the large sample contains some silver; the black rock is called hornblende; contents not known, and the other sample probably contains some gold. I would especially like to know what commercial value the hornblende has. X.

A.: The brownish-black sample of hornblende carries no precious metal values, and it is on the order of fake platinum ore. The grayish rock reacts for quartz, and the remaining rock carries a trace only, of cinnabar, with tremolite (hornblende,) in the mass.

Calcite

NEW GOLD FIND AT MANHATTAN

Strike Reported on Mustang Hill Property

Tonopah Extension Returns for June $65,000

Mina Mercury Daily Output Twenty-five Tons

TONOPAH (Nev.) July 13. (Exclusive)—Discovery of a large deposit of commercial gold ore at Manhattan is reported by Matt Kane, operator of the Manhattan Consolidated mine, War Eagle mill and other projects in the district. The strike was made on the Midas group, situated on Mustang Hill, and is said to show an ore body ranging from forty to ninety feet wide. It has been traced several hundred feet and is said to sample better than $7 a ton. Seams of rich ore occur with the low grade. Kane and associates plan to work the deposit by the gloryhole method.

The Tonopah Extension Company reports the value of its June bullion output as approximately $65,000, with the ore containing one ounce of gold to each 100 ounces of silver. Large veins of profitable ore continue to be mined on the 1550-foot level. Several leasers are shipping from the Belmont mine, where the ores carry sufficient gold to partly compensate for low silver prices.

Bradshaw, Inc., re-treating mill tailings deposited years ago by the 100-stamp mill of the Goldfield Consolidated Company, has distributed its first dividend, amounting to $15,000. The management states that the corporation has paid off all indebtedness, retired its preferred stock and has sufficient material for several years of steady operation. For the first time in four years the company is hampered by a shortage of water and is arranging to develop fresh sources of supply. Approximately 2,000,000 gallons of water are used daily.

The Mina Mercury mine, worked under bond and lease by the Southern Mines, Inc., of Los Angeles, is producing twenty-five tons of crude ore daily. Production is being gradually worked up to about fifty flasks of quicksilver per month. A large reserve of commercial ore is said to be exposed.

Development of excellent gold-silver ore in a new section of the Mammoth mine at Gilbert is reported. The property is being operated by Gilbert Brothers, discoverers of the camp, and the new strike is reported to be highly important. Chris Hanson, veteran operator, has subleased a part of the Last Hope mine, with good ore showing.

Getty to Sink Deep Project in Southern Eddy

ARTESIA (N. M.) July 13. (Exclusive)—The Getty Oil Company is rigging a steel derrick to begin a deep test in the Getty pool of Southern Eddy county. The test will be located on Sec. 23, 20-29.

The Getty discovery well opened up a prolific shallow pool in that area two years ago, but owing to the low gravity of the oil, the field was not produced. Shallow oil is found here at 1370 feet. One well, which has been shut in for approximately two years, is capable of producing 1400 barrels daily.

Operators believe that the Getty test may be the means of stimulating deep drilling in the Artesia field.

NINETY-NINE VICTIMS OF EXPLOSION BURIED

HAUSDORF (Germany) July 13. (AP)—More than fifty persons swooned today as ninety-nine victims of the coal mine disaster near Neurode last Wednesday were laid to rest with elaborate ceremonies. The disaster is believed to have cost about 152 lives, 104 of the bodies having been recovered. The ceremonies were attended by more than 20,000 mourners, including representatives of the Governor and numerous workmen's delegations, who came by automobile from all parts of Germany. The obsequies began with music by the United Miners' band from the Silesian coal district.

PAIR FORCED DOWN IN ALASKA AT CORDOVA

CORDOVA (Alaska) July 13. (AP) Pilot Clayton Scott and his mechanic, John Selby, who were forced down in the gulf of Alaska Thursday by motor trouble while en route from Cordova to Ketchikan, were returned here today by pilot Robert E. Ellis, who had been sent out to search for the missing men in a Washington-Alaska Airways plane. Scott taxied to Icy Bay after being forced down in the Alaska Gulf and succeeded in beaching his plane, which was later broken up by the wind and waves. Neither of the flyers was injured.

HOOSIER TAXES INCREASE

INDIANAPOLIS, July 13. (AP)—Since 1926 Indiana taxes have increased $18,910,704. Property owners will pay a total of $151,050,088 in taxes this year, an increase of $7,201,553 over 1929.

MINES ACTIVITY AT GLOBE TOLD

Inspiration Copper Output in Year Sets Mark

United Vanadium Makes Mill Improvements

Seventy-nine Extension Gets High Grade Find

GLOBE (Ariz.) July 13. (Exclusive)—According to Alfred L. Stoddard, chief mining engineer of the Inspiration Consolidated Copper Company, his corporation "probably has done more experimental work on low-grade ore bodies than any other in the United States, and has perfected one of the cheapest methods of producing copper." Last year the company mined more ore than in other year in its history. The total production approximated 8,000,000 tons.

The property of the United Vanadium Company is located at Dripping Springs on the El Capitan highway between Globe and Winkelman. Recent improvements at the mine and mill have cost about $50,000. Regular mill operation is announced by Walter X. Osborne, superintendent. Shipment of lead-vanadate concentrates is to be made to San Pedro for water transportation to Germany.

High-grade ore is reported to have been struck in the tunnel workings of the Seventy-nine Extension mine, near Hayden. The property is being worked by a local syndicate, headed by Jack Miller. The ore, carrying lead, silver and copper, is to be handled in the near-by Hayden smelter.

Clarence A. Farlow, who has been development engineer of the Miami Copper Company, has started for Russia, where he will assume charge of a mine. He has been a resident of Miami for six years, before that connected with the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company.

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA AIDS MINES

Department Reported as Rendering Valuable Service to Industry

TUCSON (Ariz.) July 13. (Exclusive)—The University of Arizona mining department is doing much experimental work on the ores of Arizona. This is with the assistance of advanced students, who are taken on trips to the larger copper mines, studying mining and reduction methods. Some of the trips have been to the silver mines of Mexico. Much assistance is given through the local station of the United States Bureau of Mines and the Arizona Bureau of Mines, both of which have locations on the university campus.

Harmon E. Keyes, formerly connected here with the Bureau of Mines, has just published a work on ferric sulphate-sulphuric acid leaching, embodying investigations made here on ores from the Pinto Valley property near Miami. Mr. Keyes now is conducting leaching experiments for the Miami Copper Company. This work is understood to represent an expenditure of about $100,000, designed to afford the handling of ores of much lower grade than can be reduced at the present time.

Much progress has been made in the past few years in the leaching of mixed ores, carrying low percentages of copper, in both sulphide and oxide forms. This work especially has been successful in Miami, where the great leaching pits of the Inspiration company now are being relied upon solely for the copper production of that corporation, which temoprarily has closed its great mill.

Deep Wheeler Ridge Project Plugging Back

WHEELER RIDGE, July 13. (Exclusive)—The Standard Oil Company is testing out various formations as it plugs back in its Wheeler Ridge deep test, No. 2-36, on Sec. 28, 11-20. The well is down 7150 feet. A test was made at the bottom, but nothing of great consequence was found.

Difficulty in extracting pipe from the hole has lately been holding up the work. The field's producing zone is near 4500 feet, at which depth approximately fifty barrels of oil daily may be obtained.

In the event nothing of commercial value is found at a lower level the deep test will probably be plugged and put on production at or near 4500 feet.

New Oil Quest Due for Start at San Simon

BOWIE (Ariz.) July 13. (Exclusive) — Oil at relatively shallow depth is expected in a new well to be drilled near San Simon by Los Angeles interests, represented by Robert Thomas of the Bear Springs Oil and Gas Company of this city. Twelve sections have been leased.

A rotary drill is to be used, under charge of Charles Button, formerly with the Whitlock Oil Company. There is report that a wildcat well will be started in the San Pedro Valley, south of Benson, while work is being pushed on sinking a well in the lower San Pedro Valley, near Mammoth.

CHALCOCITE STRIKE IN SANTA CRUZ MINE

PATAGONIA (Ariz.) July 13. (Exclusive)—A large body of chalcocite of good grade was reported to have been cross-cut for twenty feet in the property of the Santa Cruz Metals Company, recently taken over under bond by F. A. Joss and G. M. B. Havely of Tucson.

GOLD QUEST ON GAIN IN NEVADA

Output May Offset Slump in Copper and Silver

New Seven Troughs Cyanide Plant Operating

Several Other Mills Under Way or Projected

RENO (Nev.) July 13. (Exclusive) Gold production promises to partly compensate in Nevada this year for the slump in silver, lead, copper, tungsten and other metals. The Seven Troughs Gold Mines Company placed its new 100-ton cyanide mill in commission this month and the Seven Troughs Extension Company is completing a modern plant.

The Yellowstone Mining Company is building a mill on its gold property near Winnemucca, and arrangements have been made for construction of mills at the Birch Creek, near Austin, the Auburn group, tributary to Lovelock, and other properties. The Newpass Mining Company has erected a mill on its gold claims near Austin and the Gold Hill Development Company has started construction of a large plant on its properties north of Round Mountain. Southern California capital is backing most of these companies.

The unsatisfactory condition of the quicksilver market has added more grief to the Nevada mining situation. Producers report they are being offered from $75 to $114 per flask for limited supplies of the metal, although New York quotations are $120. Many companies report inability to sell any of their product and the Pershing Quicksilver and Red Rock Quicksilver, two of Nevada's principal mercury yielders, have temporarily suspended production. Other companies are curtailing work. Overproduction is said to be the principal cause of the unsatisfactory situation.

The Vitrefax Company of Los Angeles has started shipments of alumina ore from its extensive deposits near Thorne, a station on the Mina branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad. The material is said to average above 52 per cent alumina and steady production is planned if the test consignments meet requirement of manufacturers of refractories. The Thorne deposits cover an extensive area and are favorably located for shipping.

Bentonite Clay Quarry Shipping

HOLBROOK (Ariz.) July 13. (Exclusive)—Bentonite clay is being shipped to Los Angeles by the Filtrol Company at the rate of five carloads a week.

The quarry is at Halloysite on the Santa Fe main line, about fifty miles east of this point. Thirty men are employed, under the management of Joseph H. Mullen. The material is used in purification processes in gasoline production.

CITY CREW TO BATTLE SHAM FIRE

Public Demonstration to be Held on Mulholland High Way Next Friday

A public demonstration of modern methods in forest-fire fighting will be given Friday when fifty trained men from the fire department with six specially-fitted fire engines will combat a sham fire on Mulholland High Way according to Fire Chief Scott.

The demonstration will explain modern methods of fighting forest fires with water aided by machinery. These means have been developed in Southern California to meet peculiar conditions and special fire hazards here. Fire department employees have also received special training in brush-fire fighting because of the large area of brushy mountain slope within Los Angeles boundries.

At this time the fire-fighting organization of Southern California is more highly developed than in any other section of the United States, according to George H. Cecil, executive secretary of the County Conservation Association, which is a cosponsor of the demonstration with the Angeles Forest Protective Association.

The public is invited to attend the exhibit. Those interested should be at Patrol Station No. 1 on Mulholland High Way at the intersection of Franklin Canyon Drive and Coldwater Canyon Road, at 2 o'clock to follow a guide to the scene of operations.

FINAL DRIVE FOR SIGNERS ON TONIGHT

Southland Vineyardists Plan Last Appeal for Needed Acreage

With the task of signing 50,000 acres before the Federal Farm Board will extend $20,000,000 of farm relief money to aid the California grape industry before them, vineyardist from all southern counties will have a mass meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Building at 8 o'clock tonight.

Twice advanced to care for a deficiency in acreage, the date of the closing of the drive has been set for midnight. Although Southern California leads other areas in the point of percentages signed, a large number of nonresident owners who live in the city of Los Angeles and surrounding towns will be solicited in a final attempt to put the drive over.

The program affects a $400,000,000 industry for California. Unless the stabilization program is successful, the economic structure of the State will be weakened, officials declare. Federal economists believe that the situation now facing grape growers can be cured by the Farm Board's plan, which unites major co-operative organizations and private firms dealing in grape products.

LIVES OF THREE LOST IN TRAFFIC

Youth Killed as Auto Turns Over Near Walnut

West Los Angeles Man Dies While on Motor Trip

Elderly Pedestrian Injured Fatally at Crossing

Three men are dead and one woman and a man are believed fatally injured as a result of traffic accidents over the week-end.

John Acosta, 20 years of age of Puente, was instantly killed yesterday when the car in which he was riding turned turtle on a curve in the highway near Walnut. His two companions were uninjured.

Death overtook W. T. Coleman, 60, of 917 Hammond avenue, West Los Angeles, while he was on an auto trip yesterday afternoon with two men friends. Coleman, according to investigating officers, died in the car near Newhall. He was dead when his companions stopped for medical aid, and the cause of death will not be definitely established until the Coroner's examination.

SEPTUAGENARIAN KILLED

Richard Hutable, 77, of 944 West Forty-fifth street, was fatally injured and his wife severely bruised when they were knocked down by an automobile late Saturday night at Figueroa and Forty-fifth streets.

The pedestrian victims were crossing Figueroa street and stepped in front of a machine driven by Emmett D. Miller of 718 South Figueroa street, according to the police report. Mrs. Miller, 62, was able to return to her home after emergency treatment at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, but her husband, suffering from brain concussion and internal injuries, died at the hospital early yesterday.

Miller was not held, the accident being unavoidable, according to investigating officers.

Injuries which may result in death were received by Mrs. Margaret G. Rice, 63, of 2227 Eighth avenue in a collision between two automobiles at Seventh avenue and Washington Boulevard. She was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital with a possible fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. She was riding with her husband, Wallace C. Rice, 64. He was not seriously injured.

The Rice machine collided with a car driven by Mrs. Louise Shostrom of 4211 Fountain avenue, according to Wilshire police. Mrs. Shostrom also escaped serious hurts, police said.

COLORED MAN MAY DIE

Horace Oliphant, 23, colored, of 1718 East Fifty-third street, was probably fatally injured yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which he was riding with Alfred Harrison of 1674 East Fiftieth Place collided with a telephone pole at Thirty-third street and Hooper avenue. He was removed to the General Hospital, with internal injuries. Harrison was not seriously hurt.

A man and two women companions suffered serious injuries in a rear-end collision at Ventura Boulevard and Vantage street. They are Walter Boyle, 43, 2716 South Vermont avenue; Dorothy Peterson, 28, 1714 West Twenty-seventh street, and Evelyn Nelson, 16, 1130½ South Kingsley Drive. All are in North Hollywood Emergency Hospital. Boyle has internal injuries.

Police say Boyle's car, while making a turn into Vantage street, was struck by a machine driven by Victor Eisebraum, 21, 3217 London street, who was racing with a third motorist. They booked Eisebraum on a charge of violation of Section 650½, Penal Code.

War Veterans Seek Vote on More Rights

A group of war veterans' organizations has asked the City Council to place upon the ballot an amendment to the charter granting additional preferences to veterans. A section of the charter now gives a 10 per cent advantage in civil-service ratings to veterans and widows of veterans.

The proposed new amendment demands that when lay-offs occur, veterans must be accorded their seniority rights and if laid off out of order of seniority they shall be paid full salary.

GROVES CASE NEAR CLOSE

Jury Bribery Trial May be Submitted for Verdict Late Tomorrow or Wednesday

The prosecution case against John B. Groves, former juror in the first Julian trial in 1928 and now on trial before a jury of three women and nine men in Superior Judge Wilson's court on a charge of bribery, will probably close some time late tomorrow or early Wednesday, according to announcement of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones.

This morning additional testimony tending to corroborate Jacob Berman, who has already told the jury that he paid Groves $5000 to vote not guilty in the Julian case, will be presented by the prosecution and a number of witnesses will be called, Jones declared, who will testify that liquor as well as money was given to the defendant by Berman.

The trial, which got under way Thursday, will probably end, according to both the prosecution and defense, by the close of this week. Groves, who is scheduled to take the stand in his own defense, is represented by S. S. Hahn and Wilbert C. Hamilton.

BERMAN FORGERY CASE RESUMED TODAY

Further activities of Jacob Berman in handling the finances of the Julian Oil Corporation are scheduled to be revealed in Superior Judge Schauer's court this morning when Berman's trial for forgery and embezzlement is resumed.

Last Friday the court heard from the lips of Daniel Barnes, Long Beach real estate man, the charge that Berman cashed his (Barnes's) check for $10,000 in 1927 but never delivered the Julian stock that Barnes believed would be transferred to him within fifteen days. This week, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. McCartney, other witnesses will tell the judge how Berman issued fake Julian stock, using names that he picked at random from the telephone book.

In view of the fact that Berman has waived trial by jury, it is believed that the case will be well advanced before the end of the week and that Judge Schauer may arrive at a verdict early next week.

SIMON BODY HUNT TO BE ABANDONED

Coast Guard Unable to Locate Drowning Victim; Oil Offices Closed Today

Beyond the search already conducted without success, no further effort will be made to find the body of Marshall R. Simon, director and sales-manager of the United States Refining Company, who was drowned in Los Angeles Harbor Friday night when he fell overboard from his forty-foot cruiser, officials of the Coast Guard announced yesterday. The victim's widow, they stated, has consented to abandonment of the vigil maintained, agreeing there is small chance of locating the body.

Simon lost his life while cruising in the harbor with Clarence Gilmore of Stockton, a friend. Leaving the latter in charge of the wheel, he went forward to close a hatch and in doing so slipped and fell into the water. He shouted instructions to Gilmore to shut off the motors, but sank before this was done, Gilmore being unfamiliar with the craft.

Coast Guard boats searched the vicinity of the drowning for several hours Saturday, but failed to sight the body.

Simon was 31 years of age and lived at 1217 East Maple street, Glendale, where he leaves his widow and two children. Out of respect to his memory, offices of the United States Refining Company, Seventh and Main streets, will be closed today.

Dundee Drive Plan Adopted

The City Council has adopted the final ordinance for the improvement of Dundee Drive from Commonwealth avenue to a point 2217 feet north, the improvement of streets in the La Cienega Boulevard and Adams street district, for the improvement of San Marco Drive from Holly Drive south, the improvement of streets in the Yorkshire Drive and Parrish avenue district and for the improvement of Walgrove avenue between Dewey street and Venice Boulevard.

ASSESSMENT MAP REFERRED

The City Engineer has submitted the assessment district map for the improvement of streets in the First-street and Croft avenue district. It was referred to the Public Works Committee.

HEAT RECORD SET FOR YEAR

Mercury Soars to 93 on Sabbath and Indications Point to More Sweltering Weather Today

Yesterday was the hottest day of the year, by a good many sunburns, wilted collars and "phews!"

The city awoke at 5 a.m. to a temperature of 67 deg. and before the coffee had finished the first "perk" everybody realized it was going to be "quite warm."

With annoying persistence the mercury continued upward and at 1 p.m. registered 93, the maximum for the day, with a 42 per cent humidity—which is considerable humidity for these parts. After hovering around this point for a few hours, however, the fickle quicksilver receded—slowly, of course, but consistently—and at 5 p.m. touched the slightly less stifling point of 89.

Yes, Weather Bureau officials came right out and admitted it was the hottest day of the year. And yet—remarkable as it seems—not a single case of heat prostration was reported by either police or hospitals.

This happy freedom from casualties may have been aided by the wholesale exodus to the beaches, for reports from the various resorts along the shore stated they had the largest crowds on record. Right after the sun came up parking-space the entire length of the Roosevelt Highway was at a premium; and traffic officers had their hands full keeping the incoming motor caravan moving.

Before noon beach umbrellas and pup-tents by the thousands had been erected on the sands; and in many spots "standing - room only" was available to late comers. Lifeguards remained on the alert, prepared for an exceptionally exciting day because of the congestion in the ocean itself, but were called on to effect comparatively few rescues.

The blistering heat failed to curb appetites. Concessionaires along the western front reported an unprecedented sale of "weenies" and hamburgers and thirst-quenching soda pop and . . .

But, to get back to the weather man's statistics: The mean average temperature for the day was 80, which is 10 deg. above normal. The highest temperature recorded on the corresponding day last year was 80, and the hottest July day in the history of the local Weather Bureau recorded 109 deg.

A high-pressure area over Montana is to blame for the hot wave, according to the bureau officials. It is pushing heated desert air in this direction and acting at the same time as a barrier to the customary breezes from the sea. Moreover, it probably will continue to do so today and tomorrow, the weather man says with an inflection of regret.

GAS WAR'S RUMBLES DIE AWAY

Only Few Stations Here Selling Auto Fuel Below Standard Rate

The last rumbles of the Pacific Coast gasoline price war were dying away in Los Angeles yesterday when only a few service stations were to be found retailing the product at less than the standard 19½-cent price. And even these cut-rate stations, selling gasoline from pumps bearing "no-brand" signs, quoted the fuel at only a few cents below the general price.

The announced policy of the Standard Oil Company of refusing supplies to cut-rate dealers, which has been indorsed by most of the other major refining companies, yesterday had an apparently marked effect on stations where the practice has been to shade prices.

Other Pacific Coast cities yesterday reported almost complete restoration of the pregasoline-war prices, with only a few stragglers. One section of San Francisco, where price-cutting had raged with particular intensity, last night was reported to be completely given over to the higher price.

Hospital Bills of Trees Paid

Bills by the Davey Tree Surgery Company for $825.50 for tree repair work at Pershing Square, $311.88 for Echo Park and $1662.90 for Sycamore Grove, totaling $2800.28, have been ordered paid by the Park Board by a 4-to-1 vote, President Griffith dissenting.

The company some months ago was awarded the job for tree surgery, amounting to $17,500, without bids after approval had been obtained from the City Council.

POST MEETS THURSDAY

Los Angeles Post, No. 8, American Legion, will meet Thursday evening in Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. D. C. Claflin, director, American Legion service bureau, will discuss the new veterans' legislation, following which delegates to the State convention will be elected.

ELSIE JANIS'S DEVOTED MOTHER DIES OF ILLNESS

Mrs. Josephine C. Janis

Death came yesterday to Mrs. Josephine C. Janis, mother of Elsie Janis, and so ended what had come to be regarded, even outside the narrow bounds of the theatrical world, as an idyl of devotion between mother and daughter. The mother of the famous actress succumbed at the Good Samaritan Hospital to complications following an attack of pneumonia. She lived at 614 Bedford Drive, Beverly Hills.

Born slightly more than sixty years ago in Center Village, O., as Josephine Cotrell she married John E. Bierbower when she was quite young, and she was still virtually a girl when the daughter who was destined to become so famous was born to her. From then until her last illness she devoted her life to the interests of her daughter with a singleness of purpose which was regarded as extraordinary. She also changed her name to the professional name of her daughter.

Her daughter was only 4 years of age in 1897 when she met Edmund Breese, then a popular young leading man, and he was so struck by the remarkable talent of the child that he took her to the attention of James Neill, who was then conducting a stock company in Columbus, O.

Breese is now a resident of Beverly Hills and he recalled yesterday that the first professional appearance of Elsie Janis was in 1898

GARVEY AIRPORT HANGAR BURNED

Four Planes and Equipment Also Destroyed

Monterey Park Field's Loss Set at $10,000

Aviatrix's Craft Ruined by Mysterious Fire

The main hangar of the Garvey Airport on Garvey avenue, east of Monterey Park, was burned to the ground early yesterday, and four airplanes and a quantity of valuable accessories and equipment were dedestroyed. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

The planes burned included a Travelair owned by Juanita Burns, who is an entry in the coming woman's Los Angeles-to-Chicago air derby. It was not, however, the plane which she will fly in the race. A Waco biplane, owned by Kurt H. Schober, who operates the airport, and two Wacos belonging to the Garvey Flying Club also were destroyed, together with four airplane motors and other material owned by Schober.

ORIGIN UNDETERMINED

The origin of the blaze is a mystery. It was discovered at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night by Sherman Beech, who conducts an auto wrecking yard across the street. The fire was in the rear of the hangar and already was burning fiercely. Fire calls were sent to neighboring cities, but as the airport is located in county territory, it was impossible to obtain aid excepting a small apparatus from the county fire warden's department.

Volunteer fire fighters saved the adjoining hangars by forming a bucket brigade and carrying water from a small hydrant near by, the only source available.

So terrific was the heat that it was impossible to save any of the planes in the main hangar, which, within an hour, was a mass of smouldering ruins. The intense heat melted solid aluminum castings on the motors. Not more than $100 worth of salvage will be obtained, Schober said.

"NECKERS" ON FIELD

Beech, who discovered the blaze, declared that a short time previously he had ordered the occupants of two cars, whom he termed "necking parties," off the field. It is thought that possibly a cigarette might have been dropped at the rear of the hangar, starting the fire. Schober stated that when he locked the hangar at 8 o'clock and left the field everything was in perfect order.

Schober will rebuild at once and continue to operate the airport. The six other hangars on the field and the planes stored in them were undamaged.

More Shifts in Courts Dictated by Vacations

Departure of additional Municipal Court judges on vacation leave necessitates the closing of another civil division temporarily, according to an order issued by Presiding Judge Ambrose. The order is effective today.

The court which will be closed is Division Sixteen, in which Judge Baird has been sitting. Judges Russill, Egan, Wood and Baird are starting their vacations today and Judges Sheldop and Stafford are returning, each to his regular court, Judge Sheldon to Division Seventeen, misdemeanor jury court, and Judge Stafford to Division Five, misdemeanor trial court without jury.

Justice of the Peace Carrell of Gardena is assigned to Division 2, felony preliminary court, while Judge Russill is absent.

PHONE LINE TO EXPAND

Two chief cities of Lithuania, Memel, a seaport, and Kovno, the temporary capital, will be accessible to the United States by telephone when a new extension is made to trans-Atlantic telephone service on Wednesday, according to M. L. Stannard, division manager of the Southern California Telephone Company.

AIR DERBY WILL START HERE

Los Angeles Airport Selected for Chicago Race in Late August or Early September

Los Angeles Airport has been selected as the starting point for the annual nonstop air derby this year, with the finish line at the 1930 National Air Show at Chicago some time between August 23 and September 3, it is announced by City Airport Director Barnitz.

The exact date of departure from Los Angeles will depend upon weather conditions and upon the program arrangements yet to be worked out in Chicago.

A purse of $12,000 has been posted for the event this year, twice the prize money offered last year. The first-place winner will receive $7500, and $4500 will go to the second-place flyer. The nonstop race is considered the climax event of the national derbies each year and usually attracts the competition of veteran pilots. Only men are allowed to enter.

Rules for the race specify that the planes shall hop off from the Los Angeles Airport at such a time as will schedule their arrival in Chicago between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. The pilots will be timed out of the Los Angeles port by officials of the National Aeronautical Association.

The nonstop derby last year was from the Metropolitan Airport, Glendale, to Cleveland. Entries for the race this year are still open, and the names of prospective competing pilots have not been announced. Details of grooming the ships for the race and officially checking them out are being handled in co-operation with the municipal airport administration.

Women are barred from the race in accordance with the fixed rule of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, which governs aeronautical competitions throughout the world.

BUDGET FUND ASKED

City Controller Myers has asked the City Council to appropriate an additional $425 for printing the budget, pointing out that, due to the revision by the Council of this document, changes in the type were required upon practically every page. The Council referred the matter to its Finance Committee.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THIS gasoline war has phases that every one doesn't know about.

For instance, experts figure that it costs the jobs of two men in every refinery every time gasoline drops 1 cent in price.

NO SELF-DISCIPLINE

The struggle is going on all through American industry of the little man against the big, and there are also two sides to that.

Out of human sympathy, I always start in trading with the little man on the corner store, and I always end by going to the biggest one I can find.

The little corner store near here says that it opens at 8 o'clock. This morning it was still locked at 8:30 o'clock. The estimable proprietor had probably been to a party. Some day that store will pass into the hands of a big chain of stores and it will open at 7 o'clock, and the first time it doesn't open on time there will be a new manager.

JUST STEPPED OUT

In the last two days I have stopped at two little gasoline stations. In one case, the owner had "just stepped out," leaving the station in charge of the man who sells hot dogs next door. In the other case, the man who had just stepped out had left his father in charge. The latter didn't know where the gasoline tank was located; could not read the oil gauge and didn't know how to test the air in the tires.

HERE IS A BOOK

I have found a book so good that I just read a little of it at a time; I want to make it last as long as possible. . . . "The Great Meadow," by Edith Maddox Roberts. I wish it ran along through eighty-two volumes.

It is a story of the early days of the river settlements of Kentucky. It flows along like a sweet limpid stream. I hypnotize myself into thinking I lived then—when there were no jocular radio announcers, movie stories about gangsters, traffic signals, Hollywood divorce suits or speech-making Senators.

We have lost much in losing the primitive out of American life.

DISCOURAGING

My friend Abe Roth has had a thoroughly discouraging experience. Having been bumped many times in the traffic by drivers who always got away, Abe had, at last, a chance for vengeance. Waiting for the traffic signal to turn late on a recent night, he was crashed into from behind with terrific force. Here was a man upon whom he had the goods.

Abe leaped out with blood in his eye to find a boy almost in tears. "It was all my fault; I am awfully sorry," he said.

"What's the matter with you? Can't you drive?"

"I work all day and then I go to night school," faltered the boy. "I was so tired I went to sleep at the wheel."

"Have you any insurance?"

"No, sir; I haven't money enough to get insurance," said the boy, looking sadly at the wreck of his radiator.

I leave you to imagine who paid the repairs for the boy's guilty car.

LET THE I'S HAVE IT

It would be grand if some of our talkie stars would discover that the name of this State is not pronounced as though it were spelled "Californya."

BANDITS SHOW ECCENTRICITIES

One Refuses Jewelry and Another Declines Cash

Victim Told Via Telephone Where to Look for Car

Only Four Hold-ups for Week-End Reported

Perhaps it was due to the warm spell, or, what ever the underlying reason, it was noticeable that only four hold-ups were reported to the police this week end. In each instance the bandits displayed unusual eccentricities.

J. M. Scott of 4332 Garthwaite avenue, and Clarence Barber of 1500 West Fifty-ninth street, had just finished a game of miniature golf at Pico street and Vermont avenue when they met a bandit waiting for them in the rear seat of Scott's parked automobile.

"Sit right down, brothers," said the bandit quietly, "and consider yourselves held up." He leveled a revolver at the pair.

"HOLE-IN-ONE" THREAT

"Hand over your cash and keep quiet," he continued in a conversational tone, "or I'll play a game of that golf myself and might be forced to make a hole in one—of you." The bandit laughed aloud at his pun while he pocketed $40 from Scott and $20 from Barber. They offered him several pieces of valuable jewelry but he refused these trinkets.

"But," he concluded, "I'll just borrow your car, and, by the way, just consider this money I took a loan. I'll return it some day." As he slipped into the driver's seat and started to drive away he gave Scott a $1 bill with the suggestion that he buy himself and friend a cup of coffee. And then, as a conclusive whim, the bandit telephoned Scott at his home later and told him he would find his car at Twelfth and Burlington avenue. He did.

ANOTHER ODD CASE

C. M. Regan was the victim, or near victim, of a second peculiar bandit in his cafe at 4408 York Boulevard. Looking down the barrel of a revolver Regan opened his cash register at the bandit's command. It contained only a $5 bill.

"Is that all you've got?" queried the bandit. Regan nodded. "Well," continued the bandit, "I'll let you keep it." And he backed out of the cafe, stepped into a car and drove away.

"Keep your money," said a third bandit to A. Lombardi of 157 South Avenue 21 and Miss Rose Klarchuck, after he held them up in front of the latter's home at 957 Marietta street and forced them to drive to Sixth and St. Louis streets, "all I want is your car for a little trip to Long Beach." And that was all he took, the victims reported.

In the fourth hold-up it was a question as to who acted in the most unusual manner, the two bandits or the victim, L. Ramas of 3425½ South Walton street. At least, Ramas was fortunate. He said he was held up by the pair at Thirty-fifth and Catalina streets and robbed of $87. All were on foot.

After the robbery the bandits told Ramas to "head the other way and not look back." But Ramas, unlike the usual victim, waited a moment and then started running after the bandits. The latter turned and fired two shots at him before they disappeared in a dark alley. Ramas said he heard the bullets whistle by.

LUNCHEON CLOSES DRIVE

Superior Judge Hollzer, Dr. S. M. Alter and Marco H. Hellman will be outstanding figures at a luncheon to be given Tuesday noon at the Elite Cafe as the closing event in the Emergency Building fund campaign of the Hebrew Sheltering Home for the Aged to obtain $155,000. Invitations have been sent out to a selected list of approximately 200 representative men and women.

JAIL ASPIRANTS NEAR DREAMS' FULFILLMENT

Determined to go to jail, Miss Hazel Herigoyne, 19 years of age, and G. T. Bailey, 25, were announced yesterday to be near the realization of their ambitions. However, Miss Herigoyne, arrested last week, merely wanted to go to County Jail, it is said, whereas she is now in danger of going to San Quentin, where discipline is severe.

Last week, following arrest at 704 South Hill street, where she was employed as a sales girl, Miss Herigoyne is asserted to have admitted forging four checks for small amounts. She is quoted as adding she had lived alongside the County Jail and had cherished a desire to be "on the inside looking out," as a novel experience.

Judge Ballard has now ordered her held for trial in Superior Court, where if she pleads guilty she may be sentenced to San Quentin, it is explained. Meantime, she is in the care of a married sister on court order.

G. T. Bailey, the other persistent applicant for jail tenancy, originally cashed a valueless check for $23.50, threw away $6 of it and surrendered at Central Station. When Judge Ambrose declined to send him to jail Bailey is asserted to have declared he would hold up a bank. He is now in General Hospital for observation.

LOST YOUTH BELIEVED TO BE RESCUED

Mother Thinks Boy Who Strayed on Mt. Whitney Found Settlement

Hope that Howard Lamel, 18 years of age, who became lost on Mt. Whitney more than a week ago, may have picked up the course of the Kern River on the western slope of the mountain and followed it to a remote settlement, was expressed by his mother, Mrs. Edward Lamel, 1125 South Mansfield, last night. She received a telephone call from her husband, who has been leading a search since the boy was lost, informing her that combing of the region in which the boy disappeared had been abandoned, but that further efforts will be directed toward the Kern River Valley.

The boy, with his father, a civil engineer, and a chum undertook to climb Mt. Whitney on the 5th inst. Howard became separated from his companions and after several hours a search was started for him. Forest rangers have been enlisted in the hunt. Mrs. Lamel asserts her son was well versed in woodcraft and pathfinding and she retains confidence that he will find his way to some settlement.

PLANS FLIGHT FROM BORDER TO BORDER

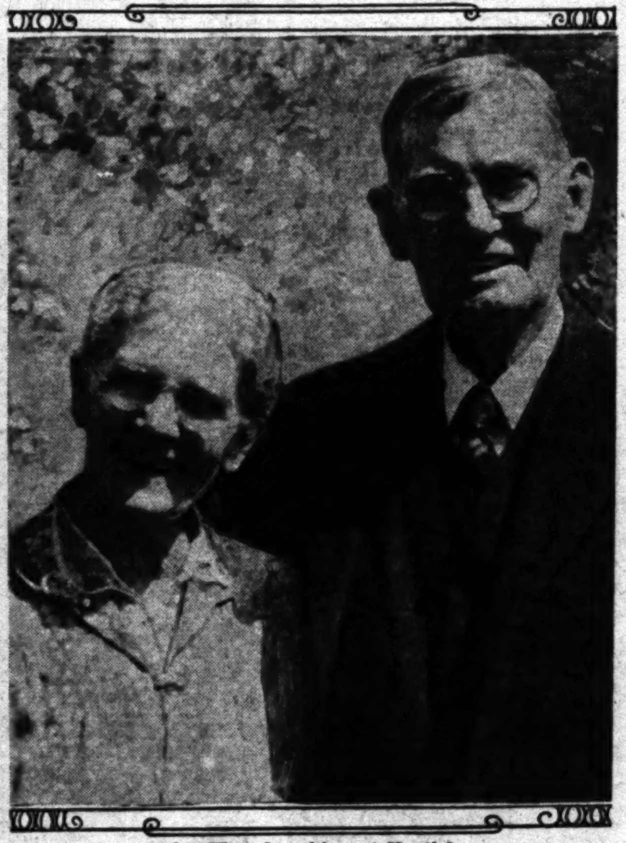
SAN DIEGO, July 13. (AP)—Ruth Alexander, woman flyer who recently broke the altitude record for women here, announced today that she intends to make a border-to-border nonstop flight within the next three weeks. The course will be from Agua Caliente to Vancouver, B. C., and return, to be made in two dawn-to-dusk flights. The distance each way is about 1400 miles. It will be the first round-trip flight for the course and the first for a woman flyer either way. Miss Alexander plans to do it in two successive days, spending the night in Vancouver.

BODY INDICATES SUICIDE

His throat slashed with a safety razor blade, the body of an unidentified Mexican, of about 43 years of age, was found behind a billboard at Macy and Avilla streets yesterday afternoon. No notes or marks of identification were found. The razor blade was discovered in the man's right hand, indicating suicide, according to police.

TWINS ABOUT AS OLD AS IOWA

Nearing Eighty-second Milestone



Are They Laughing at Youth?
Mrs. Martha J. Dorman and Thomas J. Knox.

A LOT of water has gone over the wheel since July 23, 1848, when Thomas J. Knox, 5200 Elizabeth street, Bell, and his twin sister, Mrs. Martha J. Dorman, 642 Illinois street, Pomona, were born, at Sigourney, Iowa, two years after the State's admission. But "Uncle Jeff" and "Aunt Mattie" still are looking upstream, counting many years ahead of them. On the 23rd inst. they will celebrate their eighty-second birthday anniversary. So far as they know they are the oldest living American twins.

Mrs. Dorman has six children, twelve grand-children and eight great-grandchildren, holding the record over her brother, who has two children and two grandchildren; but the latter already are renowned in music. He is the grandfather of Edith Knox, the piano student who has won $13,000 worth of tuitions, and of John Knox, (one of "Uncle John's" prodigies.)

The elderly twins have five living brothers and sisters, the youngest of whom is 71. They are John L. Knox, also of Bell, 78; Mary Duval, 76, Ventura; Alice White and Addie Kracht, of Iowa, also twins, 73, and Lou Stockon, Kansas City, 71.

"Uncle Jeff" has for the past seventeen years slept sitting up; not because of any difficulty, but because he prefers to. He believes it has added to his lifetime. He has been a resident of Southern California since he was 25.

Both the twins are in robust health, but Mrs. Dorman only recently has recovered from injuries received when she and her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Woehr, of Pomona, were run over by a speeding automobile.

ELSIE JANIS'S MOTHER DIES

in a child part in the Neill company's production of "The Charity Ball." Breese, who has ever since been perhaps the closest friend of Mrs. Janis and her daughter said that Neill is also a resident of Southern California today, living at present in Glendale.

From the day of her debut the career of Elsie Janis proceeded under the guiding hand of her mother. Although Mrs. Janis never appeared on the stage, Elsie Janis has both said and written on more than one occasion that her success was due to the training and encouragement she received from her mother.

The pair were inseparable, except when Elsie actually was on the stage—and then her mother was always back stage. In the professional travels of Miss Janis, which took her to most of the English-speaking sections of the world and all over the continent of Europe, her mother was always with her. Even when Elsie went almost to the front lines during the World War to entertain the soldiers, winning the title of "adopted daughter of the A.E.F.," her mother was always right beside her.

On more than one occasion, too, Miss Janis has explained that one of the reasons why she never married was that it would entail separation from her mother.

Mrs. Janis had another child, a son named Percy who was four years younger than Elsie, but he died about twenty years ago. Her husband, who was descended from a family which came to America in 1747, died last year. Besides her daughter she leaves only a sister, who lives in Columbus.

The funeral of Mrs. Janis will be conducted by Gates, Crane and Earl, 1724 North Highland avenue, but details will not be announced until this afternoon.

Aviatrix Wins Gasoline Suit After Appeal

Florence Lowe Barnes, San Marino aviatrix, can tell gasoline by the smell, she testified in Superior Judge Sproul's court at the hearing of a suit for $80 appealed from the San Gabriel Justice Court.

Dunkin & Mills, gasoline dealers, sued Mrs. Barnes, asserting they had delivered her a superior grade of gasoline. The aviatrix contended it was just ordinary flivver gasoline and refused to pay the advanced price. The San Gabriel justice's opinion that Mrs. Barnes should pay for the gasoline was reversed by Judge Sproul.

Pasadena Boys' Catalina Camp Quarantined

Discovery of a case of infantile paralysis among the boys in the camp of the Pasadena Young Men's Christian Association on the isthmus at Catalina Island has resulted in the camp being placed under quarantine by the County Health Department. The boy found to have the disease is David Freeman, 10-year-old son of Rev. Robert Freeman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena.

The boy was removed from the camp by private boat Thursday and taken to his home. It was reported yesterday that his condition has improved. No other cases have been reported.

Dr. George Parrish, City Health Officer, yesterday declared parents should not be afraid to send their children to summer camps. "There is very much less danger of infection in a well-regulated camp," Dr. Parrish said, "than when the child is home. If children were really at home it would be all right, but the trouble is that they are running about the streets and everywhere, while in a camp they are restricted and live under carefully guarded sanitary conditions."

SPANISH GRANT FILINGS FUTILE

General Land Office Official Cites Federal Policy

Applications Meet Rejection Here and at Capital

Visitor Engaged in Annual Bureau Survey

Applications for filings on government patented land, given under a Spanish grant, are consistently being rejected by the local Land Office and the General Land Office at Washington, it was stated by Thomas C. Havell, assistant commissioner of the General Land Office, who is here on an annual survey of the Land Bureau.

This stand, he stated, is being upheld by the Department of the Interior. The department has refused to allow filings on numerous large ranchos in Southern California, including Lomas d' Santiago rancho in Orange county, Palos Verdes rancho, Los Angeles county, and El Mission San Fernando rancho, Los Angeles county.

The commissioner, in consulting with B. B. Smith, Register of the local United States Land Office, went over the general situation with regard to government land in Southern California. He stated there is an increased interest in filing on government land, especially relating to mining properties.

Ruling Sought on Water Issue

An appeal to City Attorney Werner for an opinion on the rights of the Playground Department in Camp Radford has been made by the Playground and Recreation Department following a protest by Richard L. North, owner of property a mile and one-quarter below the camp, that the latter has reduced his water supply and should therefore deliver it to him through a three-quarter-inch pipe from the camp reservoir.

According to Supt. Hoyt, an appeal has been made by North to the Federal Department of Agriculture, through Forest Supervisor Elliott, and that Elliott advises that a court order has been issued granting certain water rights to Mathew Lewis, original owner of the property now held by North.

PLANS LAID FOR HORSE SHOW

Beverly Hills to Have Two-Day Event

Mrs. Carl H. Beal

BEVERLY HILLS is to enliven the midsummer season with a horse show next Friday and Saturday. Girls and women of prominence in west side social affairs will appear in the arena, exhibiting their own mounts. The riding of these fair exhibitors will feature the classes for hunters, jumpers and three and five-gaited horses.

Behind the show is a plan by committees of citizens to encourage the development of the bridle paths around the metropolitan area, where it is estimated that 25,000 men and women, girls and boys, now ride at every opportunity. Net proceeds are to go to the Metropolitan Bridle Path Association for maintenance of existing paths and building new ones.

There are to be four performances, matinee and evening, at Beverly and Robertson boulevards. The Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the show.

PARACHUTE LEAP POSTPONED

Plans for a parachute jump this week-end in which Bert White, veteran parachutist, hoped to beat his own unofficial record of 25,000 feet, failed to materialize at Grand Central Air Terminal. No announcement was made by the jumper as to the postponement.

EASIER ASSESSMENT COLLECTING PROPOSED

W. E. Lauer, street-lighting engineer, has submitted to the City Council, with the approval of the Board of Public Works, the outline of a proposed State act which will permit the collection of assessments for street-lighting purposes, along with taxes, thus simplifying a condition which requires his office to handle 600 separate collections. The Council referred the matter to its Legislative Committee.

For 57 years we have been planning and producing direct advertising for scores of successful concerns. Every one of our clients has presented a different problem; each job has been something new; every day has taught us more about our clients' business and our own. ONE-UNION IDEA BEING PUSHED

Disgruntled Radicals Back Agitation at Studios

Local Union Leaders Greedy for More Power

Some Film Producers Alive to New Development

Local union leaders who long have looked wistfully at the great power and advantage enjoyed by eastern union officials because of the workers they control in Hollywood studio unions have found a new ally in a certain small class of unemployed actors, according to observers of things union in the local motion-picture industry.

Ambitious union leaders in the local field have for a long time been struggling to gain more control of the local workers. It would mean money and position to them. But it means the same thing to the eastern officials of the international unions. They had it first by virtue of their positions and they are loath to relinquish it.

DISCONTENTED "PINKS"

Comes now on the stage to play his part, the unemployed union actor of radical or at least "pink" tendencies. He is one of the many union stage actors from outside of California whom the sound waves washed up in Hollywood. He failed to connect and there is nothing much to consume his energies.

This actor's ultra-inclined intelligence and temperament long have played a little with more or less radical theories. His unemployment fomented his discontent, especially against those who might have employed him. His craving to play to the crowd urged him to assume leadership. So he throws himself heart and soul, for the nonce at least, into the cause of unionism in the studios. His own union was defeated last year when Actors' Equity Association retreated from the motion-picture field. It is the same "enemy" he fights now with the craftsmen unions.

This, it appears, is something of the psychology back of the actors who are doing much radical and union talking and acting in Hollywood union circles at this time. They are to be found in some places posing as virtual Moseses to lead the craftsmen from a working world to a Utopia. They are particularly advocating the "one big union" idea, which is the old dream of the once-thriving I.W.W.

"SELL OUT" CHARGED

It so happened also that some of the union leaders in the local field who have ambitions to rise to positions of power and control are the ones who first promulgated the "one big union" idea in the Hollywood studio field. So now they and their actor friends of the kind just described are marching shoulder to shoulder. And some of the craftsmen are listening to them. Some of the leaders in the movement, always as ever with the slogan of more money and better working conditions, are even charging that some eastern officials of their unions have "sold out" to the motion-picture producers because they will not authorize some of the radical proposals that have been evolved locally.

Producers who have not yet recognized this new combination of "brains and brawn" and the character of the single-union idea are the same producers who did not see the studio union yoke being slipped around their necks a few years ago. They are now as then more busily engaged in turning out pictures for the immediate box office of the present than they are with the ultimate future of the industry, and even the near future at that. Then they were all but floundering in desperate competition for bare survival. Now they are desperately trying to find the light in the situation created by the advent of sound pictures.

However, this new combination of discontented actors and ambitious union leaders has attracted the attention of at least some in the producers' ranks and they are giving it serious consideration.

Tarzan of Apes Solves Mystery of Lost Empire

Tarzan stood with folded arms, grimly waiting for he knew not what. Slaves dragged away the bodies of the slain, scattered new sand in the arena and raked it.

Tarzan had penetrated the mystery of the Lost Empire, where the hills rise out of a huge void, and the great plateau ceases as if nothing existed beyond. He had conquered one of the most famous Roman gladiators. Now he stood before the Emperor Sublatus, his fate in the Emperor's hands . . . a great, black-maned lion suddenly appears at the far end of the arena . . . a mighty roar goes up from the throng. . . .

The new and fascinating picture story of thrilling adventure in which the foregoing is but one episode is "Tarzan and the Lost Empire," written by Edgar Rice Burroughs and illustrated by Rex Mason, which will run serially in The Times beginning this morning, following the completion Saturday of "Tarzan and the Jewels of Opar."

ALL SETTLED

Now that the arrival is to be called Charles Augustus, Jr., the kid should be permitted to take a nap.

QUESTION OF PAY

King Carol receives a salary of $20,000 per month. The paragraphers who have been dubbing him "the musical comedy ruler," now should promote Rumania's monarch into the movie class.

SPORTING CENTER

Father Alexius Mallon says he has found the ruins of Sodom and Gomorrah in the country north of the Dead Sea. Some of these American capitalists are liable to butt in and grab the sites for a winter resort.

PREDATORY POWER

Former Police Commissioner Russell of Chicago blames prohibition for crime conditions. But every policeman, everywhere, knows that crooked politicians and weak policemen, and not the law, are responsible for lack of enforcement.

CUTTING OUT THE SIDE SHOWS

Judge Shaughnessy, the only jurist in Milwaukee hearing major criminal cases, disposed of 1800 last year. His remedy for the "law's delays" is the barring of clashes between counsel that attain ludicrous heights, "foolish digression and abusive epithet so familiar to many criminal courts." What a break for the taxpayer!

THE BIG CITY

New York does not reach the 7,000,000 mark in the census, but comes mighty near it. The correct figures are 6,958,792. However, the population of what is known as the metropolitan district, which includes most of the territory within forty miles of Tammany Hall, exceeds 11,000,000. It makes it the greatest community on earth.

BEFORE CLEOPATRA

There is further proof that the Egyptian dames in the days of the Pharaohs knew as much about beautifying themselves as do the women of today. They had their beauty parlors and their scented baths. Recent delving brought to light some of the archives and equipment of a select beauty shop which was run by Ahmenhotep, who seems to have made a specialty of dolling up the court ladies some 4800 years ago. They had paints, oils, perfumes, essences and unguents that have never been rivaled since. The beautifying of a woman was almost a rite with the cosmetician of that time and when the job was finished it stayed for some days. By skimming through history it is found that the ladies have been shining themselves up ever since Eve bought her first lipstick. It is the oldest of human arts.

AN ADMIRABLE EDITION

In a 232-page de luxe edition of his Byron Times, that veteran country journalist, Harry Hammond, has produced a number of his newspaper that sets a high mark for his California contemporaries. The edition is printed on such finely finished paper as is used by the most elaborately published magazines. It sets forth with a wealth of half-tone illustrations and admirably arranged text the beauties and opportunities of the region about Mt. Diablo, including the rich and famous Delta district, in a manner most alluring to the home-seeker and prospective factory owner.

Naturally, Byron, which Mr. Hammond designates as "the child of the Delta," comes in for foremost publicity in the proud edition of the Times, but due attention and meed of praise are given to Stockton, Martinez, Antioch, Tracy, Pittsburg, Livermore and other thriving centers of commerce and industry. The agricultural wealth and potentialities of the rural districts by which these towns are surrounded are stressed in highly appreciative language. One reads that there are 50,000 acres of Delta lands devoted to asparagus and that the crop has a value of about $20,000,000 annually. One does not wonder that the editor headlines his article on the subject "King Asparagus Resplendent on Delta Throne."

It is safe to say that the edition is without a peer in the field of rural journalism on this Coast.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION

One of the most difficult tasks the President has yet had before him is the appointment of the new Tariff Commission of six members to administer the flexible provisions of the 1930 Tariff Act. The act requires that the commissioners shall be named within ninety days. Members of the present commission may be reappointed, but there will be no surprise in Washington if an entirely new body is named. It is likely enough there will be difficulties with the Senate over confirmation. The President will naturally want a body of experts; the Senate, or at least the noisy portion of it, will want politicians and preferably "lame ducks." No more than half the commission may be of any one political party.

The new commission will have a job different from that required of the commission operating under the Fordney-McCumber Act. The present commission was specifically directed to "ascertain the differences in cost of production here and abroad" as a basis for recommendation; technical obstacles made this almost impossible, with any degree of accuracy. The new commission is authorized to consider and weigh other factors that enter into competition, including government subsidies, transportation costs and the like, all of which will aid it in reaching decisions.

According to Dr. Julius Klein of the Foreign Commerce Bureau of the Commerce Department, who doubtless knows the President's mind on the subject, President Hoover desires to make the Tariff Commission "a permanent scientific body working continuously and exclusively on this subject in somewhat the way the Interstate Commerce Commission works at our railway rate structure." If he succeeds in this attempt he will have accomplished more toward taking the tariff out of politics than any Chief Executive in the nation's history. Dr. Klein believes the time is ripe for such an effort and that the country is tired of seeing "tariff tinkering" made a partisan football and a log-rolling contest.

The comparison with the Interstate Commerce Commission is an apt one. Everyone who has reached middle life is able to remember when railroad rates, when changed at all, were changed by legislative action. The attempts of legislatures to regulate rates, especially passenger fares, were frequent and the last of the "2-cent-fare" bills did not disappear from the statute books until war-time. No one of the present generation considers that railway rates are any proper subject for legislative action; and it is universally conceded that the State and Interstate commissions do a far better job of taking care of the rate structure than any legislative body could.

The time may come when the whole subject of proper tariff duties will be completely out of Congressional hands and schedules will be raised and lowered wholly by the Tariff Commission, after careful investigation and weighing of the facts. The levying of taxes is constitutionally a legislative function, but legislative functions to some extent can be delegated; and just as Congress, having delegated its railway rate-making powers to the Interstate Commerce Commission, seldom if ever considers the subject nowadays, it may find that it also has shifted the tariff question out of its hands.

The present commission has been criticised for supposed dilatoriness. To some extent this was due to its attempting to work an unworkable statute, and to some extent because of dissensions between members more or less of a personal nature. In a report which he made to the Senate in 1928, Senator Reed, chairman of an investigating committee, declared the belief that the handicaps had been eliminated by personnel changes and by rulings of the Attorney-General as to procedure and that the commission was then ready to function as intended. The new commission has a better law to work with and greater responsibility, and if the President gets the kind of men he wants on it it is likely to work very satisfactorily.

FARMER'S FRIEND

Whatever relief the farmer may secure from other sources, it is certainly not relief from prohibition, says L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange. A recent appeal has been sent to the 800,000 farmers in the Grange to uphold the dry issue, on the ground of its direct benefits to agriculture. They are listening to the appealers, not the repealers.

Increased purchasing power has come to the American working man as a result of dry enforcement. The greater demand for agricultural staples is only one manifestation of it. In 1917 the per capita consumption of milk was forty-two pounds. In 1926 it had risen to fifty-five pounds. Today it is almost sixty pounds. Butter has risen from fifteen to seventeen pounds per person. Cheese consumption has advanced from two and a fraction pounds per capita to more than four. Where the average American ate two gallons of ice cream a year before prohibition, he now uses about three. Butter production rose from 1,667,511,000 pounds in 1918 to 2,069,638,000 pounds in 1928. The wholesale price has also risen a cent a quart in ten years. Prohibition appears to be one of the best forms of farm relief.

The farmer is convinced that prohibition is his friend, not foe. Bread and meat are mighty convincers. With both factory and farm aligned with the drys the wets are hard put for arguments.

There never has been much question of the moral and social value of prohibition. Beginning as a moral issue, it soon swung the various social groups to its side.

Its economic worth was under suspicion for a time. Merchants thought booze stimulated trade. Mechanics felt it necessary to strengthen them for work. Farmers thought it was necessary to market their grain.

The attitude of these groups has wholly changed. A decade of prohibition has shown the fallacy of old theories and the economic value of the Eighteenth Amendment. Farm and factory today are its most ardent advocates.

NEVER THROW STONES

A new apartment-house in Chicago will be seventeen stories high with the outside walls entirely of glass. The tenants of that shack will be careful about heaving rocks.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

WE WHO no longer are modern kids are fond of lamenting the way modern kids are falling away from the high standards of the days when we were modern kids. But we realized how little kids have changed, yesterday, when our twenty-mule-team quartet invited us to the grove of pepper trees across the street to see a circus.

There were "deaf-defying leaps for life," bareback riding, tight-rope walking and soup-erb trained animal acts, in which one gnarled old pepper tree branch served for tight rope, trapeze and dizzy height from which deaf-defying leaps were made and Brownie, our faithful neardale, doubled for lions, tigers and trained seals.

Then all the performers adjourned to our kitchen to get a drink of water and when we went out there shortly afterward the linoleum was crackly with spilled sugar—which, we were reasonably sure, hadn't spurted out of any faucet. But every menagerie fan knows that elephants and other circus animals are fond of sugar.

We berated the youngsters for raiding the sugar bin. It was our duty to do so, and we hope we were very effective. But after we went back to the porch we began to recall other circuses, just like that one, held thirty-odd years ago, and even worse assaults on the sugar bins of those days.

We wouldn't be half so shocked by the sins of modern kids, no matter whether they are 5 years old or 20—in fact, we wouldn't even know what most of them are doing—if it weren't for pretty good memories.

The Irresistible Temptation

After they were banished from the kitchen, the youngsters went out into the yard and got two hoses and had a battle which resulted in the drenching of all of them.

We started for our razor strap, but suddenly remembered that was just what Paul Hutchings and we used to do, day after day, when we were 7 or 8. Besides, it was the first time our youngsters had broken that law—that day.

Willing to Oblige

When they had got into dry clothes they promised faithfully not to play with water any more, and kept their word. There's a big gully not far from our house into which earth excavated for the foundations of the new Ourville school is being dumped and it makes a wonderful slide. The loose earth, sloping sharply down to the bottom of the ravine, has so much softness and give to it that a boy in his best Sunday pants can slide from top to bottom without snagging his trousers more than once or twice.

Again Memory Thwarts Discipline

In spite of that, they were awful looking spectacles when we discovered what they were doing and dragged them home. We surely would have thrashed them soundly if we hadn't recalled the Sunday, long years ago, when we stepped out in the finest lot of clothes we'd ever had. "Now, son," said our father, "we're trying an experiment, your mother and I. You've been very careless with your clothes and you've often felt embarrassed by having to wear patched trousers to Sunday-school. Now we've bought you extra nice clothes, much more expensive than you ever had before, because now you're 13 years old and we think you are old enough to take care of good clothes. If you take good care of these, we'll buy you more nice clothes."

We promised faithfully and meant it, too. But, darn it all, we met Earl Newman and he led us to a high mountain—of freshly graded earth, just like the one down which our kids had been sliding—and offered to bet us $1,000,000 that he could jump farther than we could. We were no pikers in those days, when it came to betting. We accepted, though without actually putting up the money—and when we got home that night our beautiful suit and shirt and shoes looked worse than anything benevolent people ever give to the Goodwill Industries.

BETCHA!
BETCHA!

We were 13 then, and our eldest now is only 10. So all we could do was order them all into the bathtub, with instructions to put on their night clothes when they got out—which meant they couldn't go out of the house again.

The End of a Perfect Day

Of course the telephone rang just after we got them into the tub. And, of course, while we were answering it, they got into a splashing contest and wrecked the bathroom. And, of course, when we got back and surveyed the havoc, we gave them to understand that they were the worst lot of hoodlums we'd ever seen.

But we knew better. We could remember some other boys, about thirty-five years ago, who had been just as full of devilment, if not fuller of it. And even those other boys somehow managed to pull through.

Yes, Southern California boys of today are just about the same sort of rascals that middle western boys were thirty-five years ago. And those of us who think they aren't just haven't good memories.

SEA GOLD

Announcement that the waters of the Pacific hold gold in paying quantities is made on the authority of a mining engineer of national repute and boosters and knockers are both on the beach expressing themselves freely. Some envision another gold rush to our coast and others call it a hoax. A correspondent chides The Times for giving publicity to it. Others are motoring down and looking longingly out at sea.

Anyway, it is interesting to know that bathers on the beaches come out plated with gold, though thinly. While it is true that but 2 cents' worth of the precious metal can be extracted from some ten tons of water; yet the volume of possibilities is intriguing.

We expect no immediate stampede, however. The gold tucked up under the ribs of the mountains and strewn in the sands of the Sacramento and its tributaries made good bait in earlier days for the first trek over the Great Divide and around the Horn. However, the ones who stayed to cultivate and irrigate were the real developers of our resources.

Our general surmise is that more gold will come from sardines and tuna via the packing plants down at San Pedro and Long Beach than can be washed from the waves. And the greatest source of gold from sea water will continue to flow in through our harbor in the ships of the regular channels of trade.

THE ENGINEER'S VACATION

By James J. Montague

I never see a waterfall
  That tumbles over moss and fern,
But that I do not think withal
  How big a motor it will turn.
The cataracts which daily shower
  Their spray on mountain, garden spots,
To me are so much motive power
  Which I reduce to kilowatts.

I hear the surf along the shore,
  I watch the tide that ebbs and flows
And hope within a few years more
  To harness them to dynamos.
I see the thunder storm sweep by,
  Its purple clouds with lightning laced,
And murmur with a bitter sigh,
  "Ah, all that power gone to waste!"

I watch the drifting mists arise
  When summer days are almost done,
And move across the quiet skies
  Until they screen the setting sun,
And always sorrow at the sight
  For what can careless nature mean,
To squander energy which might
  Be harnessed to some great machine?

And when Vesuvius bursts all bounds,
  Decanting down her fiery side
A lava stream whose roar resounds
  For miles across the countryside,
My books of references I seek
  And find the forces that have hurled
A river from that one lone peak
  Would turn the wheels of all the world.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

TRAP SHOTS IN WAR

[Chicago Tribune]

The daily flight of army planes over Chicago, in connection with the show at Soldiers Field, has probably served to distract attention from the notable advances made in antiaircraft weapons since 1918. The airplane is faster, more dependable and more accurate in its bombing than it was in the last war, but the advances in the airplane have been more than balanced by improvements in antiaircraft fire. Officers of the antiaircraft arm assert that they now have fire-control instruments which will make it all but impossible for hostile airplanes to enter a guarded zone, day or night, without being detected and shot down.

The antiaircraft guns and searchlights are amazingly effective against an enemy a thousand feet or more up, but they are not of much value against a low flying plane. The lower the plane flies the more difficult it is to hit because of the rapidly changing angle.

There seems to be room here for the expert trap shooter. The antiaircraft cannon and the machine gun may fail to bring down the low flying plane, but the man accustomed to firing at clay pigeons will find an airplane an easy mark. It goes no faster, it presents a far larger target, and its course is far less erratic than that of the clay pigeon. In the next war every company may have to have one or more trap shots armed with special rifles, perhaps, to bring down the enemy flyers should they venture within range.

CITY GOVERNMENTS

[Detroit Free Press]

The Cleveland Plain Dealer notes that Detroit, too, is having trouble with its city government. About a year ago Cleveland's city manager plan struck a snag. Some of her neighbors were inclined to attribute Cleveland's difficulties to the form of her government. The Plain Dealer observes with justice: "The present troubles of Detroit do not prove that the Mayor and Council system of government is wrong, any more than Cleveland's difficulties should be taken as convincing evidence against the manager plan."

A city can get along under almost any form of government if it puts the right sort of men in charge of it. The important thing is not the machinery of administration but the caliber and character of public officials. The city manager plan is operating successfully in many places in this country; and in other places it has not proved so satisfactory. Conditions differ and demand different treatment. A single truth applies with equal force to all cities: They cannot expect to enjoy good government if they will not take the trouble to elect good men to office. Given satisfactory officials, a city need not worry about the form of government they are chosen to administer.

IS BOSTON METROPOLITAN?

[Worcester Telegram]

The 3-2 vote of Boston's school committee stipulating that hereafter no teachers will be employed who do not dwell within the municipal limits is further evidence of the decline of that once splendid city. It convicts the three committee members who are responsible of a narrowness of view which, in this day and age, would be regrettable in a citizen of Sioux Corners.

THE WASHINGTON WASH

BY STRICKLAND GILLILAN

Washington feels like the rest of the country. It does, only more and less so. In matters pertaining to the legislation going on, it feels far more intensely; and in matters of business and trade it feels far less intensely. We of Washington don't get the perspective. But we are from so many places; we are so cosmopolitanly American, that we can easily check up by running back home or getting a letter or entertaining a guest from home. And the Lord knows that last one is easy—dozens of folks back home are constantly sitting around on their packed suit cases waiting for invitations to run down here and have us arrange with somebody to let them shake hands with Hoover.

We here in Washington have a feeling (nobody has ideas; we are all governed by feelings and don't let anybody kid you out of it) that the rest of the country is on its toes, with its fists and teeth clenched, yammering at the gates, saying, "Let us at those Senators and Congressmen! Let us at the President who has done what we don't like! They are ruining us!" But when one steps out of Washington to witness this roaring, frothing mob devoting its entire attention to Washington and government's doings, one is surprised to see men and boys sitting on plows and harrows and cultivators and reapers, to find women doing their housework and visiting, to find merchants in their stores selling goods and smudge-faced mechanics getting the overalls still dirtier under somebody's car. In short, we find life going on, much as it did in the Coolidge administration and in other so-called prosperous times. But do you recall, at the moment, any time when people stood on the street corners or sat in club lounges raving ecstatically over what good times we were having? I remember (and so can you if you stop and think) bitter-eyed and bitter-voiced people saying, confidentially, to one another, during the last two or three years of Coolidge's administration:

"The papers keep talking about this prosperity we are having, the politicians keep talking about it. But where is it? Huh! Under the surface there is an awful lot of unemployment. Everywhere I go the business men are claiming they are having mighty dull times and that trade is away off!"

That was two and three years ago and previously.

Cal, the canny, is right. The country couldn't turn sour overnight. The acidulation began a good while ago and the ferment blew the lid off just after Calvin the cagy had stood from under. And let me set your mind at rest right now if you have any wonder as to whether the said Calvin the cautious will come again from his sagery. He won't. No, he won't. I bet a nickel that wild horses couldn't have dragged Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego (the biblical asbestos triplets) back into the fiery furnace. They had got through once without a singe and they wouldn't take any more chances. No more would Cal. He wonders now how he did it.

The people of this country are to have, through that syndication, a novel experience—of reading every week day a statement from a former President. I bet a pretty (not to throw any rocks at a fellow-syndicateur, for Cal is good also) it will grow wearisome. The talk is wholesome, all right. But to look forward it looks to me like a long stretch of monotonous wholesomeness. Let us thank God that Abraham Lincoln didn't live long enough to be syndicated. To write 313 Gettysburg addresses a year would have been deadlier to Abe than Wilkes Booth's lethal lead.

Let us take steps to prevent somebody hiring Mr. Coolidge to broadcast in behalf of some domestic article, to lead off for instance in Hamill's Soup or Tweedle-dee Toothpaste hour. That would be making it too much a one-man citizenry. We could—I say we COULD—get too much, even of Mr. Coolidge, whose marvelous popularity began the very instant he told us he wouldn't be a candidate again—don't forget that phase of it.

Government employees are just getting back into motion after the three-day holiday of a week ago. You see, there was so little time between the glorious Fourth and Sunday, that it wouldn't have been worth while to go back and hunt up Thursday's wad of gum under the edge of the desk and begin rechewing it. It would hardly be limbered up in the brief interval between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

One thing government clerks do very well is to holiday. They rehearse holidaying most of the time while on the job, so when the time comes and they are actually given a legal holiday, they do it perfectly. The difference between a holiday and working day is so slight they can't very well tell it. The main thing is, on a real holiday they don't go to the building. Most other days they do.

One of the traditional stories regarding government clerks is that a visitor to Washington watched the great swarm of employees boiling out of a government building's doors, trampling each other to be first to the street, and asked:

"Do all those people work in that building?"

"No, not more than half of them."

They are now practicing up resting from this Fourth vacation and also for Labor Day, the next official loafing interval. That time, they are nicely fixed, for when they take their lipsticks and leave on Saturday afternoon, August 30, they don't show up again till Tuesday, September 2. Government clerks have a wonderful bump of location or, seeing their separate buildings as seldom as they do, they wouldn't be able to recognize them and keep out of the wrong departments.

There is something uneasifying going on in the minds of some of the Senators these pre-campaign days. Yes, in spite of the fact that they are Senators (coalition and Democratic Senators) something is going on in their minds. This was betrayed by Caraway, the comedian who should be with Keith instead of Uncle Sam. The Senator murmured to the effect that the way people talk and the way the White House acts, the impression might get out that Congress is motivated by spite against the President. That let the pussy out of the reticule. A guilty conscience spoke there, boys and girls.

The Old South, ashamed of having become unsolid, is mad at the fellow who dissolved its solidity; certain uncertain Senators who have themselves been embittered through blighted ambitions for the Presidency; politicians who wanted nobody but a politician in the White House; spoilsmen who did not want a government run on its merits—these have been downright peeved and have taken it out on the administration because they saw a lack of guile and thought it meant a lack of intelligence.

Yes, sir! But they were wrong and the public has known so. Misinterpreting the public mind on this, they and their angle-worm satellites who are more spineless than the results of Burbank's efforts with cactus, turned on the President. But had they been trampling around the hinterland with me and observing how enthusiastic was the response to any verbal shot made at Congress for its thwarting of the President, they would have behaved differently. Now they have seen a glimmer of light and are having night sweats. Let 'em sweat!

The Congressional bulls having been at last eliminated from the government china shop, the President is trying to figure out how best to manage with the public funds they left after a saturnalia (one of our most expensive words as well as pastimes) of spending for this and that. The several millions appropriated for public works to keep the unemployment situation in hand, was wise. Much of the rest of it was plain pork-barrel stuff. The pension jag both houses went on nearly ruined the whole works. And it was such a poorly selected time for that sort of binge!

About some Congressmen one thinks as did Mike of the bedbug (whose polite name if you don't know it, is cimex lectularius:)

"I have nawthin' ag'inst th' bedbug, as a bug. But I do object like th' divvle to th' wa-ay he gits 's livin'!"

The worst thing about the naval-pact opposition of Senator High-Ram Johnson of California is that we feel perfectly sure he was ready to oppose it long before he knew what it was going to say. Being against the President, he is against any measure the latter may propose if there is any way to oppose it without hurting himself directly. And maybe there isn't, High-Ram, at least so far as the home State is concerned.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Welding?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A welder can earn from $7 to $15 a day and every industrial plant needs welding, as repair work if for nothing else. Welding is of help to any metal craftsman or auto mechanic and such a man should be able to add welding to his abilities, in from three to nine months.

The Polytechnic Evening High School gives a free course in welding on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, 7 to 9, in Room 129 on the first floor of the main building. The school is located at 400 West Washington Boulevard. Each student gets actual practice with the torch, learning to operate the torch and flow the metal. He is also taught how to fully protect his eyes from the devastating light by the determined and constant wearing of welders' glasses.

People of all ages are welcome. There is no entrance fee, the only cost being the cost of the gas or electricity which each student uses at his practice.

New Slimming Plan in Berlin

Declared to have worked wonders with many who sought more slender figures, a new plan of a famous doctor in Berlin, Germany, is attracting patients from all parts of Europe. At the doctor's home no one ever is allowed to go hungry. He or she may eat cereals, fruit, vegetables, meat and poultry according to appetite. But what is strictly forbidden is the mixture of foods. It must be one thing at a time. Even butter must not go with bread.

Snub to Amy Johnson Probed

Members of the Airways Club in London are investigating the snub given to Amy Johnson, just before her flight to Australia. Lectures are delivered before the club regularly on aviation matters. Some weeks ago it had difficulty in securing a lecturer, and Miss Johnson offered her services, but was politely turned down. As she has become as great an idol in England as Lindbergh in America, the club members are chagrined.

COUPLE PURSUE PISCATORIAL RIVALRY

Film Producer and Actress Land Two More "Big Ones"

Marilyn Mills, J. Charles Davis and Their Catch of Jewfish

Argument in the family of J. Charles Davis, picture producer, and his wife, Marilyn Mills, film actress, as to proficiency in fishing broke out again this week-end when from a fishing boat Davis brought in a jewfish weighing 305 pounds and Mrs. Davis a few minutes later hooked a specimen of the same specie, weighing 225 pounds. It is the second time in five days that the Davis family made large catches.

Monday the two were fishing from a boat off Anacopa Island and their lines became entangled when both had "bites" by a jewfish. Gallantly the crew designated the line of Mrs. Davis as holding the largest fish, which weighed 358 pounds. Davis had to be satisfied with the one weighing 354 pounds.

Small wooden churches are being erected for week-end recreation parties in the woods near Berlin, Germany.

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

June days in Paris are marked by great social activity, and so numerous are the various events on the calendar that it is difficult to arrange one's social schedules to include them all.

The Ambassadeurs is the nightly rendesvous of the Franco-American set. The other evening Mrs. Arthur Payne gave an interesting party, her guests including, among others, the Comte De La Rochefoucauld, Count Furstenberg, the Comte De Gabriac, Princess Kapurthala, Mrs. Benjamin Kilvert, Miss Beth Leary, Mrs. Platt, Franci. Burke Roche, Felix Ferry, Alfredo Bustos and Mrs. Robistone. Oliver Duncan had a small party, among whom were noted Mrs. Wooley Hart, the Comte De Saint-Phalle, Mrs. George Mesker, Mr. and Mrs. Moons and Mrs. Johnson.

Luncheon hour also is popular at the Meurice, where many of the prominent visiting Americans are to be seen. Last week, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius E. Boomer, who recently arrived for a spring visit at the Ritz, were among those present, and also noted were Mrs. Mackay LeRoy, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Briede and Miss Briede and the Prince Di Scalea, high commissioner for Italy to the Paris Colonial Exhibition.

A dinner party was given at the Lido for Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Jones, attended by a number of the visiting golf contingent and local golf enthusiasts. The hosts were Mr. and Mrs. John S. Jackson of New York and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harrison R. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hurt, Thomas B. Paine, Miss Elizabeth Bunce and Robert Hunger. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sumner of Montclair, N. J., who have been motoring along the Dalmatian coast, also had a dinner party of eight.

A reception was given last week in the salons of the Plaza-Athenee by Mrs. LeRoy Hamilton-Shields of Virginia, at which the guests of honor were the young Princesses Elizabeth and Marina of Greece. A musical program was given by Rene Gerbert, baritone.

The Ritz dinner-dance last week was attended by a number of prominent Americans. Among those noted dining were Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. E. J. Kickell, who had as their guests Grand Duke Boris, Miss Maxwell Davies, Lieut. Belmont Maxwell, Albert Stopford, Mrs. A. Holden and Comte Obidos. Others noticed were Col. Creighton Webb, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Baylies, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Boomer, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gordon, Col. Owen Keenan, Mr. and Mrs. Hart McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sachs, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Westmore, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hopton and Mr. and Mrs. John Drexel.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lohman and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Lohman, of Hollywood, arrived on the French liner Lafayette and are at the Hotel Astor in Paris. They will pass three months in Europe, visiting several countries, and will return home by way of Canada in September.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Eisenberg of Santa Barbara have arrived in Paris following a tour of Italy, Spain, Germany and Switzerland. They will sail for home next Saturday on the liner Aquitania.

Mrs. Rose Eckles of San Diego has crossed to Europe aboard the United States liner George Washington for a summer vacation.

L. J. Patrick has been in Wiesbaden, Germany, stopping at the Hotel Rose.

Mrs. Evelyn Hamburger and Mrs. Jennie H. Marx have crossed to Europe aboard the United States liner Leviathan.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Shepard were recent arrivals at Geneva, stopping at the Hotel Metropole.

GAY SEASON ON AT DEL MONTE

Each Day Brings Delightful Events

[J. P. Graham, Del Monte]

Among Guests at Resort
Misses Jane McNaghten, Eleanor Hornby and Nancy Heath.

DEL MONTE and Pebble Beach are now in the midst of another gay season, a continuous round of social and sports events at Hotel del Monte keeping the Monterey Peninsula folk busily occupied these days. Al fresco luncheons in the Indian Village, Del Monte Forest, have been renewed every Tuesday while ping-pong tournaments, bridge-teas, keno, games, swimming meets and similar diversions crowd the Del Monte calendar, and special children's entertainments every day of the week.

The first of the current summer series of tea-dances and fashion revues will take place Thursday, the 24th inst.

Among the attractive members of the younger set who are enjoying the summer activities are Miss Jane McNaghten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McNaghten of Pasadena, Miss Eleanor Hornby of Redlands and Miss Nancy Heath of Piedmont.

Hotel del Monte is already making elaborate preparations for a great Golden Jubilee celebration, August 21-24, the important feature being a "Fifty Year After" dinner-dance, as well as Golden Jubilee golf, tennis swimming, and other sport events each day.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CHOW MEIN

Cover one pound of noodles with two tablespoonfuls of melted shortening, place in a colander, and steam them for thirty minutes, over boiling water. Loosen the noodles with a fork, and fry them until brown in hot shortening. Drain them well, place them on a platter, and keep hot. Place in a saute pan two tablespoonfuls of butter, and beat four eggs and just cover the bottom of the pan with a thin layer of the beaten eggs, being very careful not to burn; as soon as the egg is set, remove from the fire, slip onto a platter, cool slightly, roll and cut in thin threads. Place where they will keep warm and repeat until all four of the eggs have been cooked. Place in a thick iron pan one cupful of raw pork, cut into thin strips, one-half a cupful of onion cut in thin slices, add one tablespoonful or more if liked, of shoyu sauce, stir and cook until the pork is tender. Heat three cupfuls of pork soup, made by cooking the trimmings of the pork, in that amount of water, freeing it from all fat, add one tablespoonful of corn starch, dissolved in a little cold water, and cook for five minutes, add the egg threads and three-fourths of a cupful of the cooked pork. Mound the noodles around a platter, cover with the cooked pork and onion, and pour over the pork gravy. For the chicken chow mein, use two cupfuls of raw chicken cut in threads, and cooked with one tablespoonful of shortening, instead of using the pork and use the chicken stock instead of the pork soup.

STRAWBERRY SOUFFLE

Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter, and cream into it two tablespoonfuls of flour, and work until smooth. Place two cupfuls of milk in the top of a double-boiler, and heat to the scalding point, and add the butter and flour, and stir until thick and smooth. Beat the yolks of three eggs with three tablespoonfuls of sugar, and beat into the hot mixture, remove from the fire, and stir until cool. Add one cupful of sliced strawberries that have been mixed with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs, place in baking dish, and bake in a moderate oven for about fifteen minutes. Serve at once, garnished with strawberries that have been dusted with powdered sugar.

PEAR AND NUT SALAD, WITH COTTAGE CHEESE DRESSING

Place halves of canned pears, two for each service, on a bed of shredded lettuce, sprinkle over them a few drops of lemon juice, and three-fourths of a cupful of chopped walnuts, and serve with the following dressing:

COTTAGE CHEESE DRESSING

Mix two teaspoonfuls of flour with one teaspoonful each of salt, mustard, and paprika, add three tablespoonfuls of milk, and mix to a smooth paste. Then gradually add five tablespoonfuls of hot milk, and stir until smooth, place in a double boiler, and cook until the mixture thickens, cover and let cook slowly for ten minutes. Beat one egg, add to it one tablespoonful of honey, mix and stir into the hot mixture. When the egg is cooked gradually beat in one-third of a cupful of lemon juice. Remove from the fire, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, and when cold and ready to use add one cupful of cottage cheese that has been pressed through a sieve, and fold in one cupful of stiffly whipped cream.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Cutting Table

In so many of the modern homes a large table for cutting out patterns is an impossibility on account of lack of space. If you have no large table in your home, spread a large square of oil cloth over the top of your bed and cut out on this large area. The scissors will not penetrate the oil cloth and it is a nice smooth surface on which to spread out your pattern.

Chair Silencers

If silencers like those put in the legs of chairs are hammered into the wooden ribs of the trunk at each end, the life of the trunk will be lengthened tremendously. All dragging will be on the silencers instead of the wood at the railway station and the trunk can be dragged across the hotel floor without marring the floor or disarranging the rug in any way.

Hang Them Straight

The way clothes are hung up to dry has a great deal to do with the ironing. Hang them in the same position in which they are worn and you will find a great deal of their wrinkles are blown out during the drying, instead of adding new ones that are hard to iron out.

Around the Range

Careful washing with soda water will remove the soot that accumulates on the painted walls above and around the range, but you must not let it get too dirty before washing or it will streak and show.

The Wash Boiler

A copper wash boiler, while expensive, lasts much longer and gives better service than any other boiler. If you feel you cannot afford a copper boiler, a tin boiler with copper bottom is better than one made wholly of tin.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

THE CLEAN COLON

Keeping the colon clean probably is the most important part of keeping well. When most persons hear this, they may think of taking a cathartic to "clean them out," but this is not what I mean by keeping the colon clean. I mean cleanliness of the colon every day in the year, which means two or more natural bowel movements each day.

If you keep your colon clean you never will need fear the bad consequences of constipation. You automatically avoid auto-intoxication and headache, coated tongue, bad breath, cold sores and general tired feeling which this condition of self-poisoning brings with it.

An average of two out of every three letters which come to my attention from over all the country ask about a remedy for constipation. More persons suffer from this than from any other single disorder. They do not know how to keep their colons clean!

The colon is self-cleansing. If given a chance, nature is able to handle the elimination of waste promptly and in a manner which aids health. When Walt Whitman wrote, "I keep my bowel clean as my face," he was referring to this ability of the healthy lower bowel to empty itself. There is no need to rely on strong purges and cathartics.

The gorilla needs no castor oil, the savage no salts, nor does the civilized man when he learns a few simple rules about how to have daily, easily passed bowel movements.

By avoiding constipation you may avoid many troublesome complications. Appendicitis often is caused by constipation. One who keeps the colon clean and normal never will know that he has an appendix, and need not suffer the intense pain resultant on inflammation of this organ.

Piles are caused primarily by the same blocked, stopped-up condition of the lower bowel. The large intestine usually is blocked by masses of poisonous wastes for years before it develops into the condition known as piles or enlarged veins which may become very annoying and painful. They never will be entirely overcome until the constipation which precedes them is done away with.

The person with a clean colon is not troubled with piles or other rectal disorders, such as fissures, in which the lining of the bowel is torn by the hardened masses of feces; and such things as colitis and itching may be avoided to a great degree by keeping the colon in a clean, toned-up condition.

After observing thousands of cases of rheumatism and arthritis, I am convinced the true origin of most of the rheumatic tendencies dies in poisoning from the large intestines. Before the patient can recover, this toxic condition must be eliminated. The same condition is contributory to or precedes the majority of all diseases.

VISITS TO DENTIST NEED NOT TERRIFY CHILD

These complementary letters which flit into my office, one intended to answer the other, are ceasing to surprise me. Frequent coincidence becomes mere incidence. Nevertheless, I offer these two letters as very pertinent to each other.

"Because I am a dental nurse I am sorry to find that so many mothers fail to teach children not to be afraid," begins Mrs. R. H. A. "Mothers should plan to make a child's introduction to the dentist a painless one. This may be done early by taking him for examination and cleaning of the teeth and establish the habit of repeating the visit every six months.

LYING MEANS FAILURE

"Lying to the child is the way of failure. If a child has confidence, one can soothe him into a patient, even stoical, acceptance of pain. Another important cause of fearing the dentist is the careless discussion of dental aches and pains in the presence of children. Nine out of ten who rebel fiercely at the visit are in a state of terror because of these conversations heard in the family circle.

"I became interested in your column, Mrs. Eldred, about a year ago. My little fellow will be a year next month and some of my problems have been answered by you. Do you realize that mothers' appreciation is just as sincere whether they ever write or not?"

I do realize that, and of course there is neither need nor possibility of all readers writing to me. But letters do help me to put more vim and vigor into this job of parent education, especially such a pleasant one as yours.

ENJOYING DENTIST WORK

Now here is the complementary letter:

"I have read your column with interest and often find helpful suggestions. Goodness knows, I need them with my boys ranging in ages from 4½ to 5½ years," confides Mrs. V. M. W.

"I want to tell you an experience I had last week with my eldest. I took him to have his teeth cleaned and was perfectly delighted with his behavior. He thought it was a treat to go. I had never told him not to cry, or suggested that there was any cause for fear. Of course, teeth cleaning is not painful, but neither is it pleasant. Now he will go willingly next time, and his younger brother, who heard all about it, will have no fear."

These are good attitudes to assume toward both dentists and doctors, who are often used for "bogy" men with disastrous results. If there is a pain imminent, it is a mistake to lie about it. It is better to say it will probably hurt a little than to say it won't and then have the poor child discover that there is a big pain attached. If one analyzes the sensation of ordinary grinding of teeth as somewhat of a "tickish" one and tells the child that it makes his teeth tickle, it will give him a far pleasanter viewpoint. Choose a dentist who likes children, and whose manner allays the child's fear of the whole procedure.

Place the knots of the basting threads on the right side of the material. They will be much easier to pull out when the garment is finished.

A Bedtime Story

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

Peter Learns More

Bit by bit is knowledge earned,
And thus the truth is slowly learned.
—Old Mother Nature.

"I'm glad you like them," replied Egret.

Egret the White Heron was making himself quite at home at the Smiling Pool. It was his first visit there. Peter Rabbit and Jerry Muskrat had seen him arrive and, as they watched the great white bird come sailing in in stately fashion on those broad wings of his, they thought that somehow there must be something wrong with their eyes. That he was a Heron they knew instantly. He couldn't be anything but a Heron. However, neither had ever even heard of an all-white Heron, nor one with such beautiful plumes as they soon discovered Egret carried on his back.

Egret had explained that once upon a time members of his family used to come as far north, but that it was a long time since any of them had ventured quite so far. He had told Peter and Jerry how his family had been destroyed by feather hunters, who wanted those beautiful plumes for women to wear. It was a dreadful story. The mere thought of it made Peter shiver.

"I don't suppose," said Peter at last, "that there is any other members of your family with such beautiful plumes. Never have I seen anything like them. They are the most wonderful feathers that a bird could have."

"I'm glad you like them" replied Egret. "I think myself that they are rather nice. As I told you before, we Egrets have them only at this season. However, you are wrong in thinking that no one else has such beautiful plumes. I have a smaller cousin who is handsomer than I. Yes, sir, I am forced to admit it. I have a cousin who not only has lovelier plumes than mine growing from the back, but also has a beautiful crest on the back of the head. These plumes of mine are straight, but the plumes of my cousin turn upward at the end. I don't mean to be envious, but sometimes when I see that cousin of mine at this time of year it is hard not to have just a little envy."

"If he is your cousin, of course, he is a member of the Heron family," said Peter.

"Not only is he a Heron, but he is an Egret, which shows how closely related he is," replied the big white bird.

"If your name is Egret and his name is Egret, I should think you would he mixed up most of the time," said Peter.

"We are not," replied Egret. "You see, it is this way; I am called just Egret most of the time, while he is called Snowy Egret. That is because sometimes there is a little yellowish tinge to my plumes, but his are always pure white. Some people call me the Great White Egret and they call my cousin the Little White Egret. So you see it is quite simple after all. I am much bigger than he. Besides, I have black legs and feet, while he has black legs with yellow feet. I have a yellow bill, while he has a black bill with just a little yellow at the base. Oh, he is a handsome fellow! His branch of the family suffered even more than mine from those feather hunters. It is a wonder that there is a single Snowy Egret left today."

"And just to think," spoke up Jerry Muskrat, "we didn't even know that there was such a thing as a white member of the Heron family. Had any one told me that some members of that family dressed all in white, I would have thought that that person didn't know what he were talking about."

"We are not the only white Herons," said Egret. "I came up from the South with some young cousins of mine who dressed in white. It wouldn't surprise me to see one or more of them over here, because I parted from them at the mouth of this brook."

GAY IRONY IN BANQUET SCENE

"To the Ladies" Very Clever in Climaxing Act

Comedy of Speechmaking Stars Glenn Hunter

Kaufman-Connelly Play Is Competently Cast

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

What a wife may do to further her husband's career is the ingratiating idea that is expounded in "To the Ladies," starring Glenn Hunter, currently at El Capitan Theater. It should be ingratiating at all events . . . to the ladies! Indeed, they should relish wholeheartedly the subtle, chivalrous and thoroughly delightful exposition of an appealing theme by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly. And the husbands can very well also take it to heart. They had better.

"To the Ladies" is not a new play, but it holds the interest more than fairly, and affords a laughable glimpse of a young couple's domestic life, and particularly of a young man's determination to make good according to the theories expounded in advertisements concerning how to achieve a success in business. There are three acts and four scenes, and there is one great episode in this play when the doings at a banquet are portrayed.

This banquet is a good-will affair of the employees of a piano concern, and it is touched with rare irony. Those who are sophisticated enough to be amused on occasion by banquets will greet the unfoldment with glee. Masterful indeed is the incident where the politician is introduced to speak to the guests, and turns his oration into a plea for votes for a candidate whom he is supporting. His speech over, he hastens away, doubtless to keep another appointment.

There is the rattling of dishes by the waiters who attempt to clear the tables while the talks are going on. There are the persistent coughers who distract attention from the words that are being said, and there are the jokes that fall flat.

The climax of this scene is the one where the hero discovers that his rival has chosen the very speech he had intended to make out of a manual for public speakers. He is in a pitiful fix. Then his wife comes to the rescue with a talk that is the most human of the evening. She declares that he had thought it out, but cannot himself deliver it because of an attack of laryngitis, which is, of course, wholly fictional.

As might be anticipated, this trick is later discovered, thus producing most of the suspense in the final act, the young man's job being placed in jeopardy.

Not all of "To the Ladies" is as good today as when it was first written, but the banquet scene is a high moment, and the rest is human enough. Glenn Hunter avails himself of many of the opportunities in the role of the ambitious but often ineffectual young man who is the play's leading character, and injects an enlivening comedy into his portrayal. He is at his very best in some of the pantomime scenes. I would say that he stressed the eccentricities of the role too much; the performance really needs more balance than he displays. However, the audience enjoyed it and gave him numerous curtain calls.

The cast is of the best, and the interest of the performance is greatly increased by the competency of William Morris in the role of owner of the piano company. He lends actual conviction to this character.

Very pleasing is the impersonation of the wife by Lurene Tuttle, even though she may seem not quite equal to the scene of the speech. She is personally attractive.

Catharine Doucet is effective as the wife of the piano manufacturer. Alan Bunce, Kenneth Gameth and Dorothy Cecil take more important roles, Bunce being the most important of this group.

Raphaelson to Do Adaptations for Universal

Sampson Raphaelson, playwright, who has been in Hollywood for some time, has written original stories for Radio Pictures in which Joseph Cawthorne will be featured this year. William LeBaron, head of Radio productions, brought Raphaelson to the Coast. Raphaelson, a former reporter on the New York Times, and still a young man, wrote "The Jazz Singer," among other plays, a success on the stage and a maker of history on the screen.

His last produced play, "Young Love," which Dorothy Gish and James Rennie starred in the entire 1928-29 season in New York, is soon to be produced locally, Raphaelson states. It has been considered by many critics as one of the few good sophisticated farces by an American author.

Raphaelson has recently been engaged by Carl Laemmle, Jr., to do an adaptation for one of Universal's twenty special productions of the coming year.

Lyman Turns Job Over to Vic Barnett

Interested in the new drummer with Abe Lyman's orchestra, now appearing in conjunction with Will Rogers's film comedy, "So This Is London," at the Carthay Circle Theater, has been keen, and theater attendants have had many inquiries regarding the man who fills Lyman's old position, it is said.

When Lyman decided to lead exclusively he immediately sought Vic Barnett to fill his own position. The director is said to be satisfied with his successor.

Barnett will be remembered by those who saw Paul Ash when he was in the height of his career as master of ceremonies at the Chicago Theater, Chicago. The former was Ash's right-hand man and was featured in musical specialities.

PLAYERS TO ENTERTAIN

Several players of the cinema world are planning parties at the premiere appearance of Gus Arnheim and his music tomorrow night at the Ambassador Cocoanut Grove. Carl Laemmle, Jr., Frank Borzage, Clara Kimball Young, Arthur Lake, Fay Marbe and Sue Carol have announced intentions to entertain extensively for the gala occasion.

Farceur Enacts Starring Film Role

Edward Everett Horton
Displays his noted brand of comedy in "Once a Gentleman," which is proving a fine attraction at the California Theater.

LOEW'S BOOKS "ROMANCE"

Greta Garbo's second talking picture, "Romance," a Clarence Brown production, is announced as the next offering at Loew's State Theater starting Thursday.

In contrast to the heroine in "Anna Christie" is the actress and opera singer which Miss Garbo portrays in this new screen version of the play in which Doris Keane had the leading role.

The story is said to bare the emotions of a beautiful woman whose first real love comes at the height of her career, a career punctuated with moments of bliss. In the crisis of her life she is said to rise to heights of dramatic portrayal.

Lewis Stone and Gavin Gordon, a newcomer to the screen but popular locally for his stage roles, head the supporting cast. A portrait of Perry Askam, popular star of "The Desert Song," now appearing on the stage in person, will be given to each lady attending the matinee tomorrow and Wednesday.

"LAWFUL LARCENY" DEBATED

Screen Version of Stage Play Performed on Screen at Orpheum

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Lowell Sherman, a better actor than he is a director, is represented in both capacities in "Lawful Larceny," the new talking picture at the Orpheum. This, as you already suspect if you know your theater, is the latest screen translation of Samuel Shipman's comedy; and it has been lifted practically "as is" from the stage. Accordingly, it is a pleasantly unimportant trifle told entirely in dialogue of the pseudo-fashionable sort, and acted by a cast headed by Mr. Sherman, Bebe Daniels, Kenneth Thomson and Olive Tell.

Always theatric, "Lawful Larceny" tells about the deception practiced by Miss Daniels, as the wife of Kenneth Thomson, on Miss Tell, who is the proprietress of an ultra gambling resort. Miss Tell, you see, has weaned away the affections of Husband Thomson during the absence of Miss Daniels, filching him pretty thoroughly of his money as well. When Mr. Thomson, making a clean breast of the whole thing to his wife, says that he is sorry, Miss Daniels sets out to get his money back and, if possible, his affections.

As a Miss Arden, she applies to Miss Tell for work. Given employment in the gambling establishment, she succeeds in her efforts. In addition she wins the unwelcome affections of Mr. Sherman, who declares he is serious this time. Miss Tell, who thinks rather warmly of Mr. Sherman herself, is baffled.

Mr. Sherman, who I still remember for his performance as the villain in "Way Down East," retains his suavity in the present vehicle, having to his credit as well the brighter lines. The audience laughed when he said, "With millions of women in the world, a man's lucky if he makes a fool of himself only once."

Bebe Daniels, miscast in her role, has not the artificial presence necessary to combat that of Olive Tell playing opposite her. Her sincerity is a bit naive in an essentially insincere fiction. Others in the cast are Maude Turner Gordon, Purnell Pratt and Bert Roach.

Lynn Shores, credited with the pictorial direction, had little to do. His best shot is of Mr. Sherman riding on the steps of a milk wagon.

A war comedy, with Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, is the principal short subject. It is called "Men Without Skirts." "Campus Favorites," a Grantland Rice Sportlight; a novelty comedy in colors and a Pathe News complete the bill.

Slippers Worn for Good Luck

Wynne Gibson, youthful comedienne in "Molly Magdalene," Crane Wilbur's drama now in its second week at the Mayan Theater, wore a pair of Cinderella slippers the opening night of the show, just for good luck.

She wore these same slippers at the premieres of "Jarnegan" and "Castles in the Air," in both of which she scored in New York.

Since the "Molly Magdalene" opening, Miss Gibson has had three important film offers, it is said, and two bids for engagements in New York plays scheduled for the new season.

VADJA PLAY WILL OPEN RUN HERE

Celebrities to Honor Elsie Ferguson Tonight at Playhouse

One of the most important theatrical events of the summer season takes place tonight when the curtain goes up on "Fata Morgana" at the Hollywood Playhouse.

The film colony will be represented by such celebrities as Greta Garbo, Charles Spencer Chaplin, Ruth Chatterton, Maurice Chevalier and Ernst Lubitsch, who will attend to honor Elsie Ferguson who plays the leading role, and Ernest Vadja, noted Hungarian playwright.

The leading male part will be played by Tom Douglas, English juvenile, who starred in a London production of "Fata Morgana." The supporting cast includes Robert Lawlor, Anders Van Haden, Alma Powell, Brenda Forbes, Josa Melville, Nora Gardiner, Frederick Harrington, Karin Moreley, Jessamine Newcombe, Frederick MacKaye, Chester Dudley and Harry Leland.

Summer Theater Title Claimed by Fox Circle

The Carthay Circle Theater, already referred to as "the showplace of the Golden West" and other atmospheric and complimentary titles by its management, is now claiming a new distinction.

"Los Angeles' favorite summer theater" is the trade-mark which the house will strive to live up to between now and September.

Several reasons are given for this claim by the management. It is said that the theater is miles closer to the ocean and the attendant breezes than any other city entertainment center. Further, summer afternoons and nights inspire a desire to drive or ride on the part of theater patrons. The drive, or bus ride, out Wilshire Boulevard is admittedly one of the city's, if not the entire country's, most pleasant trips.

The Carthay Circle, being removed from traffic noises, and giving only two performances a day, is able to leave its front and side exit doors wide open up to the minute the curtain rises. This feature gives the interior of the house a refreshing temperature at all times, the announcement says. Will Rogers in "So This Is London" is now being shown on the screen.

Basso Profundo in Villain Role

Noah Beery, sinister "heavy" of "Bright Lights," First National musical melodrama at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater, has one of the best basso profundo voices of all the villains in talkies, it is claimed.

Beery, it is said, is able to lower his voice to his shoe tops, if need be, to properly frighten the hero or heroine. In "Bright Lights" Beery is a half-breed Portuguese trader, one of his most colorful film characters. Dorothy Mackaill and Frank Fay are featured in the film.

ACTRESS RECALLED

Nella Walker has been recalled for additional scenes in "What a Widow" with Gloria Swanson. She will conclude her work in this picture between scenes of "Hot Heiress," to which she was recently assigned by First National.

TRIBUTE PAID TO DR. HERTZ

Bowl Honors Noted Leader in Final Concert

Conductor Plans Vacation on Continent

Typical Program Presented to Music Lovers

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Saturday's Bowl concert, the final one conducted by the genial Dr. Hertz, was composed of light orchestral fare. Preceding the opening "Oberon" overture, the orchestra greeted Hertz with a fanfare of trumpets and a rising vote of appreciation. In conformity with the new Bowl ruling there were no speeches but Dr. Hertz and the audience responded with bows and applause, respectively. The popular conductor will remain in Hollywood until late in August after which he is planning an extensive European vacation.

For over twenty-five years Hertz has enjoyed strenuous activity. He came to this country to conduct German opera at the Metropolitan in 1902 and took charge of the San Francisco Symphony in 1915. He has richly earned the admiration of his fellow-musicians and a large musical following. It is to be hoped that he will again take up the baton in German opera, of which he is acknowledged master, now that the burden of regular orchestral conducting has been lifted from him. His success with combined choral and orchestral concerts in San Francisco has set an example for other conductors to follow, and if the immortal ninth symphony of Beethoven should ever be given in the Hollywood Bowl, an ideal setting for it, Alfred Hertz is the qualified leader.

His performances at the Bowl this summer have been typical. The first half of his concert Saturday night, including the Schubert Unfinished Symphony and the "L'Arlesienne Suite," was in his best lyric mood. The rhythms of "L'Arlesienne" were definite and the tone mellow. After the intermission the modern Schumann's "Dance of the Nymphs and Satyrs" gave full play to the woodwinds, which sound so refreshing on a summer night. Jules Furman, first flutist of the orchestra, demonstrated the possibilities of his instrument in the "Dance of the Blessed Spirits," by Gluck. This melody which is so familiar as a violin solo proved equally felicitous as a flute solo. Furman's tone is rather more sonorous than is usually heard from a flute and carried to the outermost rim of the Bowl. His phrasing lacked somewhat in refinement.

Oscar Straus made his appearance as conductor of a long half-hour of his light opera compositions. The audience was obviously disappointed at not hearing the strains from "My Hero," which excerpt from "The Chocolate Soldier" made him known in this country before the war. The selections he chose were lightly pleasing at first, but the reiteration of the simulated Viennese waltz idea with endless monotonous embellishments seemed hardly worthy of the time of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, nor the attention of a crowd of thousands of music lovers who gather in the Bowl because of a promise of having the best. In extenuation it is understood that Mr. Straus had planned to include "The Chocolate Soldier" selection, but that the music failed to arrive in time for the concert. He was warmly applauded for his first number.

The sincere and lasting beauty of "The Beautiful Blue Danube" as the closing number was in marked contrast as conducted by Alfred Hertz.

Prison Handbook Editor Praises 'The Big House'

Two things make "The Big House" the most realistic, human and believable comedy-drama of life within and outside the prison walls ever made, according to the opinion of Paul W. Garrett, editor of the Handbook of American Prisons.

The story offers no "dramatist's plot" of the usual complicated pattern but a straightaway massing of primitive desires culminating in a tremendous climax of action, Garrett says.

The second reason is that "The Big House" has a cast which ideally fits, he claims. Every character "belongs." This fidelity to real life is the outstanding thing in the picture.

Premiere of "Rebound" to be Gala Event

With many stage and screen stars in the city planning to attend, the debut of the delightful comedienne, Ina Claire, in Donald Ogden Stewart's comedy, "Rebound," at the Belasco Theater on the 21st inst., promises to be an unusually gala affair the management announces.

Miss Claire has not been seen on local stage since she scored a hit in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" several years ago. "Rebound," in which the star is to appear, was personally selected by her.

Belasco and Curran, the producers, are said to have given the star a strong supporting cast.

'Subway Express' Will Close Soon

"Subway Express," the mystery play at the Mason Theater, ends its stay here Saturday night. This novel play with its cast of forty-two players goes to San Francisco for an engagement at the Columbia Theater, opening there on the 21st inst. After the San Francisco engagement the production will be shipped back to New York.

ARLEN GOES WEST

Richard Arlen will revert to the costume of a western hero in his next Paramount picture. He is now playing a South Sea island deep-sea diver in "The Sea God."

DOLLAR LINES' PLANS AIRED

Large Fleet Additions Hinge on Contracts for Mail

Increase to Thirty Vessels Proposed by Company

Gala Greeting in Preparation for New Schoolship

BY WALDO DRAKE

Success of the Dollar Steamship Lines' applications for mail contracts over the European-Pacific and Pacific Coast-Manila routes will result in new construction that will increase the Dollar fleet from nineteen liners to thirty modern vessels, it was learned yesterday aboard the company's trans-Pacific steamer President Grant. Trans-shipment of freight via Dollar liners to and from every commercial center on the globe is a part of this program, which would belt the world with passenger services on veritable train schedules.

It also was announced on the President Grant that the first two of Dollar's six $7,000,000 liners, building at the plant of the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, have been advanced on construction schedules so that they will enter service in July, 1931, and September, 1931, respectively. These two ships, of 21,000 gross tons and with a speed of twenty knots, previously were scheduled for completion in October, 1931, and February, 1932. When the first of the two globe-circlers enters service the President Van Buren, now in world trade, will be added to the company's Manila-direct run.

The Dollar Lines have offered to build five $5,000,000 steamers for the Portland-Manila mail route, bidding $5.45 a mile for sixteen-knot ships, and would establish a similar fleet in European-Pacific mail service, according to a recent statement by R. Stanley Dollar, vice-president.

U.S.S. HENRY COUNTY ARRIVES AUGUST 1, NEXT

Plans for a rousing welcome to the U.S.S. Henry County, new schoolship of the California State Nautical School, on her arrival here from Hampton Roads on August 1, next, are being arranged by shipping interests.

A committee headed by Edwin Nichols, manager of the Marine Service Bureau, is scheduled for appointment today to arrange a fitting reception for Commander Benjamin V. McCandlish, the Henry County's skipper, and his officers. The schoolship, formerly a 4700-ton Shipping Board Lake-type freighter, will depart the Canal Zone on Wednesday, stopping en route at Corinto next Friday and at San Diego on the 31st inst. She will sail from Los Angeles Harbor August 2 for Mare Island Navy Yard, where she will be fitted out to receive the first class of merchant marine cadets in early September.

Maj. Arthur H. D. Britton, British soldier, with Mrs. Britton, was an arrival from London yesterday aboard the Furness-Pacific motorliner Pacific Reliance. The ship also brought 1200 tons of cargo from the United Kingdom and bananas from the Canal Zone.

News of the arrival of an eight-pound boy to Mr. and Mrs. Barrett G. Hindes, in San Francisco yesterday, was received in local shipping circles. The father is well known here as secretary of the San Francisco Bridge Company and gained engineering fame through handling of the main channel widening and Deadman's Island removal projects.

Capt. James E. Roberts will take out 450 cabin passengers to New York this morning aboard the Panama-Pacific electric liner Virginia, together with 4600 tons of California freight, including 8000 cases of oranges.

Among her passengers will be Capt. W. G. Melvin, port captain of the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, who just completed a survey of Pacific shipyards; Commander Douglas Fuller, U.S.N., en route to shore duty in the Canal Zone after two years as executive officer of the battleship Oklahoma, and Commander C. A. Pownall, just relieved as aviation officer of the battle fleet here and now going to Washington for duty.

Other Southland passengers on the Virginia will include Mrs. Charles H. Cunningham and her three children, Helen, Frances and Mary, Mrs. Perry Wood, Mrs. Rena Newman, Mrs. Ida M. Leupp and Miss Ethel L. Leupp, all from Los Angeles; Mrs. Myrtle De Bolt of Monrovia, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dale of Pasadena, and Mrs. J. J. Van Eizenga of San Diego.

Announcement of her engagement to Donald M. De Long, traveling agent for the Dollar Line, was made yesterday by Miss Margaret Louise Croft of 4447 Camera avenue. The wedding has been set for September 10, next.

Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation and the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation yesterday were announced as the only Pacific Coast yards that will bid on construction of the Panama Mail Line's four $5,000,000, eighteen-knot intercoastal liners. Specifications will be submited this morning to the two California yards as well as five Atlantic Coast concerns. Bids will be opened on August 15.

CHURCH HELD TOO BUSY WITH THINGS OF WORLD

Desire to Minister to Whole Life of Man Loses Sight of Real Mission, Pastor Declares

Declaring that the minister of the gospel who forgets his dignity and fails to uphold the nobility of his calling is sure to fail, Dr. J. G. Dorn, pastor of Hollywood Lutheran Church, yesterday said that the church of today needs less outside endeavor and more Christianity.

"The church of today is in great need of preachers with convictions. The message for our times must be vital. The modern church in its desire to minister to the whole life of man has become a great business with multiplying details of organizations which are apt to lead us away from our primary mission in the world. The prophetic office has been lost in the maze of activities.

"The modern pulpit has lost its virility because it has left out to a large extent the red line of atonement from its message. Without the cross, Christianity is only the refinement of human reason about spiritual things and not the redemptive power of God. When you despise the Blood of Calvary you strangle the zeal and the passion of the Christian pulpit. A Christianity without sacrifice on the altar will be a Christianity without worshipers in the temple."

"HEART OF SUFISM" DEVOTION TO TRUTH

Brahmachari Nerod, speaking at the Mt. Washington Educational Center on "The Heart of Sufism," said in part:

"Sufism is the soul-story of the mystic lovers of Persia. The heart of Sufism longs for the spark of the human soul to die out in the flame of the Divine. This absorption of the human atom with the Infinite Whole has been the one all-engrossing passion of the Sufists. To them, as it is to all other travelers on the Path, the only real and lasting love in the universe is that which relates us with God, all other love being an illusion that dissolves at dawn. This intoxicating divine love of the Sufists is nothing but the passionate devotion that filters through the inner truths of Christianity. When one is filled with the Divine Idea all his emotions, feelings and ideas walk on the divine way, resulting in the oneness of the Father and the Son, which Jesus spoke of."

GOODNESS AS HABIT EMANCIPATES SOUL

That the joy and zest of life lie beyond its duties and drudgeries was the statement of Rev. Bruce Brown of South Park Christian Church in his sermon last night. He said in part:

"The trouble with most people is that they never do any more than they are compelled to do. The joy and zest of life lie out far beyond its drudgeries and necessities. The word duty once was spelled "duety" and had in it the implication of a mortgage being foreclosed. Until right doing becomes the natural thing and goodness a pleasant habit the soul itself is in slavery. In business and in the home, in society and in the State we never get the best from people who are impelled by a sense of oughtness instead of accepting responsibilities and inescapable obligations as a joy and privilege. The man who never works any more than he is paid for will never be paid any more than he works for."

CHRISTIANITY LIES IN NOBLE PASSIONS

Dr. Sheldon Shepard, speaking Sunday morning on "The Mastery of Fear" at First Universalist Church, spoke in part as follows:

"Notwithstanding the failure of the theologians to grasp the truth, the challenge of Jesus is almost entirely a demand upon the individual that he choose a certain type of emotional life. The secret of Christianity lies in the passions. An eternal and workable philosophy could center nowhere else. Men are ruled by their passions. So-called liberal leaders who aim at making religion and education entirely intellectual and free from emotion are utterly misguided in their conception of the human being. The race always will be ruled by its passions. Our hope is to put the noble passions in the ascendancy. That is what Jesus adjured His followers to do. When Christianity centers its program here where Jesus did it will possess the world, differences will die out and unity and happiness will come to make their abode in the hearts of men."

CHRISTIANITY PAYS BEYOND ALL DESERTS

Adjt. Frank Howell, Salvation Army Temple, in his sermon last night declared that Christianity's rewards are priceless. He spoke in part as follows:

"What is there in it for us? This is the question we are prone to ask about everything and we are not slow to ask it when we come to consider righteousness. 'God is a rewarder,' we are told. How then does He reward those who put their faith and trust in Him? There is first the joy of forgiveness. When we have wronged a friend and that friend forgives us we are most happy. But how much more so when God, against whom we have sinned so grievously, forgives? Again, there is the pay of a peace which passeth understanding. Then we are lifted into a better class. We receive an introduction into the society of saints. We receive an incorruptible inheritance. These earthly inheritances are corruptible, but the one we have from God is not. We have, as well, companionship with Jesus and in the end a victorious faith giving victory over all."

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS CONDUCT COMMUNION

Communion services were conducted yesterday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon was "Sacrament."

One of the Scriptural citations included the following verses from John: "As soon then as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread. . . . Jesus saith unto them, Come and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who are thou? Knowing that it was the Lord. Jesus then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them and fish likewise. This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to his disciples, after that He was risen from the dead."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "This spiritual meeting with our Lord in the dawn of a new light is the morning meal which Christian Scientists commemorate. They bow before Christ, Truth, to receive more of His reappearing and silently to commune with the divine Principle, Love."

TEARS OF JESUS MOST ENDEAR HIM

Swami Dhirananda, speaking at the Figueroa Playhouse yesterday, declared that the tears of Jesus have endeared him to humanity.

"Take out from the Gospels the passages that speak of Jesus's shedding tears and you will lose a phase of His sublime personality that other parts of the New Testament will never supply. Yes, there is an inspiring sublimity in His sorrow and spiritual prophecy in His tears that indicate more than anything that in Him the divine meets the human. Jesus wept when Lazarus was dead because He loved him as His friend, as His disciple and as the brother of Mary and Martha—symbols of womanhood's devotion to a spiritual cause. But that love, that sorrow was not a sign of weakness. The power of prayer and conscious realization of God's will made His tears triumph, and Lazarus was resurrected. Again, Jesus wept looking over the city of Jerusalem. The thought of the past glory of the city, the present rejection of His message by its hard-hearted inhabitants and the calamity of the near future that was to fall on it moved Him to tears. When He wept He was not simply making a historical prophecy but putting for all time our callous worldliness to shame his piercing His own broad heart with cold shafts of miserable truth about us."

LOCAL MAN WILL HONOR FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

Eugene M. Berger, past commander of Los Angeles Post No. 8, American Légion, has been appointed by National Commander O. L. Bodenhamer of Indianapolis, to represent the national organization of the Legion at the ceremony of placing a wreath on Florence Nightingale's grave, in the village churchyard at East Wellow, Hampshire, Eng., August 13, the twentieth anniversary of Miss Nightingale's death. Berger also will represent the California organization of the American Legion, by appointment of Commander Kincaid, and Los Angeles Post No. 8, by appointment of Commander Alex W. Davis.

The ceremony in honor of the immortal Crimean War nurse and "the Mother of Modern Nursing" is sponsored by the Florence Nightingale Institute of Honorables, Perry W. Weidner, president, which was founded in Los Angeles two years ago by Miss Georgia Bryton. Miss Clara Jones, R.N., the Los Angeles nurse who will place the wreath on the grave, sailed from New York on the 9th inst. Nurse Jones will go first to Paris, where she will pay her and the Institute's respects to the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, at whose hospital Florence Nightingale served her novitiate at practical nursing. Then Miss Jones will go to Florence, Italy, to place flowers in the room in which Miss Nightingale was born, May 12, 1820, at the Villa Colombaia.

The wreath, which was made in Los Angeles, will be forwarded to England next Thursday. It is the largest memorial wreath ever made in Los Angeles. Its base is magnolia leaves and interspersed are fifty-five silvered leaves, each of which represents one of the forty-eight States of the Union and the seven extracontinental possessions. The silvered leaves were added by consent of the Governors of the States and possessions, to testify the love of their peoples for Florence Nightingale. A red rose, surmounted by a silk American flag, represents the nation's capital, the District of Columbia. A white rose, framed in a silk Red Cross emblem, represents the nurses of America.

Hundreds of persons have viewed the wreath during the past week at Good Samaritan Hospital and yesterday it was on display at all services in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Rolph Departs After Two Days' Sojourn Here

Mayor Rolph, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, left here last night by plane for San Francisco after a two-day visit to Los Angeles where he had been invited to speak at several meetings as guest of honor.

Saturday night he delivered the principal address at a special entertainment of the Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans at Odd Fellows' Hall. Yesterday afternoon Mayor Rolph again participted in the Latin-American Club picnic at Luna Park where he was again chief speaker. Last night he was again honored by the French Colony of Southern California at its annual celebration dinner commemorating the fall of the Bastille.

Immediately following the French Colony dinner Mayor Rolph left for the north to spend a few days before returning later in the week for his first extensive speaking tour of the Southland.

Fire Fighters Pay Tribute to Their Dead

Honoring the memory of deceased members of the Los Angeles fire department, more than 800 firemen marched in parade from the firehouse of Engine Company 28 to the Bible Institute, where the fourth annual memorial services were conducted last night. Capt. J. Y. Cordell, chaplain, conducted the services, with Rev. Cortland Meyers as the principal speaker.

The fire department band of forty pieces, led by J. Peirnal, furnished music for the ceremony.

Eight members of the fire department died during the year.

CHIROPRACTOR GOES NORTH

Dr. Lee H. Norcross left yesterday for Sacramento, to take his seat for the first time on the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners. He was appointed a week ago by Gov. Young. Dr. Norcross said he accepted the appointment in the hope he could harmonize the warring factions in the State's chiropractic ranks.

LADY GODIVA STEPS OUT IN ROADSTER

Hollywood Police Can't Comprehend Miss Driving From Beach in Nude

A Lady Godiva—with the modern tinge of a sport roadster for a mount instead of a horse—confounded the police of Hollywood last night. A squad car manned by Sergeants Larimer and Johnson had stopped the roadster because of its apparent erratic course along Los Palmas Boulevard near Franklin avenue.

With flashlights in their hands they stepped out of the police car and advanced to the roadster, at the wheel of which they could see the tousled head of a young woman.

"Hey, what's the idea?" tartly demanded Larimer as he flashed his light into the car.

Johnson, who had just poked his head in from the other side joined his partner instantly in an exclamation that could be translated into any languauge meaning "gosh," because the driver of the car was nude. Each officer gallantly turned off his flash light and stepped several feet away from the car while Larimer began to ask questions.

"You've got a lot of nerve stopping me because I'm on my way home from the beach," the driver declared. "I took off my bathing suit because it was too hot."

In the meantime a dozen passers-by had collected. Johnson formed a deadline around the car while his partner blushingly approached close enough to learn the driver was Evelyn Eagan, 2133 Fairchild avenue, a motion-picture actress. Miss Eagan figured in an automobile accident on Wilshire Boulevard two years ago when her car crashed into a steam shovel. She brought suit against the city following the accident, claiming that lights had not been burning on the steam shovel.

She was assisted into the station with blankets and a hurry call was sent for clothing. She was booked on a charge while driving while intoxicated.

Bastille Banquet Given by French

As a part of a two-day celebration of the 141st anniversary of the destruction of the Bastille, 300 French residents of Los Angeles were banquet guests last night at the Elks' Temple. In addition to a speaking program, the Norman Kobler Orchestra, Mme. Francoise Rosay of the Theater National de Paris and Marcel Andre and Andre Berley contributed to the musical program.

The celebration tomorrow will be held in the Turnverein Hall, 936 West Washington street, when there will be an extensive musical program and a ball starting at 8 o'clock.

CO-ORDINATING STYLIST TO SPEAK WEDNESDAY

Interesting facts discovered in her recent survey of representative Los Angeles homes will be discussed by Miss M. Elizabeth Stuart, co-ordinating stylist of New York City, on Wednesday at 3 p.m. in Barker Brothers' auditorium. Miss Stuart has been conducting a survey in twelve cities scattered throughout the United States to find out just what women want in the way of furniture and accessories. She has gone into homes informally and discussed with the women various problems which each is facing in making her home ideal. The results of this survey are expected to have a definite effect on the future styling of the products of certain manufacturers. Production will be planned more closely along the lines of consumer taste as developed in Miss Stuart's survey. Miss Stuart's subject will be "Color and Design in Home Furnishings."

LOCAL AIRPORT CLAIMS RECORD

Grand Central Gives Figures for Six Months

Handles 25,600 Passengers During Period

Approximately Full Loads Carried by Planes

Rivaling Europe's largest air passenger stations, Grand Central Air Terminal at Glendale after little more than a year's operation, lays claim to the title of America's ranking airport with release of figures for the first six months of 1930 showing a total of 25,608 pay travelers handled here for the period.

Of this total, 11,340 pay passengers were carried on transcontinental and coast lines of the T.A.T.-Maddux Airlines, with a daily average during May and June of 200, while the busiest day tabulated 253.

MANY JOYRIDERS

Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, which operates the place, handled 14,218 paid passengers in scenic flights, charter trips, excursions, and the "penny-a-pound" joy hops.

It is estimated by Manager Moseley that more than 250,000 people have visited the airport since January 1, with average week-end crowds of from 10,000 to 25,000.

With reference to the scheduled carriers, a notable feature of the phenomenal increase in transcontinental travel has been the fact that during the spring and early summer the company carried 96 per cent full plane loads eastward and 91 per cent westward, according to H. W. Beck, traffic manager western division for Maddux.

One peak Sunday in May there were fourteen trimotored airliners jockeying simultaneously for position before the port's three loading canopies. The eastern schedule from New York arrived in three sections, three more flew in from San Diego and Agua Caliente, three took off for San Francisco, two more roared southward.

At the same time three Curtiss-Wright liners taxied in and out to set a record of 1482 "joy-hop" passengers for one day.

SUNDAY PROGRAM

The terminal has drawn patronage with regular Sunday programs, of which parachute jumps, races, balloon-busting, crop-dusting exhibitions, musical numbers over the loud-speaker system, ground-school lectures, talks on aviation, news bulletins, humorous readings, Weather Bureau demonstrations, and plane-radio broadcasts from ships hundreds of miles away are a sample.

Of especial interest to the public also are the daily plane broadcasts over loud speaker by which relatives and friends of departing travelers keep in audible touch with the big liners at fifteen-minute intervals until the ship passes beyond range of its wireless telephone apparatus. At the same time incoming passengers often are permitted to herald by voice their approach over Cajon Pass to those awaiting their arrival at Glendale.

Another drawing card has been the airport's $150,000 dinner-dance cafe, now in demand with civic, fraternal and patriotic bodies for luncheons and dinners.

Shrine to Give Young Patients Party at Beach

More than seventy juvenile patients of the General Hospital will be guests of Al Malaikah Temple today at an all-day party to be held at the Jonathan Beach Club. The children will be taken in special busses provided by the Shriners and will be accompanied by their nurses as well as their instructor, Miss Florence Nast.

An erroneous report stated that the party was scheduled for yesterday.

GREEN LIGHT BEACON OF HOPE

Comedy, Melodrama, Stark Tragedy Stalk Through Doors of Missing Persons Detail of Police Department; Tales Sordid or Sublime Related Here

A beacon light of hope beside a river of darkness; a gleam that lights a road of despair—that is 112 South Hill street, the Missing Persons detail of the Los Angeles Police Department.

There are few places elsewhere in the city where grief so poignant and so anxious comes for relief. At the morgue hope is abandoned but here a chance exists.

Three hundred cases a month are handled by the detail under Capt. W. C. Allen, who after five years on the job, believes that human love and affection is burning brighter than ever in a callous and indifferent world.

"There are few people who have no one who cares for them. Almost everyone, apaprently, has a tie of affection and interest and even the poorest and most miserable victim of circumstances will have some one who is anxious about his welfare," he said.

"But the mothers—they never give up. See that wall plastered thick with posters of missing men? They write to us year after year—always, 'Have you seen my boy?' They never give up."

"Usually we can tell them definitely that the missing ones are not dead," he said. "The evening hour comes and the daughter or the son, the husband or the wife fails to come home. After a couple of hours relatives become frantic. Then they come to this department. If an unidentified person has been killed, I know about it. If a body has been brought to the morgue I know and if a case is in the Receiving Hospital the record is before me.

"Most of the time I can say definitely that they are alive. Many a poor wife has come to this office with her babies to find out that her husband's disappearance was due to forged checks or embezzlement. The process of becoming aware that a loved one has gone is a painful one. Many times the girl who casually steps over to the next door neighbor's, later writes that she is married. But again maybe she is never heard of.

"Other men and other women figure in the disappearances of husband and of wife. Many people out of work and tired of the struggle just drop from sight. A haggard wife with a little brood gathers them closely to her and bows her head when she realizes that she has been abandoned.

"We have had many strange cases here, of course. We have restored kidnaped children to their parents after a lapse of as much as fifteen years. We have found lost heirs to estates and given them their patrimony.

"Mothers have come to this place and met their sons, long missing. I have had them topple over in a dead faint on the floor as I brought them face to face with their loved ones. Yes, the beacon gleams brightly at times and many have found each other in the darkness through its rays. It is not all despair—many times it is joy so frantic and intense that those who experience it seem transfigured. That is one of the reasons why I like the job."

GANGSTER DECISION DUE

Testimony Tomorrow to Decide Whether Foster Will Go Free or Return to Chicago

Freedom from the County Jail on a habeas corpus writ or his return to Chicago to face investigation on a murder charge will be decided for Frankie Foster, racketeer, tomorrow when Superior Judge Wood hears evidence on the charge that the gangland leader was in the Illinois city at the time Alfred (Jake) Lingle, reporter, was slain.

The original hearing on the writ, filed here a few days after Foster was arrested with four others, including his wife in a raid on their quarters in an exclusive apartment-house, was delayed to await the arrival of witnesses from Chicago and documentary evidence of the whereabouts of the wanted prisoner on the date of the daylight assassination of the newspaper man.

Foster, through his attorneys, denies that he is a fugitive from justice and bases his plea on the assertion that he was not in Chicago at the time specified in the warrant and extradition papers sent here by the Illinois authorities.

Final disposition is also expected today or tomorrow of the case of George Davis, bodyguard and pal of Foster, who is held in the County Jail on orders of Detroit police who charge that he is wanted there for attempted murder. Police here anticipate the arrival of the Detroit officers with extradition papers for his return. Davis is also held on a Federal narcotic charge, growing out of his activities in Detroit. Frank Fisher, a third member of the gang, is held here on a charge of vagrancy, while Mrs. Foster is in technical custody awaiting the outcome of the extradition hearing tomorrow. Three other members of the group were released on bail, and await a hearing on vagrancy charges.

BREAD PRICE ASSAILED

FarmBoard Says It's Too High

Consumer Held Entitled to Benefit of Collapsed Wheat Market

Action Similar to Demand Which Recently Lowered Beef Costs

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP)—The Farm Board lashed out at the retail price line today for the second time within a month and notified consumers that bread ought to be cheaper.

"Wheat is selling for more than 30 cents a bushel less than a year ago," said Samuel R. McKelvie, board member representing grain, "and there can be no conscientious objection to the theory that when it costs less to manufacture an article it ought to sell for less. My query goes to the consumer—'What is he paying for bread today compared with a year ago?' It appears there has been very little, if any, change in the retail price of bread."

ANSWER TO ATTACK

A letter from McKelvie to Robert E. Sterling, editor of the Northwestern Miller, Kansas City, Mo., set the stage for the board's latest attempt to narrow the spread between producer and consumer prices.

Sterling took editorial objection to McKelvie's recent statement that "it makes no difference in the price of bread whether the farmer receives a dollar or a dollar and a half per bushel for his wheat," and in reply, made public today, the grain member of the board turned loose the barrage which the board expects to do for bread prices what the statement by C. B. Denman, member representing live stock, did for the retail prices of beef less than a month ago.

PRICE CUTS RESULT

Calling attention to the cut in wholesale and live weight prices Denman said the consumer should expect an immediate and material reduction in the retail prices of beef. Within ten days, reports to the board showed, widespread consumer demand for lower costs resulted in a cut of 19 cents a pound in some sections of the country and a general reduction of from 10 to 20 per cent in the price of all grades of beef.

Shortly after Denman's action, C. C. Teague, the member representing fruits and vegetables, said the board doubtlessly will issue statements on retail prices of food products when there is evidence they are out of adjustment and when such statement will work to the best public interest. McKelvie's statement was the first to follow.

CHAIN OF BENEFITS

The grain member said there were charts and statistics to show bread prices did fluctuate somewhat in
